FLIGHT OVER PACIFIC NOW PROJECTED

Union Plans Jumps from Bay City to Honolulu and on to Australia

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

HONOLULU, Sept. 24. — Plans for a trans-Pacific flight by airplane from San Francisco to the Philippines and Australasia, with several Pacific countries and the Army and Navy co-operating, were announced here today by the Pan-Pacific Union.

The purpose of the flight will be to study the possible establishment of five or more permanent air lines linking up countries bordering on the Pacific Ocean.

Tentative outlines provide for the start of the flight at San Francisco with the jump from the mainland to Honolulu to be made without refueling. From the Hawaiian Islands the flight would proceed southwest by the Marshall, Caroline and Pelew Islands to Manila, thence south and east to Australia with Sydney as the destination.

Another jump would take the explorers to Auckland, N. Z., while the home stretch would be broken by stops in the Fiji Islands, Samoa, the Phoenix Islands and Christmas Island in the Fanning group before the flight officially ended with the return to Honolulu.

NEAR DEATH BY THIRST IN DESERT

Prospector Unable to Talk When Found Within Few Miles of Water Supply

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BRAWLEY, Sept. 24.—Pablo Ferrera, Mexican gold prospector of Brawley, was rescued from probable death in the desert near the Chuckawalla Mountains by J. Worthington and H. O. Hogue of Calexico.

The Calexico men were driving across the desert when they came upon Ferrera, near death from thirst and exposure, and waving his arms wildly. The man's tongue and lips were swollen and for some time he was unable to talk to his rescuers, who brought him to Brawley, after first giving him a small quantity of water.

Ferrera, when he had recovered sufficiently to talk, said he had started to drive a horse to some mining claims in the Chuckawalla Mountains, but became lost, ran out of water, and then his horse died. He had been wandering for three days on the desert when discovered and was within two miles of Chuckawalla wells, where there was plenty of water. He will recover.

Angeleno's Wife Wins Battle to Enter Country

Mrs. Mary A. Schweiri, wife of a local wholesale shoe dealer, and formerly an instructor at the American High School at Beirut, Syria, has won her fight to enter the United States, according to word received here last night from Boston, where she was detained by immigration officials.

Protests from the Archbishop of the Syrian branch of the Greek Orthodox Church in America and influential persons throughout the United States marked the fight to prevent her deportation on the ground that the Syrian quota had been filled.

Within a few hours after Federal court proceedings had been opened in Boston yesterday to effect her release from the immigration station there, the Department of Labor in Washington reversed its previous ruling and ordered Mrs. Schweiri landed on a $1000 bond.

Certified by the American Consul as exempt from the quota provisions, as a member of the learned profession, Mrs. Schweiri had been ruled against because she had not actively taught for a classroom for two years.

Mrs. Schweiri will come at once to California, where she will accept an offer to lecture under the State Superintendent of Public Instruction. With Mrs. Schweiri will come her 2-year-old child, born in Cairo.

Jury Locked Up in Sheik Mining Fraud Hearing

A jury in Judge Hahn's department of the Superior Court, where J. Addison Sheik was placed on trial charged with selling worthless mining stock, failed to reach an agreement last night and was locked up after being out two hours. Sheik was brought to trial on an indictment of eleven counts, three of which were dismissed. The jury went out at 10:56 a.m.

Sheik was accused of promoting and sale of approximately $100,000 worth of stock in the Mesquite Mining Company which had a mine near Randsburg. The majority of the stock, it was testified, was sold to residents of Pomona. Mining engineers to the mine testified it did not produce minerals to the value represented by Sheik in his sales campaign.

The case was prosecuted by Dep. Dist.-Atty. Ostrom. Attorney Fontaine Johnson of Sacramento represented Sheik.

WILL GET NAME ON BALLOT

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 24.—H. B. Donaldson of Santa Paula, Ventura county, who received the Democratic nomination by write-in in the Sixtieth Assembly District, is entitled to a place on the November ballot in opposition to W. K. Stovall, Republican nominee and incumbent, Atty.-Gen.

Stovall today in an opinion overruled the action of Secretary of State Frank C. Jordan in ordering Donaldson's name printed on the ballot. The County Clerk of Ventura county questioned whether Donaldson was entitled to the Democratic nomination in that he is a registered Republican.

FLYERS REST IN BAY CITY

Wade Forced to Make Landing

Broken Battery Sends Plane Down; Rejoins Comrades After Quick Repair

Aviators Decide to Wait for Tomorrow Before Jump Toward Seattle

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 25.—The Army flight around the world, nearing its official terminus, Seattle, brought the three planes and their intrepid navigators to Crissy Field in San Francisco today.

An accident delayed, but did not mar, their arrival. Lieut. Lowell Wade was forced down at Rush City, 80 miles from San Francisco with a broken battery and had to wait while a new battery was rushed to him by motorcycle. Meanwhile, the other pilots, Lieut. Lowell H. Smith, the commander, and Lieut. Leigh Wade, cadet at Crissy Field, arrived minutes after they had expected to alight. Lieut. Smith, leading, swooped down on the field at 2:18:25 p.m.

Lieut. Wade, having installed his new battery, reached Crissy Field at 4:31 p.m.

DELAY FOR DAY

The flyers had expected to hop off tomorrow for Eugene, Or., en route to Seattle, but announced they will delay their departure until Saturday.

San Francisco's welcome to the aerial navigators of the air was a duplicate of the greetings that have marked them at every other stop on their return to their own country. More than 25,000 persons thronged the landing field and showed their admiration.

The crowd, however, was an orderly one and showed no disposition to break through the heavy ropes. Lieut. Smith remarked thankfully on the fact that the crowds were not permitted to overwhelm the flyers.

"The Golden Gate sure looked good to us" was his first remark.

MAKES FIVE HOURS

The hop from Santa Monica took two hours and seven minutes, including the mishap to Wade. When they arrived here, the flyers had covered approximately 27,000 miles of globe-girdling flight and had been between 350 and 355 hours in the air, according to a log kept by Lowell P. Arnold, mechanician to Lieut. Smith.

"We were out to establish a record," said Lieut. Smith. "We went as fast as we could and made the stops as short as possible."

On their arrival the aviators were entertained at luncheon by the officers at Crissy Field. Then they were taken to a downtown hotel where they rested.

ROOSEVELT NOMINATED

Choice Made on First Ballot

Republicans Stampede to Name Young "Teddy" as Gubernatorial Entry

Platform Naming Klan is Adopted After Weak Minority Fight

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

ROCHESTER (N. Y.) Sept. 25. Theodore Roosevelt, assistant Secretary of the Navy, and son of the late President, was named by the Republican State convention here today as the party's candidate for Governor. His nomination came on the first ballot, where he polled 565 of the 990 votes in the convention, sixty-nine in excess of the necessary majority. The nomination was made unanimous and by acclamation on the motion of former Gov. Benjamin B. Odell, manager of the preconvention campaign of Supreme Court Justice Arthur S. Thompkins of Nyack.

The remainder of the ticket, nominated at an adjourned session this afternoon follows:

Lieutenant-Governor, Seymour Lowman, Elmira; Secretary of State, Mrs. Florence E. S. Knapp, Syracuse; Comptroller, Vincent B. Murphy, Rochester; Treasurer, Lewis H. Pounds, Brooklyn; Attorney-General, Albert Ottinger, New York; State Engineer and Surveyor, Royal G. Finch, Albany.

When informed of his nomination, Col. Roosevelt said:

"The Republican party has done me a very great honor and I am deeply gratified. Our platform is sound, constructive Republicanism. I stand on it four-square.

BACK COOLIDGE

"President Coolidge is giving the country an unequaled administration. We in this State will bend every effort to back up Calvin Coolidge."

Later Col. Roosevelt was given a tremendous ovation when he appeared on the convention platform just before final adjournment.

Mrs. Florence E. S. Knapp, the nominee for Secretary of State, is the first woman to be a candidate for a State office in New York on the Republican ticket.

There was cheering when Chairman Ogden L. Mills of the resolutions committee read a plank in the platform denouncing the Ku Klux Klan by name.

More cheering greeted the reading of the plank declaring for strict law enforcement and the enactment of legislation necessary for such enforcement. The platform was adopted by a vice-vote.

BANDITS TIE, ROB FIVE AT LONG BEACH

Two Unmasked Men Take $3000 in Jewelry in Raid on Home Party

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

LONG BEACH, Sept. 25.—Two unmasked men tonight invaded the home of Edward G. McClure at 717 Loma avenue and, at the points of automatic pistols, held up three men and two women, tied their hands and robbed them of a small sum of money and jewelry valued at $3000, most of which was taken from C. E. Norton, on whom the attentions of the bandits were chiefly centered. Norton is a brother-in-law of McClure.

When the pair entered the home, according to the story told the police, they ordered the men and women to lie flat on the floor. McClure objected and started toward one of the men and was struck on the head with the butt of a gun, sustaining a painful injury. The bandits searched Norton carefully, robbed him of one diamond ring valued at $2200, another valued at $300 and $60 in cash. They found traveler's checks aggregating $2000 on his person, but threw them in his face.

Until a day or two ago Norton was the proprietor of a chain of grocery stores here. He told the police he believes the men were after the money he received from the sale of the stores.

The bandits also are said to have attempted to take a diamond ring from one of the women, Miss D. O'Looney of 527 East Fourth street. McClure was treated by Police Surgeon Rogers.

POWERS WARN ON AIR RAIDS

Chinese Officers Who Order Bombing of Undefended Towns to be Held Responsible, Say Diplomats

BY JOHN CLARK

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

[Copyright, 1924, by the Chicago Tribune.]

PEKING, Sept. 25.—The Dutch Minister, as dean of the protocol powers' group, today addressed a note to the Chinese government and Gen. Chang Tso-Lin, urging that airplanes be not used against undefended towns, saying that if foreign lives or property are destroyed, the powers will hold the authority ordering the attack strictly responsible.

The note says the heads of the legations are resolved not to interfere in the present conflict, but view with greatest concern the use of airplanes against other objectives than military forces, fortified places, or naval units.

The bombing of undefended towns is wanton destruction and a crime against the peaceful population. Peking contains foreign legations, and also many buildings of great historical value, and the bombing of towns and villages has no military value, but causes much suffering.

He appreciates the declaration of both sides that they will afford full protection to foreign lives and property and "trust that no air attacks will be made endangering the lives of their nationals. Should foreign lives be lost or property destroyed as the result of an attack by airplanes on the capital or any treaty port they would feel obliged to hold the authority ordering the attack strictly responsible."

CONVICTS SENT TO FRONT IN CHINA WAR

BY JOHN POWELL

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

[Copyright, 1924, by the Chicago Tribune]

SHANGHAI, Sept. 25.—The desperate need for men on both the Chekiang and Kiangsu sides in the present war was shown today when the Chekiang authorities opened up two prisons and jails and sent nearly 200 long-time convicts to the front. A similar action at Nanking also is reported here.

The chief feature of the fighting today on the Shanghai front was an air battle, the first of the war and the first in the Orient, staged on the Huangtu front by Chekiang and Kiangsu planes. Chekiang sent four French-made bombing planes to Huangtu, manned by Russian flyers, and bombs were dropped on both Taitsang and Quinsan and considerable damage is reported. Before the planes could get away they were attacked by two Kiangsu planes and forced to return to their home base. Several shots were exchanged but neither side suffered damage and the Chekiang planes returned to their base here about noon.

The general fighting on the Shanghai line today consisted of skirmishing for positions, preparatory to a general offensive, both sides still promising to begin at once. The Kiangsu troops are trying to solve canal crossings by building pontoons of empty kero-

LOTTA CRABTREE IS DEAD

Wealthy Actress, Favorite of Western Mining Camps as Child, Dies at Age of Seventy-seven

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

BOSTON, Sept. 25.—Lotta Crabtree, retired actress, who thirty years ago was reputed to be the richest individual in stage life, died tonight at the hotel which she had made her Boston home since her retirement at the height of her career in 1891. She was 77 years of age.

Starred as "Lotta," Charlotte Mignon Crabtree sang, danced and played herself into the hearts of the theater-goers of a generation ago all over the United States, and in 1891 retired at the height of her success with a fortune estimated at above $2,000,000. She was then known as the richest individual in stage life.

BEGAN IN WEST

Over the bookshop which her father, John Ashworth Crabtree, kept on Broadway, New York, the little comedienne was born November 7, 1847. The bookseller was one of those who followed the gold rush to California, taking his family with him, and it was on the Pacific Coast that Lotta scored her first childish triumphs. She made her debut as an actress when only 6 years of age at Petaluma, Cal., when she played Gertrude in "The Loan of a Lover."

At the head of her own company, at the age of 7, "La Petite Lotta" played one-night stands throughout the mining region and in those days scored her biggest night at a rough Nevada camp where, after a rather hostile reception, she finally so won the hearts of the miners that they

REHEARING IS SOUGHT

La Follette Men File Plea

State Supreme Court Asked to Reverse Decision on Independent Ticket

Radical Candidate to Stump California as Result of Barring of Electors

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 25.—The La Follette-Wheeler campaign committee late today filed with the State Supreme Court an application for a rehearing on their petition for a writ of mandate instructing the County Clerk of Marin county to receive, examine and forward to the Secretary of State the nominating petitions for the La Follette electors and place them on the November ballot. It was announced that the members of the court had left the State building for the day and that the matter could not be taken up until tomorrow.

The committee at the same time planned to ask the county clerks to receive the nominating petitions pending possible favorable action by the court. Registrar Harry Zemansky of San Francisco stated that he had accepted the petition on the understanding that it was not to be forwarded to the Secretary of State unless the Supreme Court should so decree.

Frank Havenner, director of the La Follettte campaign, stated that he had received word that the county clerks of five other counties had taken similar action.

"The members of the independent progressive electoral ticket are convinced that there is such unanswerable logic to their request for a rehearing that they have asked registrars and county clerks to receive the nominating petitions on this basis," Mr. Havenner said.

LAST DAY FOR FILING

Today was the last day under the California law on which the petitions could be filed.

The following counties and the approximate number of signatures, are those in which the petitions have been filed:

Alameda, 4000; Santa Clara, 2400; San Joaquin, 2200; San Francisco, 10,000; San Diego, 3000; Los Angeles, 11,000.

No State Supreme Court decision in recent years has developed such a broadside of critical comment. Here and there, however, appeared a statement approving the four-to-three opinion.

Prominent among the defenders of the decision was Albert E. Boynton, former chairman of the Republican State Central Committee. He declared that the decision unquestionably was correct.

NO OTHER COURSE

In a statement setting forth his views on the subject, Mr. Boynton said:

"It is the duty of the Supreme Court to interpret the law as it is, regardless of the wishes or desires of that court. The decision that the names of the La Follette Presidential electors cannot be printed on the November ballot is unquestionably the correct interpretation of the law of the State.

"Those of us who have had occasion to examine into the matter during the last thirty days were convinced that the Supreme Court would reach no other conclusion."

United States Senator Hiram W. Johnson, Lieutenant-Governor C. C. Young, Francis V. Keesling, a prominent Coolidge supporter, and Gavin McNab, a leader in Democratic State affairs, all were united in expressions that the decision was contrary to public policy, even though admitting that the majority justices literally interpreted the primary election law.

Lieutenant-Governor Young, author of the Direct Primary Act, deplored the literal rather than the liberal interpretation of the law which deprived the La Follette-Wheeler electors of a place on the Presidential ballot under an independent party designation.

One sentence of the court's opinion, however, he pointed out, was significant as suggesting the necessity for a Federal constitutional amendment which should long ago have been made and which the present situation may now help to promote.

SEVEN REASONS FOR REHEARING ARE GIVEN

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 24.—The petition for a rehearing which was filed today with the Supreme Court by Attorney Nathan Moran on behalf of the thirteen petitioners, led by Rudolph Spreckels, cites seven reasons as grounds for the request for reconsideration of the court's decision barring La Follette electors from the ballot.

GOVERNMENT OWNERSHIP ATTACKED BY COOLIDGE

Federal Utility Scheme Exploded by Facts Showing Inevitable Tax Rise and Bureau Rule

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 25.—President Coolidge, in an address here tonight commemorating the meeting of the first Continental Congress in Carpenter's Hall 150 years ago, drew lessons from the acts of the forefathers and declared that "if we wish to maintain what they established, we shall do well to leave the people in the ownership of their property, in control of their government and under the protection of their courts."

"By a resolute determination to resist all the encroachments," the President said, "we can best show our reverence and appreciation for the men and the work of the First Continental Congress."

The President's denunciation of government ownership of railroads and other public utilities drew applause from the crowd that filled the Academy of Music where he spoke for thirty-five minutes.

Mr. Coolidge spent two and a half hours in Philadelphia, leaving for Washington immediately after the conclusion of the exercises. The President, who was accompanied by Mrs. Coolidge, received a cordial greeting from the crowds that lined the streets from the station to the academy.

"If we wish to maintain what our fathers here established," he declared, "we shall do well to leave the people in the ownership of their property, in control of their government and under the protection of their courts."

It is difficult, the President said, referring to government ownership of railroads, "to reconcile the American ideal of a sovereign people capable of owning and managing their own government with an ability to own and manage their own business."

LESSONS DRAWN

Furthermore, he declared, it would mean a loss in public revenue estimated at $400,000,000 a year with a resultant increase in the tax on farmers of from 3 to 40 per cent.

Mr. Coolidge devoted most of his address to a discussion of early history of this country and the birth of the Constitution after the organization of the First Continental Congress.

Referring to the deliberations of this Congress, the President asserted that "if we could better understand what they said and did to establish our free institutions, we should be less likely to be misled by the misrepresentations and distorted arguments of the hour, and be far better equipped to maintain them."

He drew a lesson from the declarations of the Congress as showing the superiority of moderation and candor over violence and deceit in seeking a solution of difficult, public questions.

The Constitution, Mr. Coolidge pointed out, "is a device for maintaining in perpetuity the rights of the people, with the ultimate extinction of all privileged classes."

PEOPLE MUST CONTROL

"I have mentioned the desirability," he continued, "for the people to keep control of their own government and their own property, because I believe that is one of the American ideals of public welfare in harmony with the efforts of the First Constitutional Congress. They objected to small infractions, which would destroy great principles of liberty. Unless we can maintain the integrity of the courts, where the individual can secure his rights, any kind of tyranny may follow. If the people lose control of the arteries of trade and the natural sources of mechanical power, the nationalization of all industry could soon be expected. Our forefathers were alert to resist all encroachments upon their rights. If we wish to maintain our rights, we can do no less. Through the breaking down of the power of the courts lies an easy way to the confiscation of property and to the destruction of liberty of the individual. With railways and electrical utilities under political control, the domination of a group would be so firmly intrenched in the whole direction of our government, that the privilege of citizenship for the rest of the people would consist largely in the payment of taxes.

"The fathers sought to escape from any such condition through

SOLIDARITY IN FAR EAST

Japan for China on Council

Persia Also Backs Plea for Place in League Body to Largest Nation

Viscount Ishii Pleads for Equad Rights for All in World Commerce

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

GENEVA, Sept. 25.—Indications that the Far Eastern countries, especially China and Japan will stand their ground in insisting upon all their rights before the League of Nations, was furnished by tonight's session of the League of Nations. Japan came out squarely in favor of granting China a seat on the Council of the League as a great Asiatic power, thus giving expression to Japo-Chinese solidarity.

Persia also backed China's insistence that the great geographical division of the world, the principal races and the chief sources of wealth should all be recognized in the distribution of Council seats and urged that China be given a seat because Asia is the largest continent in the world, containing half the human race.

Through the unanimous adoption of a resolution favoring the allocation of seats on the basis of geographical divisions, it would seem likely that the present number of nonpermanent seats which is six, will be increased so as to include China and perhaps some other countries.

URGES EQUALITY

Another feature of tonight's session of the Assembly was an address by Viscount Ishii on the question of equitable treatment of foreign nationals in the domain of international commerce, upon which the permanent economy commission of the League submitted a preliminary report. Viscount Ishii declared that Japan attached great importance to this question, for she considered that it was one of the most important tasks of the League of Nations to see to it that "no member of the League is subjected to any unjust discrimination in its international activity in the field of economics."

"In order to facilitate peace and insure the progress of the world," he continued, "it is necessary that the peoples should respect one another. The question of the equitable treatment of foreign nations is a guage of the evolution of the League of Nations.

"In the last month the dawn of a new era of peace and mutual understanding has been rising in Europe."

GEORGIA MEDITATION

Unanimous approval was given to a resolution calling upon the Council of the League to mediate in behalf of Georgia at the most favorable moment.

The subcommittee reported that the sufferings of the Georgian people were beyond endurance. The Russian terror was becoming more violent with imprisonments, deportations, tortures and executions without trial.

Representations of the great and small powers from the rostrum urged that the League of Nations must exert its influence to bring an end to this bloodshed if it wished to justify its name, though it was admitted that the Council must exercise prudence in any intervention.

FALL BOND DEAL CHARGED

Coolidge's Special Oil Counsel Assert Ex-Secretary Got Securities Bought With Sinclair Profits

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

TORONTO (Ont.) Sept. 25.—That Albert B. Fall, former Secretary of the Interior, came into possession of certain United States Liberty Bonds shortly after these securities had been purchased for the Continental Trading Company, Ltd., a Canadian concern, with profits made out of oil sold to the Sinclair Oil interests, is asserted in an affidavit filed today in an Ontario court by former United States Senator Atlee Pomerene of Cleveland and Owen J. Roberts of Philadelphia, special Federal counsel appointed by President Coolidge.

The affidavit was presented as a preliminary move in an effort to obtain a court order authorizing the taking of depositions here.

The affidavit filed by Pomerene and Roberts sets forth that the Continental Trading Company, Ltd., which was organized in 1921, entered into a contract with the Humphreys-Texas Company and the Humphreys-Mexico Company on Nov. 17, 1921, for the purchase of 33,333,333 barrels of crude oil at a price of $1.80 per barrel. It is asserted that the execution of this agreement was engineered by the Sinclair Oil Purchasing Company and the Prairie Oil and Gas Company.

The affidavit asserts that the profits made by the trading company on crude oil sold to the Sinclair and Prairie concern on Dec. 28, 1921, were invested in Liberty Bonds. The amount of oil actually delivered in this transaction is not stated, but it is set forth that the deal involved the purchase of a contract made by the Western Oil Fields Company whereby the trading company was entitled to deliver 3,000,000 barrels of oil to be produced by the former at $1.20 a barrel. The oil, it is said, was resold the same day at an advance of 28 cents a barrel.

the guarantees of our Constitution. They put their faith in a free republic. If we wish to maintain what they established, we shall do well to leave the people in the ownership of their property, in control of their governments and under the protection of their courts.

By a resolution determination to resist all these encroachments we can best show our reverence and appreciation for the men and the work of the First Continental Congress."

TOO MUCH GOVERNMENT

Declaring it significant that the First Congress "resulted from the voluntary effort on the part of the people to redress their own grievances and remedy their own wrongs," Mr. Coolidge warned that "we pay too little attention to the reserve power of the people to take care of themselves; we are too solicitous for government intervention."

"Every one knows," he added, "that our economic problems are very far from being solved, but we are making constant progress, both in the field of production and distribution. When certain abuses arose we adopted a policy of government regulation and control. I have no doubt that some action of that kind was necessary and of course such a policy would be continued. But it has not been, nor can it be hoped that it will be, always wisely administered. While it provides some defense against wrongdoing, its restrictions often hamper development and progress, retard enterprise and when they failto produce the perfection promised tend to bring the government into discredit. The real fact is that in a republic like ours the people are the government, and if they cannot secure perfection in their own economic life, it is altogether improbable that the government can secure it for them. The same human nature which presided over private enterprise must be employed for public action.

HUGE RISE IN TAX

"No doubt there are certain municipalities where some public utilities have been managed through public ownership with a creditable success. But this is very different from a proposal that the national government should take over railroads and other public utilities. What a strain this would be to our economic system will be realized when it is remembered that public commissions set the value of such utilities at about $35,000,000,000 and that they have about 2,750,000 employees. Such an undertaking would mean about $1,750,000,000 annually in bond interest and an operating budget estimated at about $9,000,000,000. These utilities are no longer in the hands of a few, directly or indirectly. They are owned by scores of millions of our inhabitants. It would mean a loss in public revenue estimated at $600,000,000 a year, and while in Industrial States it might not increase the tax on the farmer more than 3 per cent or 4 per cent, in many agricultural countries, it would run as high as 40 per cent. When we recall the appalling loss and the difficulty in the management of the $3,500,000,000 worth of ships, we should undoubtedly hesitate about taking on ten times that value in public utilities. But there is no occasion to discuss the details of public ownership.

"The government of the United States is a device for maintaining in perpetuity the rights of the people, with the ultimate extinction of all privileged classes. It is a Constitution which is the product of human experience with all its toil and suffering; its bloodshed and devastation; its oppression and tyranny, but likewise with all its wisdom, its love of liberty and its determination to follow the truth. The First Continental Congress met to redress grievances which were the result of government action. The revolution was fought to resist those same grievances. And, finally, the Constitution was adopted to prevent similar impositions from ever again being inflicted upon the people.

PEOPLE ABSOLUTE

"They are all in that precious document, these priceless guarantees. The people do not propose again to entrust their government to others, but to retain it under their own control. No one can own Representatives. Instead of encroaching upon local assemblies, it guarantees each State a republican form of government. It regulates suspension of the writ of habeas corpus. It protects the home from the uninvited intrusion of military force of the government. It guards the right of jury trial and undertakes to make judicial officers independent, impartial, and free from every motive to follow any influence save that of the evidence, the law and the truth. These are representative of the great body of our liberties, of which the Constitution is the sole source and guarantee.

"Ours, as you know, is a government of limited powers. The Constitution confers the authority for certain actions upon the President and the Congress, and explicitly prohibits them from taking other actions. This is done to protect the rights and liberties of people. The government is limited, only the people are absolute. Whenever the legislative or executive power undertakes to overstep the bounds of its limitations, any person who is injured may resort to the courts for protection and remedy. We do not submit the precious rights of the people to a hazard of a prejudiced and irresponsible political determination, but preserve and protect them by an independent and impartial judicial determination. We do not expose the rights of the weak to the danger of being overcome in the public forum by popular uproar, but protect them in the sanctity of the courtroom, where the still, small voice will not fail to be heard. Any attempt to change this method of procedure is an attempt to put the people again in jeopardy of the impositions and the tyrannies from which the First Continental Congress sought to deliver them. The only position that Americans can take is that they are against all despotism whether it emanate from a monarch, from a parliament, or from a mob.

"Almost all our history as an independent and united nation can be traced back to the assembly of the First Continental Congress, which we are met to celebrate. Our achievements have been wrought by adherence to its policies of reason and restraint, accompanied by firmness and determination. We are not likely to desert that course of action now.

"The case which the Congress stated was unanswerable, one side or the other must give way or maintain its position by force of arms. That conflict for which the Congress had laid the logical foundation was not long in beginning. Liberty never won a more substantial and far-reaching victory than that which resulted from our Revolutionary War. It established the American nation, with all that it has since meant in the accomplishments of the world, and all that it holds of future promise. A form of government was organized in harmony with what Franklin had proposed at Albany in 1754. But the constitution was not adopted until various experiments with unworkable systems showed some action necessary. Whatever may be the reputation of that great instrument at home, modified and adapted to local needs, it has been adopted as the fundamental law for republics in every quarter of the world. The influence of that great document, framed in Philadelphia in 1787, can be traced in every constitution on earth, from China to Peru, from the Australian commonwealth to the German republic. They all bear the same testimony."

GUARDED BY MOTHER

Lotta's mother, Mary Ann Crabtree, was in those days and throughout the comedienne's stage career her constant companion, exercising so strict a chaperonage that it was said all suitors were frightened away; and she also acted as treasurer for the Crabtree fortune which began with the miners' gold dust. Roughing it from camp to camp, Lotta became the pet of all, and finally drifted East to try her luck in New York.

There, at first, she was a failure. She was first seen there in old Niblo's Garden, but she made such an unfavorable impression on this first occasion that she returned West for a time. In Chicago she found better fortune, making such a hit in "The Seven Sisters" that an enthusiastic admirer at McVicker's Theater one night threw to her, neatly done up in a handkerchief, a $300 watch and chain. Three years later, in 1868, she appeared in New York again, in a record-breaking engagement at Wallack's Theater, when she played with John Brougham in his adaption from Dickens's "Old Curiosity Shop," under the title of "Little Nell and The Marchioness," both of which roles Lotta played with remarkable success. Brougham epitomized her stage work by calling Lotta "the dramatic cocktail."

LONDON COLD TO HER

In the "Firefly," "Topsy," "Musette," "Bob," "Nitouche" and "The Little Detective," Lotta scored some of her greatest triumphs, although she appeared in a large number of other plays of the light-comedy variety.

In London she met such a cold reception on her first and much-heralded visit that she never ventured abroad a second time.

Together with the fortune she made on the stage, the actress added to her wealth by shrewd investments in real estate in many cities, and by buying race horses with which she won large stakes at harness meetings. She was the owner of My Star, once the world's champion green pacer, and a string of other horses which were in charge of her brother, Jack Crabtree, at stables near Boston.

Since her retirement in 1891, Miss Crabtree made her home in New York and California.

PLANES OFF FOR SEATTLE

The 'round-the-world flyers bade farewell to Los Angeles yesterday morning, after spending two of the most glorious days of their memorable flight here, and with one of Grandma Holland's home-made cakes stowed away in the flag plane.

The world cruisers ascended from Clover Field, where they have been on exhibition since the completion of the first circumnavigation of the globe by an air route, at 10:15 o'clock yesterday morning. They expected to reach San Francisco, the next hop on their triumphant tour of the Pacific Coast, within four hours. From San Francisco the world flyers will continue to Eugene, Or., and then to Seattle to give the Pacific Coast cities an opportunity to view the new historic sky-blazers before they are to be placed finally among the nation's permanent exhibits.

Lieut. Eric Nelson, pilot of the New Orleans, was the first of the world flyers to appear at Clover Field preparatory to hopping off for the north yesterday morning. With him was his engineering officer, Lieut. Jack Harding, and together the two flyers gave their cherished plane an hour of their attention.

HUNDREDS GATHER

A few hundred spectators already had gathered around the planes. Half of them carried cameras. Lieut. Lowell Smith, flight commander, and Lieut. Leslie Arnold, then Lieut. Leigh Wade and Lieut. H. H. Ogden arrived in a procession of automobiles.

"Hello boy," Mrs. Jasper Smith, mother of the young flight commander, called to her son.

"Pop" Jasper Smith was running about with a borrowed camera, shooting pictures of his illustrious son and the coterie of Smiths he had brought along.

"The only opportunity of seeing Lowell is here at the field," said Lieut. Smith's father. "He hasn't been at our home since his visit here. I guess it isn't the boy's fault though. He's got so many friends here who have just stolen him away from us. We didn't even decorate the house, for we felt that Lowell wouldn't have time to visit us. We feel so sorry for the neighbors, too. They were so disappointed because Lowell didn't come home. But mamma and I can understand. When all this excitement is over and when they return to Los Angeles, mamma is going to cook a big meal for all the boys and they're all coming out to our house."

"Pop" Smith darted off to "collar" his boy. He had a huge scroll, honoring Lieut. Smith as president of the National Smith Club and he insisted that all the news photographers snap the scene as he presented it to the flight commander.

PROVES PATIENCE

"Grandma" Holland, known to all but Lieut. Smith as Mrs. C. R. Holland, patiently stood in the sidelines. She waited until "Pop" Jasper Smith had finished with his posing. Then she found her grandson. She handed a big cardboard box to him. It was a cake she had baked especially for him and she wanted him to take it along on his flight and divide it among the boys when hunger overtook them.

The flyers donned their dungarees and prowled about their treasured planes. A flock of motion-picture performers swarmed around the great ships of the air. Occasionally one would sidle up to Lieut. Smith, and the other flyers and a press agent's camera would click. And all this while Lieut. Smith proved himself to be the possessor of the nth degree of patience and tolerance.

Singly, the six flyers were put through a rigid medical examination by Dr. Ray E. Fallas, medical examiner for the Equitable Life Assurance Society of New York, the organization which had presented each flyer with $1000 life insurance policies upon their arrival here. D. C. Kemp and Charles Langdon, special agents for the company made the presentations. The flyers were in perfect physical condition and were recommended as good risks.

THEY'RE OFF AGAIN

The minutes approached the hour for departure, 10 a.m. A few handshakes with friends, and the flyers climbed up to their cockpits. Engines sputtered and the powerful propellers spun around. Great clouds of dirt and dust enveloped the few hundred spectators and they ran coughing for air.

The planes taxied into the open field, whirled around, noses pointed westward. A signal from Flight Commander Smith, and they moved down the field. Together, the six landing wheels left the ground at fifteen seconds past 10 o'clock.

Quickly the three planes, hovering in the westward skies, diminished in size, swung widely to the right and headed in a northeasterly direction toward the Tehachapis. It was farewell to Los Angeles, but only for a short time. After visiting Seattle, the three world cruisers will return to Los Angeles and will then resume their journey to Rockwell Field, San Diego.

The Chinese fleet formerly attached to the Chekiang side of the fight definitely joined up with Kiangsu today, according to the admission of Gen. Chinese merchants in the fighting zone are beginning to feel the pinch of the fight through the demands of both sides for funds. The town of Wuzia, an industrial center in the Kiangsu zone, was forced to put up $16,000 and the town of Luchow was forced to put up $60,000 by one faction of the Chekiang army, and then another section came in and when no money was forthcoming the town was looted.

INDEPENDENTS FILE NEW PLEA

La Follette Men Ask Court to Grant Rehearing

Urge Reversal of Decision Barring Radical Ticket

Candidate Announces Plans to Stump California

its majority opinion failed to take into consideration a provision of the Political Code which permits independent nominations for any office by petition "in lieu of any primary election." Exception is taken to the court's ruling that electors are not public officers under the meaning of the statutes, it being asserted that the fact that their functions in practice are merely perfunctory does not deprive them of their character as public officers as intended by the Federal Constitution.

A former Supreme Court decision which approved use of joint petitions for candidates on the ground that the State law, while not authorizing their use, did not forbid it, is also cited by the petitioners as a precedent for permitting the La Follette electors' names to go on the ballot.

It is also argued that the court's construction of the statutes in this case would prevent the nomination of independent candidates for any office, which would be contrary to previous decisions by the Supreme Court.

The petition concludes with a plea that the decision violates the Fourteenth Amendment to the Federal Constitution providing "that no State shall make or enforce any law which shall abridge the privileges or immunities of citizens of the United States," it being asserted that the effect of the decision is to "deny to independent voters equality of opportunity in the exercise of their franchise."

LA FOLLETTE HIMSELF TO CAMPAIGN IN STATE

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25.—Aroused by the court decision barring electors pledged to him from the ballot in California, Senator La Follette, independent Presidential candidate, made plans today to conduct a vigorous personal campaign in that State.

In a formal statement, Mr. La Follette said that California voters "can still register their support of the independent-progressive candidacy by voting for the progressive electors named on the Socialist ticket, although they would have preferred to vote for electors named on an independent ticket."

The statement was issued after the Senator had received telegrams relative to yesterday's decision of the California Supreme Court from Rudolph Spreckels, his western campaign manager, and Frank Havenner, California State manager, and after the situation had been discussed by the candidate with several of his advisers here.

The word went out from La Follette headquarters that the court's action had served to make the Wisconsin Senator more determined than ever to invade California during October and it was said that his itinerary, which will be announced shortly, would call for addresses by him in several California cities.

After announcing that he had received telegrams from Mr. Spreckels and Mr. Havenner which he said "speak for themselves" Mr. La Follette continued:

"There is no need to point the moral or to adorn the tale. Again, one man, one individual, has nullified the deliberately expressed will of 50,000 voters who had written a virtually new chapter in American political initiative in meeting the extraordinary requirements of the California electoral law. In one day each of these 50,000 persons affixed his signature thirteen times to the petition to place independent progressive electors on the ballot. This action of the electorate, one judge out of seven now declares null and void.

"Fortunately, while the will of the people has been thwarted, there is a way out for them. They can still register their support of the independent candidacy by voting for the progressive electors named on the Socialist ticket, although they would have preferred to vote for electors named on an independent ticket. Thus they will be able, on national issues at least, notwithstanding this one-man dictation, to cast their ballots for Presidential electors who are pledged to vote for the progressive candidates for President and Vice-President."

PETITIONS FILED PENDING REHEARING

On the advice of County Counsel Bishop Registrar of Voters Kerr yesterday accepted and gave a receipt for fourteen petitions, bearing about 10,000 names, which seek to have Senator La Follette appear on the ballot for the November election.

The decision of the State Supreme Court Wednesday held that the County Clerk of Marin county should not accept such petitions, but Registrar Kerr was informed that a petition had been made yesterday for a rehearing. It was decided by Deputy County Counsel Kline that, on the possibility of a reversal of Wednesday's decision, it would be best to retain the petitions where they will be available for checking and submission to Secretary of State Jordan.

The petitions are thirteen individual ones for each La Follette elector and one group petition. Yesterday was the last day that they might be filed.

SOCIALIST PARTY TO NAME ELECTORS

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 25.—The adjourned platform convention of the Socialist party of California, which last week indorsed the candidacies of Senators La Follette and Wheeler, will meet in Sacramento next Saturday evening to adopt, if agreeable to the La Follette managers and electoral candidates, the independent electoral slate which the State Supreme Court yesterday knocked out, it was announced here today by A. L. Heim of Fair Oaks, chairman of the convention.

The convention, at its meeting last week, indorsed La Follette and Wheeler, adopted and made public its platform and then adjourned subject to the call of its chairman, the purpose being to await the Supreme Court decision regarding the La Follette independent electors before adopting a list of electors for the Socialist party. It was agreed at that time that if the La Follette electors were barred from the ballot, the same list would be named by the Socialists.

At a committee meeting here this morning, presided over by Chairman Heim, the decision was made to reconvene the convention next Saturday evening and in the meantime to make efforts to ascertain whether the La Follette independent electors would accept the Socialist nomination.

The platform indorses the administration of President Coolidge and pledges the party in the State to the support of the Coolidge-Dawes ticket; assailed the Democratic administration of State affairs, characterizing it as inefficient, insincere and lax; declared for a forty-eight hour week for women in industry; advocated the ratification of the child-labor amendment to the Federal constitution; pledged the party to determine with the Federal government the question of ownership of water power on boundaries and the appointment of a commission to study the entire water-power problem with a view to determining the best possible plan to carry on power development in the interests of all the people of the State, and commended the pending $10,000,000 bond issue referendum for State parks.

YOUNG ROOSEVELT FOLLOWS FATHER'S STEPS

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Sept. 25.—When Theodore Roosevelt today accepted at Rochester the gubernatorial nomination of the Republican party, family history was repeating itself once more.

Theodore, Jr., advanced one step into another of his late father's footprints. He pushed a little farther along the trail to political fortune Theodore, Sr. had blazed a generation ago.

"Teddy the first" emerged from the Spanish-American War a hero, a colonel and a politician with a big following. "Teddy the second" enlisted in the World War, won three medals, emerged a lieutenant-colonel and discovered that he, too, had won political popularity.

The elder Theodore served as Assistant Secretary of the Navy. The younger Theodore will resign the same post to enter the campaign for the Governorship.

Father served as Governor of New York State before he became Vice-President and then, through the death of President McKinley, moved into the White House. Son is just reaching toward that rung in the ladder of political fame which is marked "Executive Mansion, Albany."

The Theodore Roosevelt of this generation was born at Oyster Bay thirty-seven years ago. He was educated in New York, received an A. B. in three years at Harvard and entered the carpet business.

Then he became a Wall-street broker and two years later became third partner in a firm, as manager of the New York office. He married Miss Eleanor Butler Alexander in 1916.

For more than a year he sat in the Assembly at Albany. He was known as a listener rather than a talker. Only one bill of that session bore his name—a measure designed to allow $400 [illegible] exemption for each child [illegible] $200.

Brisbane Says His Vote Will Be Given Coolidge

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Sept. 25.—[illegible] Brisbane, editor and publisher, announced at a luncheon of the Rotary Club at Hotel McAlpin [illegible] he would vote for President Coolidge.

He analyzed the three Presidential candidates and said any of them would make a "great, conscientious" President.

Brisbane urged his hearers to petition their Congressmen to vote for an air defense of 4000 planes for the United States.

Two thousand of them, he said, could be used for air mail service and as a first line of defense, the balance should be used by the navy as a second line of defense.

Declaring that America's greatest menace at present was from the Adriatic countries and Russia, he added the "next war will be fought not in an ocean of water, but in an ocean of air."

Public Welcomes Check on Young Black Shirts

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

ROME, Sept. 25.—Luigi Federsoni, Minister of the Interior in Premier Mussolini's Cabinet, today issued an order to the prefects of national police throughout Italy to intensify their vigilance on all Italian cities and towns to maintain peace. This is regarded as a further step toward complete normalcy in Italy. It is in line with promises made by Premier Mussolini.

The opposition press, however, has repeatedly complained that many of Premier Mussolini's followers have hitherto neglected to obey his orders, especially irresponsible members of the reserve national militia, or black shirt, who, according to newspaper reports, have been starting trouble in smaller cities and villages. The press publishes frequent accounts of attacks by irresponsible black shirts against rivals, not only Socialists, but also Catholic clubs, Masonic lodges, opposition newspaper offices, headquarters of war veterans' societies, in fact, anybody who disagrees with their politics.

A large part of the country recognizes that the aggressors are hot-headed youngsters, who doubtless are acting sincerely, according to their light, but nonetheless it welcomes the firm action of the government to suppress the sporadic disorders. All classes praise the government for its recent work in pacification, especially Federsoni's carabinieri or national police, who maintained order admirably in Rome on the day of Casalini's funeral. They feel that today's order is a continuation of the government's assertion of authority.

Premier Mussolini's tour of North Italy this week had a further pacificatory influence. His speeches, especially those wherein he adjured the provincial black shirts to remain calm and disciplined, were much applauded.

Pearls worn upon the person were once believed to be good for the sight. A turquoise received as a gift and worn in a ring of gold preserved men from falls; it also took all enmity from between man and wife.

PASTOR-POISONER ON KNEES

Hight Pleads for Mercy in Murder of Wife; Woman Held in Husband's Slaying Ill in Jail

BY ORVILLE DWYER

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

MT. VERNON (Ill.) Sept. 25.—With Rev. Lawrence M. Hight already crying out in fear for "mercy rather than justice," State's Attorney Frank G. Thompson went on preparing for a prosecution calculated to send the preacher-poisoner to the scaffold.

While the minister was seeking to buoy up his sinking hopes with eager plans to become "a prison chaplain," the prosecutor went relentlessly on gathering evidence of Hight's purchases of the arsenic that was administered so mercilessly to his wife Anna and to Wilford Sweetin, the husband Elsie Sweetin killed for the parson's illicit love.

PLEADS FOR MERCY

Hight does not want to be judged by any Calvinistic dictum of the Old Testament he so often invoked in his preaching.

While he tells in one breath how he kissed the chilling lips of his dying wife—not because of sorrow or of love, but for joy because he was to be free to flee to the embrace of Elsie Sweetin—he seeks in the next breath for compassion.

"What I need now," he says, "is mercy—not justice."

Hight today asked the State's Attorney to call a special judge, have him indicted and tried at once. But Thompson refused him. He hasn't his case against the preacher properly ready for the court yet, he says, and will not go into court without an ironclad case.

FEAR FELT FOR MIND OF MRS. SWEETEN

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SALEM (Ill.) Sept. 25.—Continued refusal to partake of food, coupled with the strenuous events of the last three days and the loss of sleep, tonight had cast Mrs. Elsie Sweeten, held here on a charge of having poisoned her husband, Wilford Sweeten, into a state of semiconsciousness, and jail attendants suggested taking her to a hospital if she showed no immediate improvement.

Symptoms of her mind having become impaired since her confession that she poisoned her husband at the instigation of Rev. Lawrence M. Hight, who, in turn, poisoned his wife, so that they could be married, have become noticeable, officials said.

In addition to repentance felt for her act, as Mrs. Sweeten has admitted, the worry over the future of her three little boys has been her chief concern.

Distinct waning of her feeling for the minister is reflected by her remarks concerning her relations with him.

She has accused the pastor of influencing her to carry out her part of the confessed poison plot.

SHOCKING! LABORITES DISGRACED

MacDonald and Aides to Face Censure for Going to Court in Knee Pants

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

LONDON, Sept. 25.—A mighty howl against the practice of England's Laborite ministers in attending King George's courts in full regalia—silk stockings, knee breeches, clinking swords, embroidered coats, buckled shoes, cocked hats and all the rest of it—will probably go up to the rafters in Queen's Hall when the Labor party holds its twenty-first annual conference next month.

A dozen resolutions in the subject of the ministers and their wives and daughters wearing court regalia just like the aristocratic "old order" are down on the agenda. Some of the resolutions express regret that such is the case, others protest against it. One deplores it all, another merely views it with disfavor.

One resolution to be offered says that if the ministers find it absolutely necessary to attend the courts, they should wear "rational attire."

Many more serious subjects than court costumes will be discussed at the meeting.

Some of them call for nationalization of the mines and electric power, municipal distribution of food and other Socialistic schemes. All the members of the government in England probably will attend the conference which assembles on October 7.

American Gifts Go Into French War Memorial

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PARIS, Sept. 25.—"Families of fallen soldiers and not the gifts of a few demagogues," have erected a Franco-American war monument which will be dedicated at Navarin Farm, near Somme-By, next Sunday, Gen. Gouraud, lion of Champagne, who will preside over the ceremonies, declared today.

Gen. Gouraud said subscriptions came from all parts of France and America for the monument, which will perpetuate the heroism of French and American soldiers whose 1918 offensive drive liberated France.

The statue represents two French soldiers, with one American, who has been made a likeness to Quentin Roosevelt, going to the attack.

Soviet Orders Papal Relief Body to Leave

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

LONDON, Sept. 25.—The papal relief mission to Russia, whose first head was Father Walsh of Baltimore, has been dissolved and its members ordered to leave immediately, according to word reaching here.

The soviets, in typical fashion, ended the $10,000,000 relief with a note saying: "The Russian government no longer needs foreign help and desires the representatives of foreign missions to leave soviet territory immediately."

Father Walsh's successor was a German. Father Walsh had a difficult time after the Rutchkacitch trial because he provided food for the condemned prelate. Cheka agents made Father Walsh's life so miserable he had to leave Moscow.

Landslide Kills Fifteen Persons in Swiss Town

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

BERNE (Switzerland) Sept. 25. A landslide last night obliterated a large part of the mountain village of Someo, in the Tessin Canyon, crushing twelve houses into ruins and partially burying them.

The destruction was increased by a wild mountain stream which overflowed because of the landslide and inundated part of the village. A number of inhabitants were killed or swept away. Thus far three bodies have been found.

According to later reports fifteen persons were killed and twenty houses destroyed in the disaster which followed a heavy thunderstorm.

DAWES SCORES RADICAL AIMS

Asserts Voters Must Choose Coolidge or Chaos

Says La Follette Denounces Courts to Win Reds

Denies Farmers of the West Accept Socialism

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

MINNEAPOLIS, Sept. 25.—Charles G. Dawes, Republican Vice-Presidential nominee, heckled about his connection with the Lorimer bank case at his meeting here tonight, declared mention of the matter by Senator Wheeler, independent candidate for Vice-President, was like "sulphurated hydrogen—it leaves only a bad smell."

The alternative of "Coolidge or chaos" was portrayed to the voters of Minnesota by Dawes in a round half dozen addresses today on a tour that began with a rear-platform speech at Rochester and ended with a mass meeting here tonight.

Entering Minnesota, a State in which the Republican leaders frankly admit the existence of a bitter contest with the La Follette independent candidacy and in which the La Follette nominee for the Vice-Presidency, Senator Wheeler of Montana, also is in now making a campaign trip, Mr. Dawes attacked and re-attacked the La Follette proposal for Congressional veto of judicial decisions as "an assault upon the Constitution of the United States."

CHAOS PICTURED

"What kind of a government will we have, what kind of a life will we lead, what will become of wages, what will become of business, what will become of the price of farm products, if this attack on the government of the United States succeeds?" he asked again and again and answering his own questions, he invariably replied:

"Chaos! That's what we would have."

Once a man in the audience shouted the reply, "No government at all," and Mr. Dawes took it up and shouted it back.

The Republican nominee in his Rochester speech made, and he later repeated, the charge that Senator La Follette "in order to get the Socialists who fly the Red flag into his combination assaulted the Constitution of the United States and our form of government."

NOT RADICALISM

"That don't go in our country and in this part of the country if I know it," he continued. "They talk to me about the radicalism in the West. There is no radicalism to speak of in the West. I have lived in the West and I have been called a radical in my earlier days in the West. This is a God-fearing, intelligent, patriotic, property-owning section of our country.

"What they call radicalism in the West is the desire of honest men to improve conditions. If they are against something in the existing order they are against it; but they are not against the existing order of things. There is all the difference that there is between daylight and darkness between what they call radicalism in the West and the radicalism of downtown New York and West of Madison street, Chicago.

"That is why Mr. La Follette has made a mistake. Unless he had attacked the Constitution of the United States, he could not have brought behind him the support of the Socialists, who, in the words of Eugene V. Debs, are in this campaign adhering to Socialist principles and flying the red flag."

PASS-KEY THIEVES BLAMED

Pass-key thieves are blamed by Hollywood police for the theft of jewelry valued at $285 from the home of Mrs. M. O. Jewett, 6025 Hollywood Boulevard. The robbery took place during the day, while Mrs. Jewett was away from home, she reported to detectives yesterday.

RICHMOND TO SOAPBOX FOR LA FOLLETTE

Erstwhile Episcopal Clergyman to "Show Up" Los Angeles, Too

Rev. George Chalmers Richmond, earthwhile Episcopal clergyman, who lately shook the dust of Los Angeles from his feet, writes The Times with some pride to say that he has accepted an invitation to make a tour of the East speaking in the interests of La Follette. This will defer his projected trip to Europe till after election. Mr. Richmond also expected to improve his time by "showing up" Los Angeles and appends a sample from a speech delivered by him in Albany. It follows:

"I found Los Angeles in the grip of the most immoral gang of industrial and political cut-throats one can see anywhere in the world. They are Republicans and Democrats. A bad lot of rascals, out for graft, bribes and unjust profits. Americans must be told the story of California's awful disgrace in recent days. I intend to tell it all over the land and then tell it in England. Then in France, then in Russia. California is in need of a good public licking. She cannot expect to go on as in recent days sending men to prison for no crime at all. Simply because they are asserting their rights under our Constitution. Nowhere in America are human rights and human values at such a low ebb as in the criminal city of Los Angeles. Even the poor, weak ministers are in the gang, a sickening lot of moral mongrels, afraid to preach Christianity—they joke, tell penny stories to please the gang and cultivate laughter rather than thought."

Incidentally Mr. Richmond says he will return to Los Angeles next year.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Sept. 25.—The representation of J. P. Morgan & Co. in the control of the General Motors Corporation was increased today through the election of George Whitney, a partner, as a director and member of the General Motors finance committee, E. R. Stettinus, another Morgan partner, is a member of both boards. Other important changes made by the General Motors Corporation included the election of Charles T. Fisher and Lawrence P. Fisher, both represented the Fisher Body Corporation, as directors and the addition of Fred J. Fisher of the same company to the finance committee.

OPERATING INCOME OF ESPEE DECLINES

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Sept. 25.—Southern Pacific's August report shows a decline of $400,642 in net operating income to $5,014,856, compared with August last year. Gross revenues of $23,523,899 fell $1,344,163. For the eight months of 1924, net dropped to $26,904,262 from $31,676,620 in the same period of 1923 while gross was $176,-$35,000, a decrease of about $6,-199,000. Operating expenditures in August were $1,660,171 less than the same month last year and for the eight months $1,331,506 under a year ago.

BRYAN INACTION ROILS WORKERS

Small Half of Ticket Gets Call Upon Carpet

Western Headquarters Cry Reprisal Threat

Democrats May Back Dawes Against Charley

BY DONALD EWING
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, Sept. 24.—Charles W. Bryan, the small half of the Democratic ticket, came to Chicago today for a three-day conference at western headquarters, in which local leaders hope to find out definitely whether he actually will work through the campaign for his party and John W. Davis—or just for himself.

Officially it was announced Bryan was coming "to inspect headquarters and watch the wheels go round." Privately it was learned that he really has been summoned here—called on the mat—because of his lethargy in the Davis campaign and the activity of some of his followers in aiding La Follette.

The plan is to make it plain to Bryan that, if he thinks by aiding La Follette he can get the election into the House and be elected Vice-President through La Follette's aid—and possibly President—he is wrong. There is no doubt that when Mr. Bryan returns to Nebraska he will know that his own party is perfectly willing to play "a game;" that, if necessary, it will go him one better by giving full strength to La Follette, get the election into Congress and then leave Charley flat by supporting Dawes in the hope of aid for Davis from Republicans in return.

PLEAS IGNORED

Some of the details of the "Davis-Dawes" plan, which no longer is a secret, came coincident with the word that Bryan would be here—if not tomorrow then the next day. These details show that Bryan is doing nothing to help his running-mate in the campaign.

The Vice-Presidential nominee has completely ignored western headquarters, being little less considerate of the John W. Davis party itself when it traveled through the West by special train, and actually refused to do any extensive campaigning outside his own State of Nebraska.

From the Davis special train frequent communications were sent to Bryan asking him about campaigning, speaking dates and such. Several of these he did not even answer. From local headquarters several telegrams were sent on the same subject, with no answer for several days. Finally came word from the western Governor to the general effect that he was so busy being Governor he would have little chance to campaign outside of Nebraska.

Democratic chieftains had planned for some time to have Bryan campaign extensively in Western German, Catholic and Lutheran sections, going extensively into the parochial-school situation. Bryan was elected Governor, politicians agree, primarily because his opponent opposed teaching German language in public schools, while Bryan favored it and made the matter the campaign issue. This vote has been swinging to La Follette and there is strong suspicion that Bryan's aides—if not Bryan himself—have been sitting back and watching it swing.

PITTMAN QUITS

It is partly because of the attitude of Bryan that Senator Key Pittman, Democrat, Nevada, may not be with the Davis train when it starts west again October 1. Pittman was handling the candidate's speaking dates, and it was no secret that when the train reached Chicago Pittman was so disgusted with the lack of co-operation from Bryan that he was ready to quit.

Regardless of the cause, the word has gone out that Pittman will be replaced—whether at his own request or some one else's. He will be the second to quit such a job, Representative McClintock, Democrat, Oklahoma, recently resigning as head of the speakers' bureau because he could not get the co-operation he wanted from other chieftains.

REPRIMANDED FOR FIENDISH ACTIONS

COLORED FATHER LOCKS BOY IN CLOSET FOR WEEK; JUDGE CHIDES

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CAMDEN (N. J.) Sept. 25.—After being locked in a closet for a week, 16-year-old Howard Hackett, colored, was released by the police at his home, Seventeenth and Master streets.

The boy's father, William G. Hackett, was arrested and was given a reprimand by Judge Cleary, in Camden Police Court and then released. It is probable the case will be prosecuted by the S.P.C.C.

The release of the boy followed complaints by neighbors that he had been heard crying incessantly during the last week. When he was released it is said he was so weak he could scarcely stand. He told the police he had been locked in the closet and his father had fed him on bread and water every noon. He said he had received no other nourishment.

FAMILY TIES TANGLED BY MUNICH MARRIAGE

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

MUNICH, Sept. 25.—Over their steins of beer Munichers are trying to puzzle this one out. At a village just outside of Munich a man 25 years of age married a widow of 45. The latter's daughter, a girl of 24, has married the 50-year-old father of the young husband. The father has thereby become his sons son-in-law, while the young bride is the mother-in-law of her own mother. The son is married to his step-mother's mother.

CLOVER LEAF IS LUCKY FOR COP

But Fugitive Captured by Means of Four-Petaled Omen is Skeptical

PITMAN (N. J.) Sept. 25. Chief of Police Reeves of Salem, running through a swamp in Elsinboro township in pursuit of David Wentzell, did not stop running when he saw a four-leaf clover lying in his pathway, but he did lean over to pick it up with a graceful swoop as he passed. He stumbled and plunged head first into the high grass, and when he fell on something that groaned suddenly he discovered that it was the man he was hunting. Therefore the Chief knows there is luck in a four-leaf clover, but Wentzell, who escaped from the State Reformatory, does not think so.

Hundreds Killed, Hurled in Pit by Cheka in Georgia

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BERLIN, Sept. 25.—At the beginning of the Red terror in Georgia 475 victims of Cheka executions were thrown into a hole dug on the outskirts of Tiflis. Among this number are believed to have been many hostages, but identification is impossible, since the bodies were covered with quicklime.

This wholesale murder threatens to cause another uprising, so the Cheka is offering excuses. It is said the hostages escaped from prison and fled into the hills, which proved a lie. The Cheka then stated the hostages were shot by mistake. It now says the orders for the execution originated from the central committee in Moscow.

Machine Guns Used by Polish Train Robbers

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

WARSAW, Sept. 25. — Forty armed bandits with several machine guns yesterday held up a train between Brest and Luninec, Eastern Poland. They cowed the passengers after killing one and wounding two, then blew up a bridge behind the train and started the crewless engine toward Luninec, where it stopped, out of steam.

The gang robbed all the passengers.

FAMILY OF LEOPOLD TO GIVE UP MANSION

SECOND GROUP INVOLVED IN TRAGEDY TO SEEK NEW PLACE TO RESIDE

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, Sept. 25.—The Leopold family, the second of the three families tragically involved in the slaying of "Bobbie" Franks to desert palatial homes associated with the crime, will move from its mansion at 4754 Greenwood avenue, to a flat at 5134 Kimbark avenue on October 1, it was learned today.

It is less than a month since Jacob Franks and his wife and daughter moved from their home on Ellis avenue to a north-side hotel, and less than a week since the effects were sold by auction to a curious and memento-loving public.

The new home is a nine-room first floor flat. The location is about a mile from the present home.

When asked regarding the new arrangement, Foreman Leopold, oldest son of the family, said that the old home on Greenwood avenue had not yet been sold.

The Leopold household now consists of Nathan Leopold, Sr., and two sons, Foreman and Samuel.

SPRINGFIELD (Mass.) Sept. 25. The Union Trust Company today reported to the police that $100,000 consigned to it by registered mail was missing. The bank asked the police to seek William J. Hanlin, 45 years of age, employed by the bank as a messenger and guard.

PROMISING POOL OF OIL DISCOVERED

Find in Eddy County, N. M., is Stirring Up Unusual Activity

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

OKLAHOMA CITY (Okla.) Sept. 25.—An oil pool six to eight miles long and three to four miles wide appears to have been identified in Eddy county, N. M., according to local operators returning from Artesia, and activities are spreading over an even wider territory. Eight wells are being drilled near production and seven other drilling contracts are being negotiated. Leases near producing wells sell up to $300 an acre and buyers are there for many of the leading oil concerns of the Middle West and a few from California.

It is estimated that the well of the Picher Oil Company, recently completed on a location four miles north of the discovery well, will make 300 to 500 barrels a day. Four wells are being drilled near this, one by the Picher Company and others by Orcutt and others of Oklahoma City and Amarillo. Two offsets are near the oil sand in the original pool, being drilled by the Illinois Producers' Company. This company is selling oil and gas for drilling purposes, getting $2 a barrel for the oil at the well.

Pipe for eight miles of a twelve-mile pipe line from Artesia to the Illinois Company's wells has been unloaded at Artesia and the remainder of the pipe necessary is being loaded out of Tulsa. The pipe line enterprise and a refinery at Artesia are backed by officials of the Illinois Company. This company's No. 3 well at forty-seven feet in the sand is making about 350 barrels a day from a depth of 1975 feet.

The Illinois Company, which has completed four wells and has many thousands of acres of leases in that territory, is reported to have offered its holdings for sale recently at $35,000,000. The concern offering to buy declined to pay that figure.

SOUTHERN BIRDS TO BE SHOWN IN SCHOOLS

TEXAS TAXIDERMIST HAS FINE COLLECTION FOR CHILDREN'S USE

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN ANTONIO (Tex.) Sept. 25. A. K. Boyles, taxidermist employed by the San Antonio School Board, has mounted a collection of ninety-five southern birds which will constitute a circulating museum for the San Antonio schools this year.

The specimens will be placed in exhibition cases for circulation. The cases will be equipped with natural backgrounds representative of the birds customary environment. The birds are placed in lifelike poses.

Particular attention has been paid by Boyles to the fifteen varieties of birds mounted as typical Texas representatives. This group of birds seldom goes outside the confines of the State, Boyles said, and includes the Sennett Thrasher, Sennet Oriole, Texas Sparrow, Mexican Crested Fly-Catcher, Mexican Crested Tit-Mouse, Texas Night-Hawk, Merrel Parique, Texas Meadow-Lark, Texas Bob-White, Groove-Billed Ani, Sandomingo Gerebe, Sonora Red-Wing, Green-Jay, Great Tailed Grackle, and the Chachalaca.

HIGH MASONIC BODY MEETS IN BIRTHPLACE

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHARLESTON (S. C.) Sept. 25. The Supreme Council, Thirty-third Degree, Ancient and Accepted Scottish Rite of Freemasonry, Southern Jurisdiction, conducted its meeting today in the building at Broad and Church streets, where the Supreme Council was born 122 years ago. The exercises were simple but impressive. Tribute was paid in appropriate addresses to the memory of the men whose faith and enthusiasm laid the foundation of the Scottish Rite order, which today encompasses the world. Capt. John H. Cowles, Thirty-third Degree, Sovereign Grand Commander, presided.

GIANTS VANQUISH PITTSBURG AGAIN AND PUT PIRATES OUT OF RACE

ART NEHF HURLS M'GRAW CREW TO CLOSE VICTORY

Pirate Rally in Ninth Falls One Run Shy; Robins Are Now Giants Only Worry

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Sept. 25.—The New York Giants vanquished Pittsburg for the third successive time today and advanced another step toward their fourth straight pennant on the wreck of the Pirate hopes. A crowd of 25,000 saw the fighting Giant clan batter out a 5-to-4 victory and crush beyond recall the last lingering chance of Pittsburg in the National League race.

The Pirates, however, went down with colors flying in the ninth inning when they rallied with two out and pulled up to within a run of the champions on Carey's home-run drive which scored Schmidt and Moore ahead of him. But Art Nehf, veteran Giant southpaw, who had outpitched his portside rival, Wilbur Cooper, and put his team in the lead with a home run in the fifth, checked the belated rally abruptly by striking out "Kiki" Cuyler, brilliant Pirate outfielder, for the second time.

By making a clean sweep of the series the Giants increased their margin over the Pirates to four and one-half games. Since the champions have only three more games to play they cannot be overhauled by Pittsburg, even if the latter should win all its remaining five games.

Brooklyn is now the only obstacle in the path of McGraw's fight to hang up a record pennant mark for modern baseball history. The Robins were idle today so the champions stretched their margin over Robinson's crew to one and one-half games. By winning two out of the remaining three with Philadelphia, McGraw can clinch the flag even if Brooklyn wins its remaining two from Boston.

Pittsburg today made only six hits off the diminutive southpaw, Nehf, until the ninth, and they were scattered in as many innings. Their only run in that span came in the fourth when the Giants' makeshift inner defense cracked momentarily and Traynor, singling with two out, scored on successive errors by Lindstrom and Kelly.

Barnhart, batting for Grimm, opened the ninth with a single. He was forced by Schmidt and Moore popped out, but Moore also reached and then Carey caught one of Nehf's inshoots and lifted it to the upper section of the left-field stands. Score:

PENNANT DOPE AT A GLANCE

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Sept. 25.—The Giants eliminated Pittsburg from the National League race today and now need to win only two of their three remaining games with Philadelphia to clinch the pennant.

There were no games scheduled in the American League where Washington maintains a two-game lead over the Yankees and to clinch the pennant need to win three of their final four with Boston even if New York cleans up its four with the fast traveling Athletics.

Brooklyn did not play today and the Giants increased their lead to one and one-half contests over the Robins who, even by taking their two remaining games with Boston can win the flag only if the Giants lost their three with the Phillies. McGraw's team can tie Brooklyn by wihning one of the three.

EPINARD TO RUN IN CLASSIC AT LATONIA

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

LATONIA (Ky.) Sept. 25.—Announcement that Epinard, French champion 4-year-old, would arrive at Latonia next Wednesday, was hailed with delight by local race goers, who are anxious to see the Werther'mer colt under colors before the running of the third international special, on October 11. August Belmont sent word that he was shipping his horses next Tuesday and that Epinard would be on the same train.

General Manager Matt Winn of the Kentucky Jockey Club, has arranged to give the winner of the final international a gold cup. The purse will amount to $68,250, of which $58,250 will go to the winner, $6000 to the second, $2000 to the third and $1000 to the fourth horse.

My Dear Mr. Ayers:

It may be of some interest to you to know it has been just two years ago this date since I purchased a Buick Coupe, 22-5-48, from your firm through the kind and honest salesmanship of your Mr. Smith.

In recommending the Buick Car I feel I cannot say too much. In two years I have driven our car a little more than 24,000 miles and not one cent have I spent for repairs or overhauling in any way; even the tires you sold me with the car are still going.

When you sold the car to me you guaranteed it to be in perfect condition; surely it was all of that and more. This is my fifth Buick and the greatest of them all.

In closing I wish to send my most sincere regards and best wishes to your Mr. Smith as I think he is the most honest and gentlemanly salesman I ever knew, and wishing the firm of Henry B. Ayers the very best of success, I am,

Von Elm Meets Max Marston Today in National Golf Tourney

TOUGH HOMBRES

Sammy Mandell, above, and Frankie Burns, who match speed and swap punches in the main event of the Hollywood Legion smoker tonight.

Mandell Meets Frankie Burns at Hollywood

Fresh from a victory over Billy Wallace at Oakland, Sammy Mandell arrived in Los Angeles this morning to fulfill his engagement at the Hollywood American Legion Stadium tonight when he meets Oakland Frankie Burns in the main event of a great boxing show.

This is the last performance of good-looking Sammy at the Movie City arena as he is moving east shortly to resume action on the big time. The clever boy from Rockford, Ill., has more than made good since he came here three weeks ago. Tonight he is meeting the smartest boxer he will encounter during his Coast tour. Frankie Burns knows just as much as Mandell, but will not be quite as fast on his feet.

The way Mandell boxes will help Burns rather than hurt him. The easterner carries the battle to his opponents, so Oakland Frankie will just have to be smart enough to watch the lightning left hand that Mandell will keep shooting at him.

MUCH INTEREST

The bout has created plenty of interest in Hollywood. There will be the usual big crowd on hand to give both boys a good reception as both are very popular with Hollywood boxing fans.

The semi-wind-up brings together Eddie Diggins and Eddie White, two San Francisco boys. This is a good bout and could be a main event at many places, but it is just a semi-wind-up tonight. White is a good rugged fellow who is not as clever as Diggins, but he is always crowding his opponents instead of trying to box. This is the way he holds his own with boys of the Diggins type.

Sammy Santos may be able to get a decisive win over Jack Griff if he even connects with the Griff chin. The harbor boy has a great reputation for a healthy kick in his right hand. He has beaten some very good boys and had them on the floor at least once during the bout. Larry Murphy is one of Santos's victims.

SHOW IS FAST

The entire show is going to be fast as the battlers are all fast boys. There isn't a bout on the card calling for bigger boys than lightweights.

Other bouts:

Sammy Goode vs. Young Bello, 130 pounds.
Ray Schaner vs. Kid Finee, 115 pounds.
Freddy Ellis vs. Eddie Savage, 135 pounds.
Johnny Drexel vs. Harry Foley, 128 pounds.

CITRUS BELT ELEVENS GET IN ACTION TODAY

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

REDLANDS, Sept. 25.—The football season is to be cracked open in the Citrus Belt League tomorrow and practically all of the teams have first season practice games.

Redlands is to tangle with Colton High School here tomorrow afternoon in the first game of the season. Coach Malcolm Smith is building a team around four veterans. It will be light but fast, and fans will be interested in seeing how it works.

San Bernardino High, who won the league championship last year, will play Citrus Union on their own grounds.

Chaffey's dark-horse team, built around one veteran, the captain, will meet Orange at Orange.

Pomona High, with a veteran and a capable team, will take on Santa Ana at home. Ed Covington, coach at Santa Ana, is reputed to have a real team.

LEWIS AND MONDT DRAW

World's Champion and Colorado Cowboy Put on Great Show at Philharmonic, Each Winning a Fall

BY BRAVEN DYER

Ed "Strangler" Lewis, heavyweight champion of the world, and Joe "Toots" Mondt, who seems likely to be the next titleholder, wrestled two hours to a draw before a great crowd at the Philharmonic Auditorium last night. It was the first time in many months that Lewis has not won a straight decision over one of his many rivals.

It was a whale of a show and the crowd left the theater with its corpuscles tingling as a result of the great rally staged by Mondt after losing the first fall to the champion. Lou Daro was right there with another pulse-quickening program and everybody appeared highly satisfied. Lewis seemed well on the road to victory after copping the first fall in a little better than an hour, but Mondt made a game finish and tied the titleholder in a knot with his jackknife scissors. The final ten minutes found both men trying hard for a fall, without success.

The first fall came after one hour and ten minutes of high-class grappling and it was spectacular in the extremhe. Mondt had Lewis on the floor for five minutes, using a wrist lock and a head scissors. The champion was in a bad way, made a lot of terrible faces and in other ways showed that he wasn't actually enjoying his predicament. Mondt appeared to be on the verge of a fall himself, but then the tables turned quickly, and Lewis put over the big flop.

Coming out of Mondt's tight hold, the title-holder gave his rival the well-known rush, being on the cowboy with all the speed and ferociousness of a wild tiger. Before "Toots" could protect himself he was caught in one of Ed's deadly headlocks. Over Lewis's head he went, hitting the floor with a resounding smack. Mondt was done then and there. One of his legs—the right one—was curled up under him as he fell and the cowboy didn't even have steam enough to kick it out straight. Lewis just flopped on him and Referee Don McDonald tapped the champion on the back.

Mondt came out for the second set-to full of fight. He rushed the champion all over the ring and had the fans howling their heads off with his great offensive tactics. The cowboy had made seven ineffectual attempts to apply his famous jack-knife scissors, but it was not until after thirty minutes of wrestling in the second session that he was successful.

Lewis squirmed and twisted but the hold stuck like glue. They were near the edge of the mat and Lewis, following frantic instructions from Sandow, made several lunges in an effort to pull himself under the ropes. Some of Mondt's admirers, seated at the ringside, pulled the ropes out and Sandow nearly yelled his head off trying to make McDonald put a stop to their tactics. Finally, with a desperate lunge, Lewis worked himself loose from the hold.

Mondt, however, was on him with all the strength of his splendid young body and again Lewis was subjected to the blood-stopping hold. This time it held and after thirty-seven minutes Mondt was tapped on the back amidst such clamoring as the ancient Philharmonic Auditorium has not heard in many years. Sandow rushed Lewis to his dressing room, while Mondt was nearly mobbed by his supporters.

The preliminaries had the fans all excited, the match between Frank La Marr and Pat McGill being nothing short of wonderful. Pat won after twenty-four minutes, but had a tough time turning the trick. They went 'round and 'round, with McGill having the advantage because of his superior weight — he was twenty pounds heavier — but La Marr gave the fans their money's worth by his spectacular work in getting out of countless tight places. Both men spent half their time rolling through the ropes, either coming or going and the bugs went wild over their act. McGill showed the best form he has exhibited here, applying many trick holds and conducting himself like a champion. La Marr lost none of his popularity by dropping the bout.

Dick Daviscourt, veteran mat man, was too smart and too strong for Ray Steele, the Iowa star. Ray tried hard and made things interesting while he lasted. It was a foregone conclusion that Daviscourt, with his superior weight, would win and there was little surprise manifested when he got the only fall in thirteen minutes with an arm lock and a body hold.

It was announced by Billow Sandow, the champion's manager, after the bout, that he and Lewis will leave tomorrow for Seattle and Vancouver, B. C. Lewis is to defend his title in several matches in the great Northwest, where men are men and wrestlers are just the same as anyplace else.

OBSERVATIONS

BY THE INNOCENT BYSTANDER
BILL HENRY

One of the best indications of a great football season is the fact that the coaches are all saying that they think they have a good chance and then saying nothing else. When a coach begins to explain anything to the newspapers it's a pretty fair bet that he's trying to kid somebody. When he says that he thinks he has a fair chance and then spends all his time sawing wood there is every indication that he's trying to make good on his prediction. So far every coach in California seems to think that he has a chance to make a creditable showing.

U.S.C. certainly looks like a tough team this year—as usual. The Trojans have always been hard to beat, as their enviable record shows, and this year they ought to be a little tougher than usual. They are always wonderful on the defensive, and their only weakness—if it can be called that—has been a rather spasmodic offense. This year the Trojans ought to be the sensation of the Coast conference, if experienced material counts for anything.

Stanford has more veterans than either U.S.C. or California. Both the Cards and the Bears are laying low and saying nothing at all. If anybody thinks the California Bears are going to be soft picking for the rest of the teams on the Coast, they'd better not back up their thoughts with their money. Smith has a bunch of big, fast players. Stanford's aggregation will have a lot of confidence, with a heavy team of veterans and Glen Warner as coach.

In the Southern California Conference there is all kinds of ginger and enthusiasm. Pomona, which shared championship honors with the Caltech Engineers last year, has practically a full team of veterans. Nixon is a shrewd, thorough coach. Stanton at Caltech has lost a lot of veterans, but still has splendid material.

Whittier probably has more veteran material than any team in the conference, and ought to have a great year. Occidental has plenty of good material, but a completely renovated coaching staff which may or may not get things going its first season. Redlands has plenty of good men from last season, and several new redskin athletes from the wilds of Oklahoma. It should be a big year in the Southern California Conference.

Public interest has never been as high in football as it is this year, and it is a cinch that U.S.C. will draw more spectators by far than ever before in history. The Trojan games with Stanford and Syracuse are almost certain to fill the Coliseum, while it is very doubtful if they will play to less than 20,000 spectators at any game. Half a dozen years ago they didn't have that many spectators during the entire season.

There will be a lot of people who will plan to spend every Saturday afternoon from now until December 8 in the big concrete basin at Exposition Park. On the few occasions on which the Trojans will be missing there will be other attractions of considerable interest. The game between the powerful Santa Clara eleven and Occidental College seems certain to draw well, and there is some possibility of transferring the game between Pomona and Occidental from Patterson Field to the Coliseum on Thanksgiving Day.

The Coliseum is going to be the making of football in Southern California for a number of reasons. It gives the public a chance to see without being crowded, and that's a decided innovation. The Coliseum management keeps the prices down and the enthusiasm up. Games such as the U.S.C.-Stanford brawl will cost something like two bucks per head, while the Stanford-California game calls for $5 a seat. Plenty of big high school games which drew 17,000 spectators last year were seen for two bits and four bits a throw. That is certain to popularize the game.

If we don't have a bigger and better football season this year it won't be because there isn't plenty of enthusiasm in the air before the curtain goes up. It will not be in the least surprising to see a crowd of 20,000 to watch the Trojans make their initial bow against the Caltech Engineers tomorrow, and it is doubtful of the attendance will fall below that mark at any of the ensuing games. The fans are rarin' to go.

A BUSY DAY FOR GEORGE

RENAULT-WILLS NEXT?

BY HARRY NEWMAN
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Sept. 25.—They are trying to rib up at match between Harry Wills and Jack Renault. We understand Leo P. Flynn, manager of Renault, has announced the Canadian was ready to fight Wills at any time or place. Even went so far, as we get it, to remark that Jack would fight the colored giant for the fun of it.

Paddy Mullins, who proved his wisdom as a manager by steering Wills into a $150,000 purse for a bout with Luis Firpo, is usually a silent man, but he rose up and answered Renault's mentor, today.

"So Flynn says Wills is sidestepping Renault, does he?" rumbled Paddy. "Just because we did not hop after the match at one of the baseball parks the middle of next month, Leo is trying to make it appear that Harry is afraid of Renault.

"Now wouldn't we have been foolish to sign for a match with Renault in the middle of October? Why, it's not yet the end of September and already it is so cold at night that any attempt to stage an outdoor show is folly. A Wills-Renault match is a big attraction and Harry and I have no intention of having it spoiled by offering it to the public some wintry night when only Eskimos would have a chance on attending."

There are rumors that Gene Tunney and his manager, Billy Gibson, are to sever relations when their contract expires. Gene contends Billy isn't booking him properly.

Joey Silvers, Brooklyn junior lightweight, has drawn a tough assignment, a twelve-round affair with Lew Paluso, the Salt Lake battler, to be held in Madison Square Garden on October 3 as the semifinal to the Slattery and Delaney bout.

Spectacular Golf Matches Are Anticipated

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

MERION CRICKET CLUB, ARDMORE (Pa.) Sept. 25.—The turmoil is now on in deadly earnest. The roar of the big guns is at hand with the heavy thunder that comes in the clash of giants.

From the long and almost endless line that started for the golf crown on Saturday only four are left to carry on with the crash of wood and the flash of shining blades. These four are George Von Elm, the grim and determined battler from Los Angeles; Bobby Jones, the brilliant Georgian; Francis Ouimet, the Boston nonpareil, and Max Marston of Philadelphia, the defending champion.

They come together from south, east and west in semifinal war to cut away two more contenders before the final pair start away on Saturday upon the championship march. In this semifinal joust over Merion's carpet of green velvet, Bobby Jones exchanges thrusts with Francis Ouimet, while Max Marston levels his lance at the determined charge of George Von Elm. These two matches will be worth a long day's journey. They will be followed by two tremendous galleries, rearing and tearing up and down hill and slope, throbbing with the old excitement of hand-to-hand contest where a championship is at stake. They should be two great matches, fought to the finish with little margin either way.

REAL HONOR

If Von Elm goes no farther he will have achieved the honor of being the first player from the Far West to get as far in the national classic.

George has played good enough golf to appear a formidable opponent for Marston, who carries the double burden of defending his title and playing in his home town.

Von Elm faces the greatest test of his career and the only question is: Can he stand the gaff?

In the games today Bobby Jones defeated Rudy Knepper, Chicago, 6 and 4, and Francis Ouimet downed Jess Guilford, his rival in Boston for years, 4 and 3. Then, late in the balmy afternoon, Marston, after the most strenuous bat-

Four Complete Teams Ready to Take Field

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WHITTIER, Sept. 25.—The Whittier College footballers are heating up the gridiron on Hadley Field these nights in an effort to tender the U.S.S. Idaho eleven a warm welcome when they meet Saturday.

Four full teams are scorching the tanbark nightly and some fifty candidates are playfully bending each other's bones, all of which presents Coaches Perry and Wilson with a new problem in the annals of Whittier College football, namely selecting one man out of four applicants for each assignment. Heretofore the Poet mentors took the goods on hand and had to like it. They now claim that substitutes will promptly be made on such slight provocation as a broken leg or cranial concussion.

The Poet aerial attack will be watched with especial interest this year with Coach Russell Wilson, a well-known exponent of the open game, drilling the squad on the overhead style. Head Coach Eesk Perry will devote most of his time to the line.

The encounter with the Middies should give the Poets a good workout as it was this team that captured the Pacific Fleet championship last season, and they report a faster team will represent them this year.

MANY SIGN FOR CROWN CITY SWIM

Pacific Indoor and Outdoor Championships to Draw Stars

With club rivalry rather than individual competition at stake, the Pacific Coast indoor swimming and diving championships, to be held at Brookside Park, October 1, looms as the biggest swimming event of the year. The meet is under the auspices of the Pasadena Athletic and Country Club and all the best swimming clubs and associations on the Coast are sending the cream of their members to bring home the silver cups and medals.

The usual amount of north versus south rivalry is on hand, but, because many Olympic Club stars are in college at present, the San Francisco club stands to lose a lot of its laurels. In fact, the big battles will be between the Los Angeles Athletic Club and the Venice Swimming Association. With Duke Kahanamoku and the usual number of Mercury paddlers on hand, the L.A.A.C. seems to have a slight edge, but Phil Daubenspeck, Reggie Harrison, Wally O'Connor and Wolfe of Venice are fast enough to figure in the best of competition.

More women than men are journeying down from the frigid north. Lillian Fergus, Adrian Gibson and Brownie Marsh of the Neptune Club are all Pacific Coast champions. Eleanor Garratti of San Rafael, Florence Priesenhausen and Francis Roth of Athens complete the list of northerners. Despite these girls being champions, the star masculine performers will be missed.

San Diego is sending its usual quota of stars. Alice Howard, Margaret Isaacson, Kay David and Ella Buss are the entries from the extreme south.

EASTMAN VICTOR IN HOLLY SQUASH BATTLE

George L. Eastman, athletic manager at the Hollywood Athletic Club, defeated E. A. Hartwell, champion squash player, in straight sets, 21-13, 21-5. The defeat came as a surprise to the many club members who attended, since Hartwell had been bowling over all the Hollywood boys with great gusto in the last month. Eastman was master of the whole situation yesterday, but was given a terrific battle, nevertheless,

FARMERS OUT FOR BLOOD

Meet Title Insurance Nine in Grudge Battle on County Diamond Tomorrow

Despite the fact that Montebello and the Pasadena Eagles play their final game for the championship of the Greater Association Sunday, no interest has been detracted from the four semipro games to be staged on various fields tomorrow. Eight of the classiest teams in the association are scheduled to meet and the games are causing a lot of excitement.

Seeking revenge for a defeat several weeks ago that brought to an abrupt finish their long string of victories, the Los Angeles County Farm meets the Title Insurance nine on their own field tomorrow. The Insurance boys went into action against the Farmers three weeks ago, with heavy odds against them, but they emerged with an apparently easy win. The defeat was the first suffered by the Farmers for three months and so they're out for blood tomorrow.

The Christie Jewelry and Sawtelle teams should play a good game at Sawtelle, also. The Jewelers are a fair outfit and the Old Soldiers are good enough to make things hot for any man's club. The Hobbs Battery nine, after a several weeks layoff, is back on the job against the Oil Well Supply nine and the York Construction team meets the Kahn Beck aggregation at Exposition Park. The schedule:

TOMORROW

Title Insurance at L. A. County Farm at Downey.
York California Con. Co. vs. Kahn Beck at Exposition No. 1.
Oil Well Supply Co. vs. Hobbs Battery.
Hollywood Christie Jewelry Co. vs. Sawtelle at Soldiers' Home.

SUNDAY

CHAMPIONSHIP GAMES

Pasadena Eagles vs. Montebello Merchants at Belvedere Gardens, 2:30.
Santa Ana Com. Co. at Irvine.
Palomar at Huntington Park.
Sherry Flour Co. vs. Three Star.
Manchester Heights at Compton.
Tacoma Boys at Pico Town.
Belvedere Gardens vs. Crown Cliff at Brookside Park.
Hollywood Christie Jewelry Co. vs. Watts C. of C. at Watts.
L. A. Cubs vs. George's Orioles at Rose Snyder No. 1.
L. A. Kiss No. 1 at Monterey Park.
Alhambra at Arcadia.
Venice at Garden Grove.
Larry's Stars vs. Fraternal Brotherhood at Rose Snyder.
Mortizer Company vs. Williams' Cubs at Hazard.
Montebello Cubs vs. Larry's Stars at Montebello, 10 a.m.

BERGERE GETS NEW MOUNT

To Pilot Deusenberg in Night Race at Ascot Park Tomorrow Night; Doyle Named Starter

A new Deusenberg racing car, a near-mate to the machine which "Red" Shafer drove to sensational victory over the one-mile dirt track at Syracuse ten days ago, is to be the mount of Cliff Bergere, "Houdini of the Speedways," when he lines up before Starter "Babe" Doyle at Ascot next Saturday night.

For the past few months Bergere has been tooling a board-track Duesenberg with a long wheel base, not properly balanced for Ascot or any other than the large board speedways. The Hollywood lad's successful handling of the car has been the talk of the racing fraternity, and while Cliff has performed more tail spins and whirl-arounds at Ascot than any other pilot, his ability to keep the big car upright has stamped him as a master of the racing profession.

"Babe" Doyle, ex-football hero, had charge of the practice period at Ascot yesterday afternoon, following his being named official starter for the speedway. Doyle functioned perfectly and won congratulations from the drivers who enlivened the afternoon's proceedings.

Jack Bullock, pilot of Jimmy Roache's Miller, reeled off many fast laps, closely pursued by Frank Lockhart, Eddie Meyer, Floyd Roberts, "Pop" Evans, the "masked marvel," Johnny Vickers and Wes Crawford at the wheel of Dr. Harry Clinton's racing car. Crawford will make his initial appearance at Ascot on Saturday night, coming from Terre Haute, Ind., a protege of the late "Howdy" Wilcox of Indianapolis.

Leon Duray did not show up to work in the new cylinder block which he fitted to his Miller supercharger, as was reported from the Miller plant earlier in the day. Rumor had it later in the afternoon that Durary, piqued at having his famous car declared oversized, even after his new block was fitted, had gone back to the original motor, with which he defeated Ralph de Palma, and will make no effort to qualify for the Victory Crown race, confining his efforts to grabbing the rich prize in the fifteen-lap Evening Star sweepstakes, which he will drive from scratch with a big field getting a start on him.

GOWDY STAR OF GIANT WIN

Old Hank, Vet of Fourteen Major League Campaigns, Still as Full of Pep as Rookie

BY PAUL GALLICO

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Sept. 25.—To the real baseball fan, the sight of a real honest-to-goodness ball player in action is a poem. Today the Giants licked the Pirates in another "crucial" ball game at the Polo Grounds. There were home runs, thrilling catches and tense moments galore. And yet to us, the biggest person on the ball field was Henry L. Gowdy, Giant catcher, veteran of fourteen major-league campaigns.

Old Hank was a regular epic.

Not that he personally won the ball game, but he did dominate that infield, did make Art Nehf pitch, and fighting spirit fairly flamed from his war-worn body. Gowdy's catching was a masterpiece. Gowdy reminds us of an eagle. His sharp face surmounting a lean body is ever peering about the field, alert, on the watch, his head working easily on his shoulders as he follows the ball keenly and inevitably.

Gowdy's handling of Nehf today was masterful catching psychology. He nursed him along the way a wise trainer does a colt that is apt to break into a gallop at any moment, easily and with assurance, but tightening the reins every now and then. He coaxed, cajoled, praised, gently reproached and continually encouraged his hurling charge. As the game wore on—and the Pirates put men on bases in every inning but the seventh—Old Hank pumped Arthur plumb full of the kind of confidence he needed.

Nehf worked himself out of a bad hole in the sixth, after there were two on and nobody out. Gowdy ran out after the last putout and clapped his hands in seeming boyish enthusiasm as Nehf walked off the field. He was applauding his pitcher.

Hank loves to play ball. He goes at it with an enormous amount of zest and relish. When he steps to bat he is as eager as a race horse, his eyes shine with anticipation. Grinning determinedly, his very attitude challenges—bring on that ball.

He seems always to have a kindly word for the umpire, for his teammates and for the players on opposing teams, who invariably seem to like him.

Two pictures of Gowdy stood out. Seventh inning: Kelly dropped a Texas leaguer in short right. Pep Young was on second with what proved to be the winning run. In all the pandemonium of shouting, flying dust and scampering figures we can see the lanky Hank jumping up and down like a jumping jack, behind the plate, waving his long arms, summoning young home with that run. Summoned? He fairly pulled Young in by sheer force of personality.

And then, the final inning. "Scoops" Carey had cleared two bases with a home run. Another run would tie the score. "Kiki" Cuyler was up. Nehf and Gowdy worked carefully on him. The count, 3 and 2. Then strike three zoomed by and—a picture of Gowdy, his mask off, his figure erect, on tip toe, squeezing the ball hold high in air as he beamed in triumph at John McGraw, a flaming torch of victory.

GILMORE NINE IN GAME WITH SHELL

With the Independent League championship at stake and a lot of rivalry between the teams, the Shell and Gilmore baseball nines meet at Shell Oil Park Sunday. After seventeen innings had passed in the last game, the Gilmore team got three hits and one run to win by a 3-to-1 score. In Sunday's game the triple-umpire system, as used in the major leagues, will be in practice. Neither team has announced its batteries, but Rossi will undoubtedly be on the mound for the Gilmore outfit.

Cadet Edgar W. Garbish of West Point has held five captaincies during his career as an athlete in high school, college and the military college. He is a leader in tennis and football squads.

ANGELS CLIMB UP TO FOURTH

Krugmen Beat Out Portland in 3-to-2 Tilt

Bedient Wild Pitches Home Winning Marker

Dumovich's Relief Hurling Features Game

BY ROBERT E. RAY

It took the Angels thirteen innings to make it three straight wins over Portland, but in the thirteenth Marty Krug's mates did so with a painless ending. The score was 3 to 2. As a result of the victory the Angels bobbed up even with the .500 mark and are now parking in undisputed possession of fourth place.

Hugh Bedient, who was twirling winning ball for the Boston Red Sox when that outfit was winning world series, pitched for the Ducks and did so with much eclat until the thirteenth. It was also Mr. Bedient who provided the anesthetic in the form of two wild pitches that allowed Jim McAuley to come home from second in the thirteenth and make the painless finish possible.

For eight innings Bedient held the Seraphs to three hits and one run and went into the ninth with a one-run margin, but in the ninth the Angels managed to score a tying counter and force the athletes into extra innings.

THE FINISH

Then in the thirteenth, after Krug had popped to Distel, McAuley smashed a hit to right and went to second on Dumovich's infield out. With Whaley up Bedient cut loose with his first wild pitch, McAuley dashing to third. Whaley walked and it was up to Beck, who gathered a double and a triple during the afternoon and was the only athlete to register two hits, to provide the punch to end the struggle. Whaley stole second and then Bedient saved Beck the trouble of hitting by making another wild pitch which allowed McAuley to trot home with the run that the boys played thirteen innings to get.

Doc Crandall started for the Seraphs and the jinx that has been hovering over him lately was right on the job. It seems that Doc's mates can get but one run a game for him while Doc generally allows his opponents two markers. Both teams played true to form, the Angels getting one run and the Beavers two in the eight innings Crandall toiled. Cruise batted for Crandall in the last half of the eighth, so Dumovich hurled the last five frames. Nick did what might be called a neat job, not allowing the Ducks a hit and letting them hit but two balls out of the infield in the five innings he left-handed. Umpire Joe Becker got Dumovich into a couple of tight holes by calling balls what looked to be strikes, but Nick was equal to the occasion and southpawed his way out of difficulty on all emergencies.

The visitors got two hits in the opening inning, but only three batters faced Crandall in this frame, and Doc blanked the Ducks. Welfer, who opened with a single, was out stealing after McCann had flied to Hood, while Cox was the third out when he tried to stretch his drive against the fence from a single to a double. Hood took the ball on the first hop off the boards and nailed Cox at second with a perfect peg to McAuley.

With one away in the fourth, Clyde Beck attempted to make the Seraphs score by smacking a triple down the right-field line, but neither Durst nor Grimes could bring Beck home, both being thrown out by Brazill.

POOLE HOMES

Poole accounted for the initial marker of the tussle in the fifth when he lifted one of Crandall's offerings into the right-field stands for the circuit. It was Poole's second homer in two days, and was his thirty-second of the season.

Los Angeles put over a tying run in the seventh when Beck doubled to center, took third after High caught Durst's long fly, and scored on "Bummer" Grimes's single to right.

But the Beavers came right back in the eighth and hits by Brazill, Distel and Bedient gave them a run and put them in front once more.

Bill Whaley opened the Angel ninth with a two-base smack to left and Beck sacrificed Bill to third. Durst singled to left and Whaley was in with the tying counter. After that the athletes battled on far into the night, until Bedient uncorked his two wild pitches to cease hostilities.

Leverenz is due to work for the Brazilians today, while Ramsey or Hughes will twirl for the Seraphs. The score:

OUIMET FACES BOBBY JONES

tle of the day, extinguished Chicago's last hope by defeating Dexter Cummings, 2 and 1, while Von Elm romped home an easy winner from Eddie Driggs, Jr., of New York, famous in Princeton football history, who was downed, 7 and 6.

Bobby Jones seems to be improving as the tournament rages, and to be surviving "inspirational" golf by opponents. He had D. Clarke Cerkran, the medal winner, practically eliminated yesterday when Corkran started a futile belated battle. Today Rudy Knepper, three down after his morning round with Jones, started after his famed opponent right from the afternoon gun.

Knepper shot the first five holes of the afternoon in two under par by means of two birdies, and then was only one hole behind.

The putter that enabled him to win the play-off in the qualifying round was working again after failing him in the morning. Knepper did the amazing thing of holing out on the first five afternoon holes by one putt on each green. Then he relapsed and Jones, by shooting to the afternoon turn in 35, one under par, had his opponent four down.

Wildness with wood and long irons then proved Knepper's undoing, and the match ended shortly after he drove out of bounds from the thirty-second tee.

Francis Ouimet, Jesse Guilford and their Boston rooters disliked immensely the draw that put them in the same half, and the wags in the gallery wondered whether they would toss up a dime to decide their match.

They hate so much to defeat each other that they both putted poorly in contrast to their usual brilliancy in this department.

Weakness with a putter was Cummings's undoing. His drives were as long as the champion's. Invariably his approaches were within Marston's, but with equal regularity he missed putts for wins or halves. Five down at the ninth, the Chicago boy shot par golf for seven of the second nine holes, going to lunch three down.

The breaks in the afternoon fell to Marston. His second on the twentieth hole sliced out of bounds but hit a tree and returned to the fairway. He then got a thirty-foot putt for a birdie four. Cummings captured the twenty-fourth hole with a birdie three, and Marston made it three up again with a birdie on the twenty-sixth.

With Cummings one down each took two shots to get on the short thirty-fifth. Failing to sink a long putt, Cummings conceded the hole and the match. Later Marston decided that he could not have sunk the putt he would have needed for a par, and requested that the hole be halved, making the score 2 and 1.

George Von Elm, who has become one of the favorites of the gallery because of his good medal scores, did not do quite so well today, but he did not need to. By shooting 76 in the morning, only one stroke worse than the best medal of the day, made by Marston and Jones, the westerner had Eddie Driggs six down when they went to lunch. Driggs was wild from the tee and through the green. He turned himself in the afternoon and by a succession of par fours cut Von Elm's lead to four holes at the turn. Then Von Elm proceeded to win three holes in a row, mostly with his putter, for the match.

Trojans and Engineers Set for Grid Clash

RIVAL ELEVENS COMPLETE WORK

Expect Trojans to Annex Opening Game

Aerial Attack to Figure on Both Teams

Preliminary Tilt Between Frosh and Preps

Elmer Henderson and W. Leighton Stanton, who have the cares and worries of the University of Southern California and California Institute of Technology football squads on their respective minds, went to bed last night with the knowledge that their proteges must learn little more before tomorrow's encounter at the Coliseum. Both mentors sent their charges through final scrimmage workouts and whatever the athletes learn between now and the game will not come via the personal-encounter route on the gridiron.

Tomorrow's battle will officially be the local season. Even though there seems to be no doubt in anybody's mind as to which team will win it ought to be an interesting game to watch. The Trojans have been practicing avidly on a splendid aerial attack, which is probably a very good indication that they won't throw any passes tomorrow. However, everybody wants to know what Henderson can do in the way of offensive stuff and, inasmuch as the Engineers are none too strong in the line, the general public will undoubtedly see quite a few touchdowns.

WILL BE FUNNY

The Trojan mentor has not and probably will not give out any starting line-up. It will be funny if he doesn't use all of thirty men in the game. However, it is believed that Dysart and Fleithman will start at the ends, Norm Anderson and Bud Thomas in the tackle berths, Hal Gerrell and Al Behrendt at guards and either Jeff Cravath or Ralph Newman at center. Capt. Jimmy Hawkins is to warble signals with Johnny Riddle at full. Newman is to be the line Honey with a revamped guard, and Manuel Lannetta, the 1923 frosh star, will take care of the halfback assignment. Frenchy LeFebvre, who played a couple of bunged-up games early in the week, probably will not get into the game for any length of time.

Coach Stanton has announced a starting line-up, but may change it before the game. He has intimated that he will not, start Capt. Ralph Alderman, Mike Brunner and Doyle Foster, three veterans of last year, because they had only one week of work. Foster may have to open the game for the sole reason that there will be no one to use.

GREEN MEN

Coach Ellstich mentor's line will consist of Newcomb and Helms as tackles, Powers and Seymour at guards, Guards are Kinsey and Hastings. The former was a regular two years ago, while Seymour played tackle last year. The backfield will be the only veteran in the backfield. He will play with Foster at quarter and Hastings and Stanton—the Fox's halfbacks. The junior varsity will call signals. He tosses a pass with either hand. There will be a preliminary game between the U.S.C. frosh and Glendale.

PERSON TO LEAD TROJAN TRACK TEAM

At a meeting today of the Varsity Club of the University of Southern California Otto Anderson was elected captain of the 1925 track team.

Anderson came into prominence as a tackler at the local university last year, he played football, also proving his versatility as a basketball player. While he did not do anything spectacular in his special events last year, he is expected to be a whiz in the coming track season.

LOYOLA IN FIRST TILT TOMORROW

Face Christian College Men in Opening Grid Skirmish of the Year

Loyola and Christian colleges will tangle in their first grid game of the season on the former's gridiron tomorrow afternoon.

The Lions are confident of duplicating last year's easy victory over the Christians, although the team will be severely handicapped with "Beene" Currin missing at half and Jimmy Tunney at full due to injuries received during the week in scrimmage.

Very little is known about the strength of the Christian aggregation and they may uncork a grand surprise upon the unsuspecting Lions.

During the week, the proteges of Hess have been scrimmaging with Poly and the Loyola Preps. Brown, dusky half from the Sherman Indians, has shown up to great advantage, continually plowing his way through the opposition for yards. The team on a whole has displayed plenty of class, although in places it is weak. However, Hess hopes to iron these wrinkles out in time for tomorrow's fracas.

Indian Boots Allow Seals to Win Title

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 25.—San Francisco won the third game of the series with Seattle here today, 7 to 3, with three Seattle errors accounting for four of the local's runs. The Seals clinched the victory in the eighth when they hit Sutherland for four hits, scoring three runs.

Brady knocked a homer in the third inning with one man on. The Seal's victory gave them a two-and-one-half-game lead over the Indians. Seattle must now take the remaining four games of the series to return home in first place. The score:

PHILS BEAT CARDS

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 25.—The Phillies closed their home season today by defeating St. Louis, 8 to 3. The visitors knocked Oeschger out of the box in the first inning, but were helpless against the hurling of Betts, who held them to four hits during the balance of the contest, and twice fanned the mighty Hornsby. Shields held the Phillies in check until the eighth inning, when Leach started a rally by lifting a homer out of the park. Two more runs crossed the plate before Pitchers Stuart and Fowler could retire the side. The score:

HOLLY MERCHANTS IN GAME WITH GIANTS

Floyd Carleton's Hollywood Merchants have some dark prospects ahead of them Sunday. The Merchants take on the Colored Giants at Allan Hancock Park and the game should turn into a terrific battle. The Giants have not lost a game for several months. They have two good pitchers and a tight fielding outfit. The Merchants are fresh from a victory over the championship Glendale White Sox, so can be counted on to make things interesting. If they beat the Giants they are a real ball club.

GOLF GOSSIP

By CHARLES WEST

AN IDEA ON GOLF

The following was clipped from a recent issue of the Living Age by Bob Variel, and is presented for the amusement of an enlightened golfing population:

"The National Review, whose peppery Toryism resembles in England's periodical menu the stimulating condiment that Americans associate with the name of a certain Louisiana parish, thus comments upon the recent international golf contests held in Great Britain:

"'We derive exiguous satisfaction from any triumphs over the Americans or any other invaders on the golf links. Frankly, the Americans are welcome to all our share of the golfing championships. We regard a game at which the players never get out of a walk as unworthy of an athletic nation, and as a miserable exercise for able-bodied men in the prime of youth and health and strength. There are few more depressing spectacles than that of a large crowd of the flower of both sexes watching two Herculean youths lying on a putting green endeavoring to ascertain the easiest means of poking a stationary little ball into a relatively large tin pot. For everybody, who for any reason can't run, golf is an unimpeachable occupation. For responsible statesmen and most newspaper proprietors it is the best, and we always rejoiced when in far-off coalition days we read of the prodigious putting performed at Cannes or elsewhere by Mr. Lloyd George, M. Briand, Lord Riddell and others of that gallant and now deconsidered galaxy of talent.'"

SUNSET CANYON

The regular match play against par sweepstakes, held yesterday at the Sunset Canyon Country Club, brought out the largest field of feminine players ever to compete on the tricky little course, Mrs. A. C. Lillie and Mrs. A. J. Sherer winning the lion's share of the glory. Mrs. Lillie was the victor in Class A, equalling the women's record in scoring 23 points. She had seven pars and a birdie on her first nine holes, an achievement which those familiar with the links can well appreciate. Mrs. E. F. Stanton was second with 21 points.

Class B honors went to Mrs. Sherer with 15 points, while Mrs. Chase Garfield finished one point behind for second place.

HOLLYWOOD

Work is being carried on at a rapid rate on the new grill at the Hollywood Country Club, in hope that the revamped clubhouse will be in readiness to receive Southern California's golfers in the annual invitation tournament next November. In addition to the work on the clubhouse, a new green has been constructed for No. 10 hole.

A notable foursome was played yesterday at Hollywood, including Professional Bill Amor, who scored 76; W. H. Richards, who turned in a card of 77, and George Cornes and J. A. Knudson, each of whom scored 78. On the last nine Richards shot a 34, Amor and Cornes 37 each, and Knudson 38, indicating the type of competition the foursome brought out. The best ball of the four on the second nine was six under par.

Mixed two-ball foursomes have been arranged for Sunday.

FLINTRIDGE

The improvement bee seems to have stirred up Flintridge members, too, a new men's grill now being under construction, adjoining the present grill on the east. The addition will overlook the eighteenth green, a spacious veranda being planned to give an unobstructed view, while under the new arrangement a direct connection with the club kitchen has been effected.

The qualifying round in the President's Cup tournament is in progress at Flintridge at present.

WILSHIRE

Wilshire's golf course is being bisected by the continuation of Beverly Boulevard, work on which is now going on to the accompaniment of much noise and excitement on the part of a couple of steam shovels. However, the highway will not interfere in the least with the Wilshire course. Norman Macbeth having figured on the road being extended when he laid out the links some years ago. Each nine is on a separate side of the road, no driving across the highway being necessary. A tunnel from the ninth green to the tenth tee will do away with the dangerous part of being a pedestrian.

Mr. Macbeth accomplished wonders in designing Wilshire's links. Although the entire property of the club is only 110 acres, only two fairways, the fifth and ninth, are parallel, and the holes offer as much variety as those of any club in the south.

Sid Ellis is receiving congratulations from his fellow-club members on an excellent 74, which he scored on Wilshire's difficult links recently.

ALL STARS WILL PLAY BOYER PILL TOSSERS

One of the best semipro ball games in local circles on tap for tomorrow will be played at Downey Playground, when Ornelas All-Star nine takes on the A. J. Boyer outfit.

The Stars took the measure of the Union Pacific team last Saturday, and showed fine form. Tomorrow they will run up against a mean aggregation and the game should be a corker.

SPEEDY WINTER LOOP LINED UP

Four All-Star Squads Enter Professional League

Pirrone Says Many Stars to Take Part in Games

Colored World Series Club to be Strong Crew

BY JOE BUSH

Plans for a four-club all-professional winter league have been completed and Los Angeles will be provided with the best off-season baseball obtainable this winter, according to an announcement made yesterday by Joe Pirrone, who, with Charley Meyers, attended to the organizing of the new loop.

Four teams, the White King Soaps, Chadbourne's Tigers, the Eastern Colored Giants and Pirrone's All-Stars will be members of the new league.

The fourth club to join the loop was the Eastern Colored Giants, who yesterday wired Pirrone that they would arrive here after they had completed the colored world series which will be played by the Philadelphia Hilldales and the Kansas City Monarchs.

The Monarchs won the colored title in the Middle West, while the Hilldales captured honors in the East. The colored world series starts October 5 at Philadelphia, where the teams will play two games. The next two contests will take place at Chicago, while the other four will be played in Kansas City.

Members from both championship teams will be on the club coming here. Mackey, Carr, Warfield and Curry are the members of the Philadelphia club to come west, while Hawkins, "Home Run" Moore, Duncan, Rogan, McNair and Mendez are the Kansas City men to be on the all-star colored squad.

Pirrone announces that he has signed up several Coast and other class AA stars. Jess Doyle, the former Vernon pitcher whom Toronto sold to the big leagues this season, will do the hurling for Pirrone.

Meyers says that "Buzz" Arlett, Walter Mails, Dee Crandall and Dick Cox have already agreed to play on the White King Soap club and that other stars are being signed. Chet Chadbourne will round out the league with another strong outfit. Opening games will be played next month.

LONG BEACH PRIDE WINS C.P.O. EVENT

Buck Curtis Too Much for Butte Battler; Burmay in Draw for Semi-Wind-up

Buck Curtis, the pride of Long Beach, gained a technical knockout over Buster Brandon of Butte in the main event at the C.P.O. punch show last night at Los Angeles Harbor. The Long Beach flash proved too shifty and strong for the Butte battler. By the end of the third round Brandon had taken so much punishment he was virtually out on his feet and his seconds threw in the towel.

Sailor Reed of the U.S.S. Idaho fought a bang-up draw with Young Burmay, the Filipino idol of Los Angeles Harbor, in the semi-windup. Both boys stepped out to win in the first and kept it up for four furious rounds.

Sailor Danny Toomy of the U.S.S. Idaho also drew with Harry Foley of Los Angeles in another interesting fracas.

The fight between Sailor Thode of the U.S.S. Idaho and Joe Rheume of Los Angeles Harbor proved one of the best of the evening. Thode won on his showing in the fourth round after a desperate rally.

Other results follow:

Sailor Sales of the Idaho knocked out Soldier Shuman of Fort MacArthur.

Kid Ritter of Los Angeles won over Young Thomas of Los Angeles Harbor.

Sailor Miskine of the Idaho knocked out Kid Manuel of Los Angeles in the second round.

Bruin Babes Meet Juniors in First Game

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BERKELEY, Sept. 25.—California's freshman gridders will receive their first test when they meet the juniors in the final interclass contest Saturday afternoon in the California Memorial Stadium. The game will be staged as a preliminary for the California-Santa Clara contest.

It looks like the Bruin peagreens will be one of the strongest first-year teams in the conference. On paper they compare favorably with U.S.C., Stanford and Washington. They are heavy, and to date have shown plenty of fight.

Although it is possible that changes may be made at the last minute, Sprott has selected the team that he will use against the juniors Saturday. Bancroft and Dugery will be seen at ends, Thomas and Miller at tackles, Gidding and Cotter guards, and Harvey, center. Evans, brother of "Hoagy" Evans the quarterback of last year's varsity will call signals, with Bradley at full. Marcus, and either Maurice or Perrin will hold down the halfback jobs.

HUNTINGTON PARKERS MEET PALOMAR NINE

Manager George McGarvey of the Huntington Park baseball team announces that he has scheduled the Palomar team for a game here next Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. The Huntington Park nine has been doing good in the last few weeks, and despite a defeat by the Fremont Woodmen last week, are rated as one of the best teams in the association.

The tallest man in the world is said to be a Dutchman, Jan van Albert, who is nine feet, three and one-half inches in height.

WOMEN'S FIGHT NOT FULLY WON

Discriminatory Laws Still on Statute Books

World Peace Only Issue Sex United On

Progress of Recognition Battle Retold

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

[Copyright, 1924, Frederic J. Haskin]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25.—Although women have not organized politically in support of peace, the resolutions passed by the great majority of women's organizations indicate that their new political power is a determining influence behind the efforts for world peace. It has been stated that more organized women are united on this question than on any other issue.

There is one other outstanding example of woman's political efforts as a sex—the work of the National Woman's Party to achieve a blanket amendment to the Constitution, giving women full equality with men before the law. The Nineteenth Amendment was known as the Susan B. Anthony Amendment, in honor of one of the woman suffrage pioneers. The equal rights amendment, proposed by the Woman's party as the Twentieth Amendment, is named for Lucretia Mott, another suffrage leader of the nineteenth century.

DISCRIMINATIONS TOLD

In order to demonstrate the need for such a measure the Woman's party has made compilations of the laws of each State in regard to women. These show that instances of discriminatory laws are still numerous. In three States—Alabama, Georgia, and Maryland—a father still has the right to will his children away from the custody of their mother. In Delaware, the husband can collect money damages when his wife is injured. In Michigan, married women do not have equal rights with husbands over joint property. Wisconsin passed the equal rights law as a State measure in 1921.

It has been said that one of the few valuable by-products of war in this country has been its effect on woman's status. With the men off fighting, the women of the Civil War entered shops and factories and proved that they were equal to such work. Even then, men, and women too, boycotted some stores in Maine where women clerks were employed. Men in Congress had promised that at the close of the Civil War "justice would be done" to the women of the country. But the war left the suffragists disorganized and without funds or influence. Interest in the cause was at low ebb.

It was in the Presidential election of 1872 that Susan B. Anthony made her famous attempt to vote in order to test the legality of women being barred from the polls and in order to bring the suffrage cause before the public. She was arrested and ordered by the judge of a New York County Court to pay a fine of $100 and costs of the prosecution. To this demand the prisoner returned: "May it please Your Honor, I shall never pay a dollar of your unjust penalty." The judge, no doubt, realized that to jail the suffrage leader would create sympathy for her cause. At any rate, he dismissed the case and made no attempt to collect the fine.

WYOMING FIRST

The first suffrage victory was in Wyoming, which enfranchised women in 1869. Almost a quarter of a century passed; then in 1893 Colorado was added, and a little later Utah and Idaho. From 1896 to 1910 there was an interval in which no States were won. Then full suffrage was given to women in Washington and later in California, Oregon, Kansas, Arizona, Montana, Nevada, New York, Oklahoma, South Dakota and Michigan. Presidential suffrage was granted to women in thirteen States, and primary suffrage in two. So the record stood when the Nineteenth Amendment was ratified by the necessary thirty-six States and became part of the Constitution.

HEAVY ORE SHIPMENT BY BRITISH COLUMBIA

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

VANCOUVER (B. C.) Sept. 25. The concentrate movement from British Columbia has become heavy in the last few months and 37,000 tons of metal concentrates will be moving every month this fall to smelting plants in Tacoma and Antwerp. Of this 37,000 tons about 22,000 tons are in the form of copper concentrates. During the summer the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company exported about 40,000 tons of zinc concentrates to Antwerp, and it is estimated that during the fall months approximately 15,000 tons a month will move to that market.

FATHER BUILT FIRST STEAM AUTO, HE SAYS

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN ANTONIO (Tex.) Sept. 25. It is asserted by W. H. Winterborne of San Antonio that the first steam automobile was made by his father, who at that time resided at Stockwell, England. Mr. Winterborne has documents and other evidence in his possession to substantiate his claim to the priority of his father's invention. He says that in recognition of the accomplishment of the remarkable feat his father, W. Winterborne, was presented with a gold medal in 1862 at an exhibition by King Edward VIII, then Prince of Wales. The prince rode in the steam automobile. Mr. Winterborne, the elder, is at present living in Isleworth, England. Among his dearest treasures are the gold medal and the old engine, stated W. H. Winterborne, who recently returned from a visit abroad.

TEXAS OIL CONCERNS TO MERGE HOLDINGS

FIVE LARGEST IN AMARILLO FIELD IN TEN MILLION DOLLAR POOL

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

AMARILLO (Tex.) Sept. 25.—Negotiations have been completed for the merging of the holdings of the five large oil and gas companies, all operating in the Amarillo field, the value of the properties involved totalling approximately $10,000,000. By the provisions of the transactions, the consolidation effected embraces the Amarillo Oil Company, Mission Oil Company, Amarillo Gas Company, Panhandle Pipe Line Company and Producers' and Refiners' Corporation.

Nelson K. Moody of Independence, Kan., president of the Prairie Oil and Gas Company, is also president of the Amarillo Oil Company. James A. Carroll of Independence, Kan., is president of the Amarillo Gas Company and vice-president and general manager of the Amarillo Oil Company.

The largest holdings of anyone of these companies were those of the Producers' and Refiners' Corporation, and consisted of leases on 300,000 acres in proved oil and gas territory, all of which are transferred to the Amarillo Oil Company.

FOREST SERVICE SEEKS RANGERS

Personnel Overtaxed by Huge Number of Fires

Examinations to be Held Over State on October 21

Entrance Salaries Range from $1500 to $2000

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25.—Forest fires resulting in loss of life and property throughout the country, especially in California, has brought about a call from the United States Forest Service for forest rangers. The Civil Service Commission today announced that examinations for forest rangers will be held in various California cities on October 21.

The examinations will be held in Los Angeles, Alturas, Bishop, Mt. Shasta, Nevada City, North Fork, Placerville, Porterville, Quincy, San Diego, Santa Barbara, Sonora, Susanville, Weaverville, Willows and Yreka.

The numerous fires in the California mountains have overtaxed the present personnel and similar conditions are reported in other Western States. The Civil Service Commission announces the entrance salary for a forest ranger ranges from $1500 to $2000 a year, according to the economic conditions in the locality and whether or not quarters are furnished, the character of the activities conducted upon the ranger district, and the degree of responsibility involved, except in Alaska, where the salary paid will be from $1900 to $2500 a year. The entrance salary in positions where less than the full responsibility of a district ranger are involved is ordinarily $1500 a year except in Alaska, where this salary is $1900 a year.

Forest rangers are eligible to promotion to the maximum salary of $2400 in the continental United States and $3000 in Alaska as vacancies occur in assignments carrying salaries exceeding the entrance salary stated above and as the appropriation permits.

Hounds on Trail of Night Riders in Raid on Home

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

LEXINGTON (Ky.) Sept. 25.—Aided by Capt. V. G. Mullikin and his bloodhounds from here, authorities of Anderson county, twenty-five miles west of this city, are making every effort to identify members of a band of night riders, 150 strong, who, before daylight yesterday morning, visited the home of John Sea, wealthy tobacco grower and independent buyer near Ballard, Anderson county, surrounded his home and, after he had refused to come out at their demand, riddled his home with bullets and terrorized members of his family.

Sea, arming himself with shotgun and pistol, fired into the night riders from an upstairs window after they had begun their fusillade, and believes he wounded one of the band as he and members of the family saw riders carrying one of their number away.

TRIBAL WAR FEARED IN WOMAN SLAYING

SUSPECT HUSBAND TAKEN TO YREKA AS MATTER OF PRECAUTION

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

YREKA, Sept. 25.—Fearing a possible tribal war, John Pepper, an Indian and suspected slayer of his wife, was whisked away from Somesbar yesterday and today is in the Yreka County Jail on a charge of violating liquor laws.

Authorities say they hope to avoid serious trouble with the Indians through the removal of the prisoner. He was arrested and fined $500 Tuesday for having liquor in his possession after a party, which preceded the death of his wife, on the 15th inst., in connection with which he was held as a material witness but later released.

The District Attorney is still investigating the death of the woman and claims to have evidence that she was murdered.

CANADIAN FARMERS DO GOOD BUSINESS

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

REGINA (Sask.) Sept. 25.—Co-operative associations operated by farmers in Saskatchewan did a business totaling $6,388,132 last year, according to a report released by the Department of Agriculture. Of the total volume of business done by the co-operatives, the report shows, $2,872,533 represented farm products marketed and $2,758,171 represented merchandise sold including farm implements, binder twine, food commodities and coal. Forty-five associations marketing live stock shipped 738 cars of stock, the receipts from which totaled $652,470. Co-operative shipments of poultry last fall amounted to 319,006 pounds, realizing $54,983.82. There were 390 co-operative associations doing business in Saskatchewan last year with a total of 13,086 farmer shareholders and a paid-up capital investment of $421,365.

COLORADO FIGHTS BAD FIRE IN BLACK FOREST

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

COLORADO SPRINGS (Colo.) Sept. 25.—A serious fire was blazing in the Black Forest, a stretch of wooded country north of Colorado Springs, late today. Sheriff's officers and volunteers left for the scene of the blaze, which was reported by the observer at Devil's Head in the Pike's Peak National Forest. Of twenty-eight fires in Ute Pass, it was reported tonight that all were under control or extinguished.

RUSSIA GALE KILLS SIXTEEN

Storm from Sea Causes Property Loss of $7,000,000 in Leningrad; City Under Martial Law

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

MOSCOW, Sept. 25.—The tremendous storm from the sea that swept over Leningrad Tuesday took a total of sixteen lives, wounded scores of persons and destroyed property to the extent of between $5,000,000 and $7,000,000. The city is under martial law.

Telegraph and telephone poles were smashed, trees uprooted and everything not securely fastened was blown away. The deluge of rain caused a rapid rise in the canals by which the city is intersected.

Wednesday morning the canals broke their bounds, flooded the lower part of the city and swept over the Vasily-Ostrovsky Island and the Leningrad factory quarter. The Kasankaya, Admiralskaya and Spaskaya districts were also flooded.

FLOODS UNITE

These last are in the heart of the city and contain the main shopping streets, two cathedrals, palaces, great theaters and foreign legations and missions. The Moika and Fontakna canals, which run through these districts and partly parallel the Neva, became at places one united stream.

The flood first filled basements, and quickly mounted to the first floors of the houses. Even the Nevsky prospekt, now officially known as the "Prospekt of October 25," was soon a seething stream of swirling waters on which floated wooden blocks and debris.

The authorities promptly called out troops to assist the militia in the work of rescue. By noon the waters in the Nevsky prospekt were waist high and, like other thoroughfares, it was impassable. The flood spread farther inward, sweeping toward Pushkarskaya, behind the famous fortress of Peter and Paul, and covering the zoological gardens.

The water continued to rise until 6 p.m., when the wind died down. Leningrad spent the night in darkness, for the electric-light plants had broken down.

LOSS IMMENSE

It is yet impossible to form any idea of the loss of life, but the destruction of property is immense.

A large area in the central part of Leningrad, particularly around the Morskaya and Fontakana canals, has been very unsafe recently because of the washing away of the foundations of the city. This was due to the cessation of drainage in the city marshes during the war and the subsequent revolution. During the last year several houses there collapsed and the city went to great expense in bolstering up the others. All this work is now wiped out.

Ruling Monday on Candidacy of "Ma" Ferguson

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

AUSTIN (Tex.) Sept. 25.—Decision on whether Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson will be permitted to remain the Democratic candidate for Governor of Texas will be announced next Monday at 10 a.m., Judge George C. Calhoun announced at the close of arguments today.

DIVORCE TO BE GRANTED MRS. SWIFT

Monthly Alimony of $400 Allowed; Wife, on Stand, Tells of Cruelty

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, Sept. 25.—Judge Sabath, in Superior Court today, indicated that he would grant a divorce to Mrs. Marian Swift from her husband Edward F. Swift, Jr. Under an agreement Mrs. Swift will receive $400 a month alimony as long as she remains unmarried.

Mrs. Swift, on the witness stand, declared that her husband was cruel. She said he had "an ungovernable temper and a mean disposition, and often pushed her around and otherwise mistreated her."

One instance occurred on December 23, 1923, Mrs. Swift related. She and her husband were preparing to attend a Christmas-week dinner. Something angered him and he struck and pushed her around, she asserted. They were obliged to send regrets to their host and hostess at the last moment, and remained at home. Again, on May 21, this year, after they were returning from the Kentucky Derby, she said, he had become abusive following a discussion of the manner in which he had treated her in Louisville.

C. R. Atchison, New York advertising man, her father, corroborated this testimony. He had been present on both occasions, he said:

Mr. Swift was not in court. He made no contest. The Swifts were married February 6, 1918, in Atlanta, Ga., and separated in May of this year.

SHASTA FOREST IS REOPENED TO PUBLIC

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 25.—Announcement was made today by the United States Forest Service that the Shasta National Forest had been reopened to visitors and that the Modoc Forest would be reopened on Saturday. These with other government forests, were closed on account of forest fires. A fire, said to be of incendiary origin, is burning in Tahoe Forest, but is expected to be under control by tomorrow. It covers a three-quarter-mile front about seven miles northeast of Bloomfield and is being fought by 200 men.

RAILS TO START TIMBER LOGGING

Billion Feet Available on Projected Line

Proposed Extension to Tap New Mexico Tract

New Market for Products of Bernalillo Mill

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BERNALILLO (N. M.) Sept. 25. As a result of the projected extension of the New Mexico Central Railroad to Cuba, plans are being made for extensive exploitation of the commercial timber in that region. It has been found that the available timber between the town of Gallinas and the end of the proposed extension of the New Mexico Central, amounts to nearly 1,000,000,000 feet, of which some 400,000,000 can be reached from the Gallinas end, while the timber immediately available on the Cuba end amounts to 600,000,000 feet, and that a very large amount of timber can be reached which is on top of the mesa and available from either end of the line.

The Santa Fe Northwestern, which extends from Bernalillo twenty-five miles to San Ysidro, in connection with the Cuba extension, which is building from San Ysidro to Cuba, will offer all the logging facilities needed, it is stated.

NEW MARKET SEEN

There is a belief that the Cuba extension is intended to be the first railroad from the south into the San Juan River basin, and this would give the lumber mills located at San Bernalillo another market.

The White Pine Lumber Company has started operation of its big sawmill at Bernalillo. The daily capacity is 350,000 board feet. Scaling of the timber owned by the company shows a total of 600,000,000 board feet, a quantity estimated as sufficient to keep the mill running for seventy-five years. This timber is being brought to Bernalillo, where the mills cut it into lumber and it will then be shipped to distributing centers.

CRUISERS AT WORK

Timber experts and railroad engineers are now in the mountains northwest of Bernalillo cruising the immense timber areas found there. It is the intention of lumber interests to establish mills at some point where the lumbering can be done to the best advantage and the product distributed to the markets.

It is also known that but two general locations are being considered, the first being at some point on the line of the Santa Fe Northwestern and the other at some point on the proposed extension of the New Mexico Central near Gallinas, in Rio Arriba county.

Timber experts have found hundreds of millions of feet of good saw timber, have secured options, it is said, on 400,000,000 feet, and are now looking at some 300,000,000 feet on grants and in private ownership.

The Wrath to Come

By E. Phillips Oppenheim

Synopsis: Grant Blattery, wealthy American and secret service attache, meets his former fiancee, Gertrude, in Monte Carlo, as Princess Von Diss. At a meeting of the International Congress in Nice, Lord Yeovil, British Premier, succeeds in having the States sent an invitation to join the world pact. This he accomplishes only through the strategy of Grant and Susan, Yeovil's daughter. The defeated opposition revealed a German-Japanese plot to exclude the States, isolate them and later attack and annihilate them. Blunn, German industrialist and political arch plotter, heads the scheme. Gertrude, endeavoring to regain Grant's love, discusses her knowledge of the plan. A French danseuse, discarded by the Jap attache, makes further revelations. Grant sails in his yacht for New York—Gertrude is discovered a stowaway; pleads for Grant's affections and sets forth Blunn's full intentions. These comprise a "peace propaganda" to be launched in the States to influence the citizens to reject the pact invitation. Grant arrives to find Blunn's activities have already embraced the purchase of the nation's greatest daily paper. He confers with the Chief Executive; he finds sentiment entrenched in the thought that the States should avoid entrance to the pact. Blunn calls upon him. Blunn chides Grant on his efforts to defeat the aim of the foreign plotters; cites his already extensive accomplishments; he warns Grant of the danger of persisting in efforts to defeat him.

CHAPTER V

Cornelius Blunn had in nowise exaggerated the mighty Juggernaut of propaganda which had already been set in movement in every city and in every State. Its extent and the magnitude of its operations were almost inconceivable. There was scarcely a magazine or review published which did not contain an article by some brilliant writer, preaching the doctrine of American independence and self-determination. A small army of lecturers were at work upon the same theme. There were letters to the newspapers, public meetings, and a vast distribution of free literature. Stoneham, who had been taking a brief vacation, was brought back to New York by an urgent mable from his friend. They discussed the situation, dining at a famous club, on the night of his return.

"I am with you, Grant, you know that," the newspaper man said, "both from conviction and as a pal. But you're up against a simply absurd proposition. Plenty of us over here know that for twenty years Germany has been preparing for this sort of thing. She has a perfect machinery of propaganda, which only needed a touch of the finger to set it going. Blunn has set his hand upon it. Look at the result. There is scarcely a magazine of repute into which they haven't bought their way. They have their own newspapers and they are hanging on to the fringe of a good many others. They're well in with the reviews, they have a strong hold in the colleges, the book counters are flooded with their practically free literature. On the other side there are a fair number of thinking people who would advocate America's joining the pact. But there is no organization, nothing to bring them together, no means of spreading their opinions. You've done as much as one man could do. Five thousand of you might have made a little headway. As it is, Cornelius Blunn and his friends are absolutely convincing the great majority of the inhabitants of the United States that America will sacrifice her independence if she accepts this pact, that Great Britain is jealous of America's supremacy in commerce and finance, and that this invitation is merely a trap. People can't help believing a thing they are always being told. That is the first principle of successful propaganda."

"I know, Dan," Grant acknowledged. "But we're not going to knuckle under without a fight. We are late starters, but fortunately I've got a few millions to spare. I want you to look round and collect as many young writers and lecturers as you can who are inclined to come in on our side. Take those who agree with us from conviction where possible, but pay them well. We may be late starters, but remember this thing won't be voted on finally for two or three months to come yet. I was talking on the phone with Entwistle at Washington only this afternoon. It's a complicated procedure and, after all, you know, we have something on our side. The President and most of his entourage are with us. That must count for something."

"There are drawbacks to democracy," Stoneham sighed. "Also a ridiculous side to it. The German confectioner in the next street has exactly as much voting weight on this or any other matter as a Harvard professor who has made a study of European politics and probably visited every capital. Decision by votes is always bound to have its failacies. Look at prohibition, for instance, imposed upon the people of America against their wish, by votes. I'm not at all sure that in a thousand years' time absolute monarchy won't be recognized as the only sane form of government."

"In the meantime," Grant suggested, "let's get busy. I'll open an account for you tomorrow at any bank you say. Put yourself down for any salary you like and pay for contributions just what you think they're worth. Scour 'round the city for the young men who can write what we want—lecturers, magazine writers. We may be late starters, Dan, but we've a great gospel to preach. We've logic on our side, too. America was the first of the nations of the world to propose a reduction of armaments and to strip herself of the means of offensive warfare, just at the time when she, better than any other in the world, was able to afford it. She is still the leading spirit in the Limitation of Armaments. Why, then, should she remain outside the pact? She lays herself open to conspiracies galore. She refuses the protection of the pact and accepts the restrictions which her own generosity imposed upon her. And, Dan, let them rub it in. Let them ask where all this stream of literature on the other side is coming from. Tell them straight it's coming from Germany. Ask them if they think Germany has forgotten."

They made many plans and Grant succeeded in awakening a measure of enthusiasm in his companion. On their way out they met an acquaintance, laughing over a cartoon in a weekly newspaper. He held it up for them to see. There was a little circle of diners, Lord Yeovil in the middle, and before him one miserable chicken, on which the eyes of the sixteen seated around the table were fixed hungrily. A short distance away the allegorical Jonathan was seated alone at a table with a magnificent turkey in front of him. Lord Yeovil, risen to his feet, was addressing an almost plaintive invitation.

"Won't you come across and join us, Brother Jonathan, and bring the bird?"

"Propaganda," Stoneham murmured. "It's damned clever, too. That sort of thing impresses."

On their way uptown they passed a procession. They stopped for a while to see it go by. There was a long line of youths marching in fours, dressed in the uniform of Boy Scouts, with several bands playing. They carried banners, on most of which was inscribed the same or a similar message:

"Europe and Europe's Troubles for Europe."

"America and America's Prosperity for America."

"I know that association," Stoneham remarked. "They call themselves the 'National Scouts of Free America.' They have free uniforms, free bands, about six excursions into the country in the year, also free, and the treasurer to the fund which keeps them going is a Mr. Hans Klein. More propaganda!"

"Oh, our enemies are thorough enough." Grant agreed bitterly. "They take their disciples from the cradle and rub it all in with the alphabet. And yet, you know, carefully though they were prepared for it, although they chose their own time, had every advantage science and preordination could give them, they lost the great war. Their detail was wonderful enough, but you can't win on detail alone. I'm optimist enough, Dan, to believe that, as these people failed once before, so they will fall again, and for the same reason."

"You're rather inspiring tonight," Stoneham confessed. "Expound!"

"I do not believe in the ultimate success of any cause," Grant continued earnestly, "which is utterly devoid of spirituality. The Germans started out in 1914 with every advantage, but with a boldly proclaimed battle cry of material gain. They were opposed by a nation, fighting for their own land and womankind, and there is no cause which can provoke a greater spirituality. They were opposed, too, by the British, fighting with no shred of self-interest, with no possible hope of aggrandizement, fighting to redeem their word to Belgium, and fighting against the principles which threatened the very foundations of civilisation. Then we came in. It took us a long time, but it was very far from being our quarrel. Anyhow, we came in. And Germany, who started with every advantage, lost. I know as certainly as we walk here side by side, Dan, that Germany means to go to war again, partly a war of vengeance, partly a war of aggrandizement. Well, I think that we shall stop her. There's no soul to her cause. Nothing can flourish or live without a touch of the spirit."

"It isn't argument, Grant," Stoneham observed, "but I see your point. To a certain extent it's convincing."

"Argument is not the infallible solution of any subject," Grant persisted, "any more than the brain is the only adjudicator. Take the hereafter, for instance. We all have a feeling that something of the sort exists. But argument with a nonbeliever would be impossible. We set too much store by our brains."

They had emerged into Broadway, with its medley of blazing lights, its throng of people, its indefinable but ever-existent fascination. Grant stopped short and pulled his companion up as they watched a couple descend from an automobile and cross the pavement toward a famous supper place.

"Some one you know?" Stoneham inquired.

His companion nodded.

"Slightly. The man was at Monte Carlo, in attendance upon the Japanese Ambassador. Itash, his name is. The girl was one of the dancers at the Cafe de Paris. That's rather a coincidence seeing them here."

"Why?"

"Because," Grant explained, "I very nearly got hold of some wonderful information from the young woman who used to be the sweetheart of Itash before he took up with this girl. How she got it from him I don't know, but she got it. She was half mad with jealousy and she sent for me. By the time I got there, though, Itash had made it up with her, and she would tell me nothing. Now—if one could only get hold of her now, there might be something doing."

Stoneham shrugged his shoulders.

"A Japanese diplomatist," he said, "even the youngsters, are not noted for their ingenuousness. I can't imagine that young man, Itash, as you call him, giving much away."

"Neither can I," Grant agreed, "but she was very positive, and she did tell me one or two things."

"Then if I were you," Stoneham suggested, "I should get into touch with her as quickly as possible. Send her a cable and tell her what's going on. She wouldn't be the first jealous woman who's saved or lost an empire."

BRIDE-ELECT CHARGES FIANCE WITH LARCENY

SAYS CASH SHE SUPPLIED FOR FURNITURE SPENT ON HIMSELF

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Sept. 25.—The story of how a romance, begun in childhood and continued for twelve years, came to an abrupt end was unfolded with the arrest of George Shawiry today. He was arraigned on a charge of grand larceny brought by Miss Mary Sunda of Brooklyn.

Detective Murphy arrested Shawiry after Miss Sunda had complained that the young man had diverted to his personal uses $1000 she and her brother gave him to purchase furniture for their new home.

According to the girl's story she and Shawiry discussed their forthcoming marriage on the 10th inst., and on that day she gave him $500. They had been "keeping company" for twelve years, she said. On the following day her brother John gave Shawiry another $500, she declared, but Shawiry spent the money on himself and did not buy "even so much as a chair."

NOTAS TELEGRAFICAS

El Presidente Ataca la Idea de que el Gobierno Sea Empresario de Servicios Públicos

FILADELFIA, Septiembre 25.—El Presidente Coolidge pronunció esta noche una alocución en Filadelfia, con motivo de la conmemoración del centésimo quincuagésimo aniversario del primer Congreso Continental. En su discurso habló enfáticamente el Primer Magistrado en contra de la idea de que el gobierno sea dueño y administrador de los ferrocarriles y de otros servicios públicos.

Su argumento principal fue que son tan vastos estos bienes y propiedades, que si el gobierno los adquiriera y administrara, se requeriría la creación, y el firme establecimiento de una burocracia tan enorme y poderosa, que no dejaría más privilegio para el pobre contribuyente que no perteneciera a ella, que el de pagar contribuciones. Estas, declaró el Presidente, subirían hasta un 40 por ciento en muchos de los condados agrícolas de los Estados de la Unión.

Este cálculo no lo aplicó el Presidente sino a los distritos netamente agrícola de la nación, pues advirtió que en las regiones industriales, el dominio y administración de los servicios públicos por el gobierno no aumentaría quizá sino en un 3 o 4 por ciento los impuestos de los labradores.

El Presidente hizo esta declaración en contra de la posesión gubernativa de esos bienes, con aquel énfasis tranquilo, pero no por eso menos firme, que caracteriza a Calvin Coolidge cuando se cala las gafas y rompe a hablar con el pueblo acerca de los negocios que a éste interesan.

Fue escuchado con la mayor atención nuestro Primer Magistrado. Su declaración ocupa casi la cuarta parte de su discurso conmemorativo, y está repleta de cifras. Con frecuencia hace valer los precedentes establecidos, y constituye, desde el principio hasta el fin, una prudente advertencia.

Entre sus reflexiones más salientes citaremos las siguientes:

"Con recordar las tremendas pérdidas y dificultades que originó la administración de barcos cuyo valor llegó a $3.500.000.000, vacilaremos mucho sin duda antes de dejar al gobierno el manejo de servicios públicos que valen diez veces más."

"Si perdiera el pueblo el dominio de las arterias del comercio y de las fuentes naturales de su energía mecánica, se llegaría a poco andar a la nacionalización de todas las industrias."

"De establecerse el dominio político sobre los ferrocarriles y los servicios a base de electricidad, tendríamos en el gobierno un grupo tan firmemente atrincherado, que el privilegio de la soberanía para el resto de los habitantes consistiría principalmente en el pago de las contribuciones."

El Clérigo Envenenador Pide Misericordia

MT. VERNON (Illinois) Septiembre 25.—El Fiscal del Estado, Frank G. Thompson, sigue preparando el requisitorio de la acusación en forma tal, que no se escape de subir al cadalso el Reverendo Lawrence M. Hight, predicador que envenenó despiadadamente a su esposa. El delincuente es ya presa del terror, y pide a gritos "misericordia, más bien que justicia".

En tanto que el clérigo trata de levantar su decaído espíritu y alimentar su esperanza, acariciando el proyecto de que se le haga "capellán de la prisión", el fiscal sigue allegando implacablemente las pruebas de las compras de arsénico hechas por Hight, droga que sirvió a éste para envenenar nefandamente a su esposa Anna; ya Elsie Sweetin, cómplice y objeto de los amores ilícitos del ministro de la iglesia, para matar en igual forma a su marido, Wilford Sweetin.

El Gobierno Soviet Despide de Rusia a la Misión Benéfica Papal

LONDRES, Septiembre 25.—La misión papal de socorros en Rusia, cuyo jefe era el Padre Walsh, de Baltimore, ha sido disuelta, y, según noticias que aquí llegan, ha recibido orden de salir inmediatamente de Rusia.

Los soviets, con su característica rudeza, dieron por terminados los trabajos de una misión que les proporcionó socorros por valor de $10,000,000, diciendo a ésta en una nota: "El gobierno ruso ya no ha menester la ayuda extranjera, y desea que salgan inmediatamente de territorio soviet los representantes de misiones extranjeras."

El sucesor del Padre Walsh fue un aleman. El Padre Walsh pasó por un periodo muy difícil después del jurado de Rutchkacitch, porque le proporcionó alimentos al prelado condenado. Los agentes de la Cheka empezaron a hacerle tan intolerable la vida al Padre Walsh, que éste tuvo que marcharse de Moscú.

NOTAS LOCALES

Los aviadores que dieron la vuelta al mundo se despidieron ayer mañana de Los Angeles, después de haber pasado aquí dos de los días más gloriosos de sus memorable viaje aéreo, y de haber guardado cuidadosamente en el avión almirante uno de los pastales hechos en casa por la abuelita Holland.

Los cruceros de circunnavegación aérea emprendieron de nuevo el vuelo en el aeródromo de Clover, donde se han estado exhibiendo desde el día en que llegaron. Los pilotos confiaban en llegar en cuatro horas a San Francisco, que es la escala siguiente del viaje triunfal. Del citado puerto continuarán los aviadores, hasta Eugene, Oregon, y de este lugar irán a Seattle, con el objeto de que las poblaciones del Pacífico puedan contemplar los ya históricos aviones de circunnavegación, antes de que vayan a ocupar éstos un sitio permanente en el museo histórico de nuestro país.

DEPORTES

Baseball

NUEVA YORK, Septiembre 25. Esa vieja "materia" que se denomina valor, dejó sentir otra vez su presencia esta tarde en el campo de Polo, y hoy en la noche quedaron los Gigantes a muy corta distancia del pendón de la Liga Nacional, el que quizá logren empuñar por cuarta vez consecutiva. A pesar de hallarse en condiciones de inferioridad, hicieron a un lado hoy el último obstáculo formidable, derrotando por tercera vez a sus adversarios los Piratas. Perdieron éstos el partido que los deja fuera de concurso, por 5 a 4, y constituyó el juego una de esas batallas a la que nada faltó para dejar satisfecha a la afición.

Tuvo que prolongarse hasta trece turnos el partido de ayer tarde, en el parque Washington, para que los Angeles batieran por tercera vez a Portland. La anotación fue de 3 a 2, y con esta victoria, los Angeles han llegado a la marca de 500, y tienen asegurada la posesión del cuarto lugar, pues de se las disputa.

Natación

Van a ser un concurso más bien que una competencia individual, los competidores de ción y saltos al agua que se celebrarán el Octubre en el Parque y que constituirán la tante prueba de natación el año.

RESENT LAWS OF AZURE HUE

Pomona Stirred by Recent Court Decision

City on Verge of Another Factional War

Both Sides Prepare for Battle Re

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

POMONA, Sept. 25.—Whether or not the three-year legal battle waged around Pomona's blue law, closing all places of amusement on Sundays, will be carried on to the State Supreme Court, will depend upon the attitude of the city's business men, Harry C. Arthur, general manager of the theater concern, which controls the California and Belvedere theaters here, stated today.

Unless the business interests will join both in spirit and financially with the theater company in continuing the attack on the Sunday closing law, the case will not be carried higher, he intimated.

If the petition for a rehearing in the Appellate or Supreme Court is made the local ordinance will be defended as before by a legal representative retained through popular subscription among members of the Civic Betterment League, it was indicated by George T. Liddle, president of this organization, which sponsored the Sunday closing law.

The ordinance was passed as an initiative measure on the April, 1921, ballot and has provoked much discussion, pro and con, all over the nation. In commenting upon the decision of the Appellate Court today, and the fact that the law was passed by a very small majority after a spirited campaign, Mr. Liddle stated, "What difference if that majority is only fifty-four, it is still a majority. The ordinance was passed by a majority and now despite the efforts of that lower class of people who will not consider the safety of the youth of America, it has been declared constitutional. A law's a law and it should be enforced fully."

Pomona appears to be on the verge of another factional war as bitter as the fight in 1921. It was established today that Justice Houser's decision does not go into effect for thirty days and there is no doubt that theater interests and local business men will succeed in throwing the matter into the courts again.

TRAIN FOR WORK AS BIBLE INSTRUCTORS

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

HUNTINGTON PARK, Sept. 25. The training school for Christian workers began work yesterday with twelve students enrolled, and it is expected that there will be between thirty and forty by the firs of the coming week.

Three hundred persons gathered at the first day, which was opened with a program of speeches and music, among the speakers being Roy Knight, pastor of the Friends Church at Long Beach; Oscar Baldwin, vice-president of the board of trustees; S. J. Pickering, of Bell; Rev. Tyler Coburn of El Modena, and Rev. Arthur Woolan of Pasadena. The main address was given by Rev. Fred Ross, president of the University of Los Angeles, the training school now being affiliated with this institution under the title of the College of Bible Training. Mr. Ross spoke at length upon the Bible and its relation to the school. Rev. William Kirby, who recently became pastor of the local Friends Church, was also on the program for a talk. Contributions were called for, and $1700 was pledged.

INCREASED ENROLLMENT

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

REDLANDS, Sept. 25.—An increase of about 500 in the number of students in the schools of Redlands indicates that the city is enjoying a steady and healthy growth. The increase this year is about 20 per cent over last year, and is such that several of the schools are crowded to capacity and plans are under way for additions.

ACCUSED OF BUNKO

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN DIEGO, Sept. 25.—Richard Henry and Walter Ware, charged with violating the Corporation Securities Act, have been arrested here in connection with an asserted bunko scheme to colonize arid mountain lands in Lower California. Their activities also are said to have included oil stocks.

Both men today furnished $1500 bail but Henry was rearrested at the request of Los Angeles police on a charge of passing fictitious checks.

PLANTERS KEEP EYE ON FROST

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

CALEXICO, Sept. 25. — While Imperial Valley thermometers are still registering around 100 degrees at noon, cotton planters are beginning to speculate as to when the first frost will appear to stop the growing of cotton. Only light frosts ever visit Imperial Valley, but light frosts are sufficient to prevent the opening of cotton bolls and that affects the annual yield materially. As the yield of cotton has been none too heavy this year, the frost question is admittedly an important one to planters. If it is delayed it will mean as much as 200 or 300 pounds more of fiber to the acre in some fields.

In 1921 the first light frost arrived here November 19. The year before it did not appear until December 7. In 1922 and 1923, frost was not felt here until after January 1. Records of the weather have been kept for several years by the Imperial Irrigation District at its Calexico office.

TAKES FIRE OUT OF FIRE WATER

TULARE COUNTY MOONSHINE USES EXTINGUISHER FOR WHISKEY STILL

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PORTERVILLE, Sept. 25.—Two complete stills and considerable brandy whisky, mash, corn and other articles for manufacture of illicit liquor were today taken to Visalia by county prohibition officers as result of two raids in this vicinity within the last twenty-four hours, the largest haul yet made in Tulare county.

A. Larson of San Francisco was arrested yesterday at daybreak in a tent near California Hot Springs. His still, liquor and apparatus were seized and a fine of $150 was imposed last night by Judge Lumley of this city, which Larson paid. Larson had utilized a fire extinguisher as a still.

A coal oil can improvised into a still was part of the loot at the Rodgers ranch in Poplar, west of here, when Thomas Ortoni fell into toils of the law. Indications pointed to recent use of the equipment. Police Chief Reynolds of this city led the raid there late yesterday. Ortoni is being held for arraignment before Judge Lumley probably tomorrow.

WOMEN GET BUSY

Contest Stirs Fair Politicians to Action

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

LONG BEACH, Sept. 25.—Stimulation of interest in women voters in the Coolidge-for-President campaign in Southern California is assured, it was said here today, by the acceptance by Los Angeles women of the challenge laid down recently by the Republican women of Long Beach for a voting contest throughout the Congressional districts of Southern California.

A silver trophy has been provided by the members of the Republican Women's Club of Long Beach for the Assembly district which polls the highest proportionate majority for Coolidge and Dawes. The Sixty-third District, located largely in Los Angeles, has accepted the challenge and has expressed a determination to carry off the cup, officers of the local club were advised today.

Other acceptances of the challenge are expected from other Southern California districts.

THREE OFFICERS TO SHARE IN REWARD

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BAKERSFIELD, Sept. 25.—Following their men for miles through underbrush and across fields, Deputy Sheriffs Phil Fickert and C. T. Getchell and Capt. W. E. Snell, of the State traffic police, today captured the three Folsom Penitentiary convicts who Tuesday night escaped from the road camp in Kern River Canyon. The fugitives were run to earth in the dry bottom of the Beardsley Canal about three-quarers of a mile north of Lerdo on the Fresno highway.

The convicts are W. J. Acker, serving eight years for grand larceny, committed to Folsom from San Luis Obispo county; James H. Gregg, serving ten years for robbery, committed from Alameda county, and Frank Pierrio, serving fifteen years for robbery, committed from Merced county.

The officers will receive the standing $200 reward offered for the recapture of each convict.

HIGH PRICED SLIDE

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

REDLANDS, Sept. 25.—Milo Kirkpatrick of the Redlands Elks indoor baseball team, champions of the South through having defeated the crack team of Long Beach, lays claim to being the most expensive slider in the local league. For an insurance company paid him $31.25 for sliding into second base. Kirk failed to slide on the seat of his baseball pants, fortified for such a purpose, but slid on his right ankle and injured it so that the company in which he had an accident policy had to pay.

HEAR DON TYLER

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

ALHAMBRA, Sept. 25.—Delivering his oration on the Constitution, Don Tyler, national oratorical contest winner, appeared tonight at the dinner of the Presbyterian Churchmen's Club and later was a guest of San Gabriel Valley Chapter No. 100, R.A.M., in Masonic Hall.

At the men's club dinner, G. H. Barnes, president of the National Association for Reforestation and authority on forest fires and their prevention, gave an interesting address.

POLITICS CALLS TO CHURCHMEN

Make Religion Practical Urges Speaker

Methodist Conference at Santa Barbara

Ministers Organize for Important Session

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SANTA BARBARA, Sept. 25.—Scoring the campaign of La Follette and attacking his stand on the prohibition question, Dr. Clarence True Wilson, secretary of the National Board of Temperance of the church, with headquarters at Washington, called upon all churchmen to get into politics and carry their religion into practice today in an address before the Southern California Methodist convention now assembled here.

It was Dr. Wilson's contention that there is no difference between religion, morality and politics. "Religion," he declared, "is morality toward God; morality is religion toward man, and politics is, according to Webster, a branch of ethics and so is the factor determining human moralities." Dr. Wilson had small praise for the man who pretends to be a devout Methodist and yet does not with due zeal and diligence exercise his power of the franchise. "He is no Christian," was his drastic comment.

"The Bible, which has been kissed by every President of the United States and by every Supreme Court Justice taking oath to mete out impartial justice, has been crowded out of the public schools in all but four States," he cried. Dr. Wilson crisply scored the pastor who, boasting the "freest forum on earth—a Methodist pulpit in twentieth-century America," failed to lead an active political campaign for better government and for the best men to head that government.

"The speaking platform can never lead in the great movement for civic reform," he declared. "It can never lead in any great movement. It is too intermittent, here today and gone tomorrow. It can't follow up its advantage.

"The public press cannot lead the movement. It is owned by a corporation and publishd for dividends. It is run for cash, not for conscience. No force motivated by a desire for dollars can effect the reform. The stage cannot lead the movement. In fact, not during the 2000 years in the existence of the stage has it shown evidence of fighting for the slightest moral betterment. Who can lead?—the preacher."

It was the church militant, Dr. Wilson declared, that by preaching the Gospel had driven piracy from the seas, killed the slave trade, eliminated duelling, polygamy, lotteries, the liquor traffic and prize fighting in all the civilized States.

"We've killed the liquor traffic in America," he said, "but we're not through. In five or ten years the map of Europe will be speckled. In a few years more all Europe will be as white as the United States. Prohibition will be international."

Election of conference officers was the important business of the day. Dr. Stevens of Fresno was re-elected secretary; C. W. Reinius, Los Angeles, was chosen as statistician; M. W. Beckwith, Los Angeles, treasurer; J. Hunter Smith, Lemoore, postmaster; M. S. McGee, Dinuba, railroad secretary; R. J. Coyne, Los Angeles, chorister, and L. R. Bayard, Chula Vista, organist.

Rules of order were drawn and the eleven standing committees of the conference selected.

G. Bromley Oxnam, pastor of the All Nations Church of Los Angeles, was commissioned by the delegates to bear the felicitations of the conference to the officials of the State Federation of Labor convention in session at Elks' Hall.

Lincoln A. Ferris of San Diego acted as chairman of the committee in charge of solemn memorial services held for six conference members and four wives of members who had passed away since the 1923 gathering. A brief tribute to the late Bishop Homer C. Stunts of Omaha by Bishop Burns proved one of the most moving and effective incidents of the session.

ISSUE WARRANT FOR AUTOMOBILE DRIVER

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

PASADENA, Sept. 25.—Joseph Medina, 17-year-old La Canada youth, lies in the Pasadena Hospital today in a serious condition as a result of an automobile collision which occurred in Flintridge this morning. Medina was driving on Woodley street when he collided with another car driven by B. Alcorn, of La Canada, at the Berkshire-avenue intersection. Medina's car overturned and the youth was injured badly. He was taken to the hospital by W. V. Labau, a passer-by.

Soon after the accident Officers Harold German and L. Coleman made an investigation of the accident and as a result a felony warrant was issued by Justice J. Russell Morton, charging Alcorn with failing to render aid after an accident. The warrant was sent to the Sheriff's office to be served. Up to a late hour today the motorist had not been arrested.

TRI-CITY CONFERENCE

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

PASADENA, Sept. 25. — Representatives from Pasadena, South Pasadena and Alhambra will convene in the local Chamber of Commerce tomorrow afternoon for a sanitary sewage conference. These three cities jointly own a sewage-disposal plant and farm. The county is working on a big sewage-disposal project, which will include the Pasadena district and representatives from the County Surveyor's office will be present.

Hiram W. Wadsworth, chairman of the Pasadena Board of City Directors, and George K. Hooper, Assistant City Manager, will represent Pasadena, and City Managers Moore of Alhambra and Orbison of South Pasadena will be in attendance.

BAKER HEADS UNIONISTS

San Francisco Man Chosen President of the California Federation of Labor

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SANTA BARBARA, Sept. 25.—Roe Baker of San Francisco was elected president of the California State Federation of Labor today by the delegates assembled in convention here. Baker received 32,000 votes, a majority of 14,000 over his only other opponent, Frank Carothers of Los Angeles. Frank Robinson of Los Angeles was elected delegate to the American Federation of Labor by acclamation.

The federation will meet in 1925 in San Diego, according to supporters of Baker, who stated that with Baker in the election the south would be favored as a convention place next year, as a means of consoling the southern group.

Eureka was the only other city contending for the honor of being the 1925 convention center.

The assembly today heard Andrew Furuseth bitterly assail the growing power of the courts and call upon labor of California to rise to curtail this power and not to relapse into "the infernal American habit" of fatalistic optimism through the atmosphere created that everything would come out all right in the end. Furuseth, an old veteran of the San Francisco labor party, directed his attack upon the injunction system principally.

The convention indorsed the Swing-Johnson bill today in its measures for control of the Colorado River by the government, as it did a proposition to approve of the organization of theatrical workers of the State, and the measure introduced by Furuseth calling for curtailment of the equity power of the judiciary through an appeal to Congress.

REFUSE LICENSE

Glendale Council Frowns Upon Murphy's Comedians

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

GLENDALE, Sept. 25.—Following the refusal of the Board of Supervisors to renew the permit for Murphy's Comedians to continue their performances in their tent theater at Stocker street, an application was presented Thursday to the City Council by C. C. Pitts for permission to conduct theatrical performances at a location in the southern part of the city.

Councilman C. E. Kimlin asked whether this permit was not being sought for the Murphy organization; but this was denied by Pitts, who admitted, however, that a number of Murphy's performers would be engaged for his enterprise. The application was rejected, the vote standing 3 to 2.

CLUBS TO STAGE PUBLIC RECEPTION

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BAKERSFIELD, Sept. 25.—Harry S. Mason, governor of the second Rotary district of California, delivered a stirring message to members of the Bakersfield Rotary today, the occasion being his annual visit to the Bakersfield club.

The local club men went on record as favoring and sponsoring a reception to be tendered Dr. G. C. Sabichi, who has been honored by being chosen national president of Exchange clubs, when he returns from the convention at Nashville. C. V. Anderson, Ed Benson and Roy Newberry were appointed a committee to prepare plans for the event, which will be participated in by other clubs of the city as well as the local Exchange Club, of which Dr. Sabichi was president two years.

GLENDALE REFUSES PERMIT FOR CAMP

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

GLENDALE, Sept. 25.—Decision on the question of permitting the establishment of an automobile camp at the corner of Riverdale Drive and San Fernando Road, on the application of E. Holland, was reached by the City Council after a wrangle of more than an hour, when the application was defeated by a vote of 3 to 2, thus settling a question that has been agitating the Council and many of Glendale's citizens for the last month. Opponents of the camp claimed that its establishment would depreciate the value of the property in the neighborhood and that the surroundings were such as were inimical to the proper upbringing of the children who might live in the camp.

CLAIMS LONG RESIDENCE

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

BRAWLEY, Sept. 25.—Although he asserts he has resided in the United States for thirteen years, John Mien, a Hindu, has been detained by United States Immigration officers on a charge of illegal entry into the United States. Mien has farmed in Imperial county for four years. Deportation to his native land is the penalty for the crime which the Hindu faces in the event he should be convicted.

Building for Army and Navy Men at San Diego

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN DIEGO, Sept. 25.—The $700,000 Army and Navy Y.M.C.A. building, occupying an entire half-block on lower Broadway, will be dedicated November 1, it was announced today by the building committee.

The structure, six stories high, was designed to be one of the finest of its kind in the country. Citizens of San Diego subscribed $150,000 for the purchase of the site, and the international committee of the Y.M.C.A. supplied the building fund. When completed the building will posses every facility for the comfort and pleasure of enlisted men, of whom there are now several thousand in the different naval and military establishments. There are 300 sleeping rooms and additional accommodations can be arranged when needed.

Prominent Army and Navy officers on the West Coast will be invited to the dedication, and it is hoped one or more Cabinet members may be able to come here for the event.

HOLD FOUR SUSPECTS

Arrests Follow Shooting of Bakersfield Officer

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BAKERSFIELD, Sept. 25.—Four suspects are being held by the police and Sheriff's office today in connection with the shooting of Police Officer S. L. Mishler last night. The officer was shot through the abdomen by one of two men whom he and Officer A. Thompson accosted on the Edison highway just outside the city limits. Mishler is in the San Joaquin Hospital seriously wounded. Attending physicians say he will recover.

Officer Thompson late this afternoon attempted to identify the two men being held by the police. They are said to answer almost exactly the description of the men being sought for the shooting. Thompson, however, was uncertain and did not believe they were the same pair.

The Sheriff is also holding two men said to answer the description. They were arrested by Deputies Phil Fickert and C. E. Getchell.

HOLD CHECK SUSPECT FOR BEACH OFFICIALS

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

LONG BEACH, Sept. 25.—R. P. Henry, who, according to Long Beach police, claims to be related to Will Hays, director-general of the moving-picture industry, is under arrest in San Diego and is being held for local police, according to advices from there today. Henry, according to R. B. Fridley, head of the bogus-check detail, is wanted here for passing fictitious checks on local merchants, to whom he represented himself variously as an investigator, moving-picture director, and wealthy relative of Will Hays.

The warrant for Henry's arrest, Detective Sergeant Fridley said, was based on a complaint sworn to by E. C. Teller of 101 Seaside avenue, this city, one of Henry's asserted check victims.

HEARING POSTPONED

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BAKERSFIELD, Sept. 25.—Trial of F. W. Bunnell, former justice of the peace, charged with embezzling county funds while in office, was continued today until December 9. The continuances was granted in Department Two of the Superior Court with the presentation of a doctor's certificate stating that Bunnell, in Los Angeles, was suffering from high blood pressure and could not be moved with safety.

The case has been continued for more than a year since the original charges were filed against Bunnell.

PACK SWEET POTATOES

HANFORD, Sept. 25.—Packing of 3000 cases of canned sweet potatoes is just being completed by the Kings County Packing Company near this city. This is the first pack made of that vegetable here.

The potatoes were grown on the ranch of the packing company near Murray, on the west side of the county, and the quality is of the finest.

GRAND CARNIVAL

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

REDONDO BEACH, Sept. 25.—Greater Redondo Week, the merchants' and Boosters' Club carnival, which opened here Sunday morning, has proven a huge success and will close tomorrow night with a grand carnival and street dance on El Paseo at the foot of Diamond street.

Sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce the celebration is the beginning of a campaign for numerous civic improvements, which will include the annexation of the beach to the south of the Municipal Pier, a new library building, and an American Legion home. More than 250 business houses entered elaborately decorated floats in the opening parade, and tomorrow's program, in the hands of the city officials, will be a civic one with the officers of the city in charge.

Prominent in the week's entertainments were the fife and drum corps of the Long Beach G.A.R., the Redondo Municipal Band, and the Boys' Band, who assisted in the afternoon and evening performances.

SURE OF ELECTION

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

SANTA ANA, Sept. 25.—The names of candidates on the November 4 general election ballot will remain much the same as prepared by voters at the primary election as far as county, assembly, State senatorial and congressional positions are concerned, it seemed a certainty today when County Clerk J. M. Backs said that no petitions for independent nominations had been filed with him, and so far as he knows none are in circulation. Today is the last day for the filing of such petitions.

The following names will appear uncontested on the November ballot:

For Congressman, Phil D. Swing, Republican and Democrat.

For State Senator, Chester M. Kline, Republican and Democrat.

For Assemblyman, S. C. Hartranft, Republican.

For Superior Judge, F. C. Drumm.

For Supervisor, First District, S. R. Finley.

For Supervisor, Third District, William Schumacher.

For Supervisor, Fifth District, Leon O. Whitsell.

ASKS PAY RESULT OF ACCIDENT

Los Angeles Girl Sues Pacific Electric in Court at Santa Ana

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

SANTA ANA, Sept. 25.—A damage suit for $25,000 and $1256 for medical expenses was today entered in the Superior Court here against the Pacific Electric Railway Company by 11-year-old Marylyn Cravens, through her mother, Mrs. Grace Cravens, 944 Blaine street, Los Angeles. The suit follows an accident at Anaheim Landing, July 13.

The child was not aware of the nearness of the railroad equipment when the accident occurred, the complaint recites, because sand had drifted across the rails until they were blotted out. Caught by a car she was sent hurling against a telephone post, her head and body bruised, it was alleged, and she was left unconscious.

After the accident, it was set forth, another car picked up the child and took her to Long Beach, where she was attended by a company physician, at a Long Beach hospital. The doctor, the complaint avers, attempted to set a broken bone. Five days later he tried to set it again, pronounced the bones set and sent the child home, it was charged.

She was suffering much pain, it was stated, and another physician was called. An X-ray photograph then showed that the broken bone was not set, it was claimed, but that, instead, it overlapped.

Marylyn was taken to another hospital where weights were attached to her leg for weeks, the suit declared, and she now was said to be in a serious condition.

The complaint asked leave to amend the figure asked for medical expenses when the full amount of expense thus held to have been incurred becomes known.

ASKS PROBATION

Verdict of Judy to Aid Man in Fight for Freedom

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

SANTA ANA, Sept. 25.—C. H. Kidd, convicted of manslaughter, today based his hopes for liberty on probation upon a jury recommendation for "utmost leniency."

This recommendation to the court was attached to a verdict of guilty returned at 6 o'clock last evening after the jury had deliberated since 4:30 p.m. Reports from the jury room were to the effect that one juror, holding out against conviction, had forced a compromise that gave Kidd a recommendation for clemency.

Attorney William P. Redmond Representing Kidd, promptly filed application for probation when the verdict was read. Judge F. C. Drumm set the hearing on probation for Friday, October 3, at 9:30 a.m.

Kidd, a resident of Los Angeles, was prosecuted in connection with the death of Edmund Breedlove, 16, of Corona. The fatality occurred in an automobile wreck in Santa Ana Canyon.

State Engineer Puts Corps of Experts at Work

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

TULARE, Sept. 25.—Before the months of 1925 have passed it is hoped that tangible plans will be in operation in the State-wide irrigation movement, C. A. Bailey of Bakersfield, president of the California State Irrigation Association, told some forty-five representative Tulare county men at the regular luncheon of the Board of Trade today. Mr. Bailey continued that start of actual units was contemplated in the northern and central sections of the State, of which one will be constructed in the Sacramento valley to take care of flood waters, while another unit will be started at some point further south.

Reviewing history of the movement for bettering water conditions in the State, including the appropriation of $200,000 by the State Legislature for a water survey and the movement to create a $100,000,000 fund to complete the work which resulted in the passing of this sum by Los Angeles and San Francisco, each for $50,000, Mr. Barlow brought the cheerful message that the State Engineer had a full corps engaged in this work and fully expected that the State engineering department will be ready to make a complete and full report before the session of the State Legislature.

He then stated that by June 1925 they fully hoped to have made a real start in this great movement, adding that "having put their hand to the plow the California State Irrigation Association will never turn back until the project is realized."

Membership in the association is to be enlarged with reduction of membership fee from $5 to $1. The association wishes to go before the State Legislature with a backing of 40,000 or 50,000 members.

CREAMERY TO BUILD BRANCH AT GLENDALE

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

GLENDALE, Sept. 25.—Plans for the establishment of a $100,000 branch of the Los Angeles Creamery Company, to care for the firm's business in Glendale, the San Fernando Valley, was announced at Thursday's meeting of the Glendale Rotary Club in an address by R. Jaffe, advertising manager of the concern.

Glendale, he stated, forms a logical location for the proposed branch, and as soon as the plans are completed the full details of the project will be made known.

DAVIS PROMISES CHANCE FOR ALL

Democratic Leader Talks in Native State

Says Respects to Strategy of Republican Chiefs

Feels Confident of Victory in November

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

CHARLESTON (W. Va.) Sept. 25.—Amid the familiar surroundings of his early political life, John W. Davis, Democratic standard-bearer, today told the people of his native State that it would be his ambition if elected President to give the American people a government "honest from top to bottom," in which laboring man, farmer and consumer would all feel they were being treated on an equal basis.

Speaking of the political outlook in the United States, Mr. Davis declared, he found "very promising" during his recent tour, and added that he had every expectation of triumph in the November election. Speaking of the agricultural situation, Mr. Davis said he had learned while traveling through the Middle West that 50 per cent of the farmers in fifteen agricultural States have either lost their farms by foreclosure, have mortgaged them to their credit-men or are staying on simply because of the mercy of those to whom they owe money.

In his address at Charleston today Mr. Davis paid his respects to the Republican campaign management.

"The strategy is quite unique," he said. "It consists in the first place of silence. We are confronted this year for the first time in American politics with the theory that the way to win a battle before the people is to keep quiet.

"Then when silence gets a little bit thin their predictions of demise appear. And when that fails we have the 'bogey man' again. Now, with great respect to my Republican friends whom I love and revere and whose candor, sincerity and honesty I concede without reserve, those who manage their campaigns are the most ingenuous creators of political scarecrows the world has ever known."

Taking exception to statements that the campaign is between the Republican party "that wants to save the Constitution" and those under Senator La Follette "who seek to destroy it," the candidate said the American people this fall will choose the road they would travel for four years.

ULSTER SPEECH RILES IRISH

Conservative Parliament Member Asserted to Have Encouraged Force Against Free State

BY HUGH CURRAN

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

[Copyright, 1924, by the Chicago Tribune.]

DUBLIN, Sept. 25.—Indignation prevails in political circles today regarding the speech made by Enniskillen by Crawford Greene, English Conservative member of Parliament. The Enniskillen meeting was to protest against territory being transferred from Northern Ireland to the Free State.

Greene was one of a party of members of Parliament visiting Dublin for the week-end. He immediately went north and at Enniskillen delivered a speech which is interpreted as an incitement of the north to use force.

"He who hits first hits last," declared Greene. He further promised men and money from England to help.

"Do you think," he said, "that any politician would be so mad as to ask British soldiers to fire on people who have the Union Jack over their heads and 'God Save the King' in their mouths?"

A high government official today told me that this was no ordinary shriek of a Paris politician in the north, but he considered it an attempt of a responsible Conservative statesman to prejudice the course of justice.

Another authority stated it was wicked for anybody to urge an appeal to the gun at a time when feeling is so tense and dangerous that an explosion may occur at any moment.

The incident is said to parallel events in 1913, when English Conservative leaders like Carson, Birkenhead and Bonar Law backed Ulster in its revolt against the Asquith home-rule action, which ultimately never functioned. It was this revolt, as former Prime Minister Lloyd George recalled a few days ago at Penmenmawr, which finally decided Germany to launch the World War in 1914.

It is likely that the Free State government will take serious note of Greene's speech and possibly make representations to the British Prime Minister.

La Follette Ideas Hit by Cummins in Iowa Speech

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

OTTUMWA (Iowa) Sept. 25.—United States Senator Albert B. Cummins of Iowa, in an address here tonight, struck out at what he termed the two "principal phases of the platform and well-known policies of Senator La Follette"—government ownership of railroads and rescinding the power of the courts to declare an act of Congress or of State Legislatures unconstitutional.

"Senator La Follette's proposals change so vitally the Constitution and institutions of our country," Senator Cummins declared, "that we ought to fight them with all our vigor, not for the coming Presidential election, but for all time to come."

WORLD RECORD IS SET BY ZR-3

Craft Rushes Through Air at 112.5 Miles an Hour

Sets Out on All-Night Tour Before Essaying Sea

Expects to Stay Up Thirty or Thirty-five Hours

BY GEORGE SELDES

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BERLIN, Sept. 25. — All world speed records for airships were shattered today when the "American Zeppelin" ZR-3 rushed through the Marburg-Cassel stretch at 180 kilometers (112.5 miles) an hour.

The ship is making its thirty or thirty-five hour final test flight. All conditions have been arranged to resemble the crossing the Atlantic Ocean to America, which under present plans, will be attempted within a week. Ballast was replaced with food, oil and gas, so the weight would be equaled. The Zeppelin started out in a rain, flew through heavy cloud banks, encountered winds and wind pockets such as are expected over the ocean.

Messages wirelessed from the ship during the day and tonight declared the motors were all functioning and everything is in good order.

The test is routed over Friedrichshafen, Heidelberg, Frankfort, the Island of Heligoland, one of Germany's former great submarine, Zeppelin and airplane bases in the North Sea; Kiel, Hamburg, a cruise over the Baltic Sea, Koenigsburg, Berlin, Dresden, Bayruth and home. An opportunity is being given a vast part of Germany's population to cheer the air king.

Heidelberg was reached in three hours, despite bad visibility and bad weather, necessitating low travel. Frankfort was reached an hour later.

The Zeppelin passed over Hamburg at 5 o'clock this evening and was over Keil at 7 o'clock, headed for the Baltic Sea, where it will pass the night cruising. Heavy rains and storms are predicted for early morning in Berlin.

A multitude of lights at the stern makes the airship resemble a phantom liner.

JAPAN LINE EMPLOYEES QUIT IN BODY

Nippon Yusen's Staff in Shanghai Lays Wrecking of Morale to Chief

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SHANGHAI, Sept. 25.—Fifty-two managers and assistants and Japanese members of the staff of the Nippon Yusen Kaisha, the largest Japanese government subsidized shipping concern in Shanghai, resigned in a body today, following similar action in other parts of the world.

In a declaration given out to the local press they state that the Nippon Yusen Kaisha was built up through forty years of work and government support, but with the assumption of office by the present president condition had become unbearable. They accuse the president of building up a private clique in the company, lacking in morale, and to have destroyed the traditional system of personal relations.

They state that Japanese shipping and business is in a critical condition, when it is most imperative to co-operate and develop the prosperity of the company and the nation. They demanded the resignation of the president and reforms in the company, but those have not been heeded, and therefore they announce their resignations and state the case to the public.

Three Indicted for Thefts at Camp Sherman

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

COLUMBUS (O.) Sept. 25.—The Federal grand jury, in session here today, returned indictments against Myron Rose, a Cleveland and Milwaukee contractor, and two of his employees, Lawrence C. Williams and Albert J. Phillips, on charges of wholesale theft of government property at Camp Sherman, Chillicothe, O.

The indictment charged the three jointly "unlawfully, knowingly and wilfully did steal, take and carry away certain valuable property of the United States at Camp Sherman."

LARGE VERDICT RENDERED

CLEVELAND, Sept. 25.—What is said to be the largest award made in Cuyahoga courts this year was made to Rudolph Farkas, 41 years of age. He won a competence of $37,500 for the loss of a leg in an automobile accident. He had sued the Cleveland Laundry Company, whose automobile collided with a truck on which Farkas was riding, for $75,000.

For the Living Room Floor of Armstrong's Straight Inlaid Linoleum

The Waxed Linoleum Floor Is Beautiful

Waxing also adds to the life of linoleum—keeps it good-looking, and makes it easy to keep clean

THREE things have been done in recent years to make linoleum a superior floor suitable for any room in the house:

First, a better way of laying linoleum—cementing, which insures an unbroken expanse of smooth, quiet floor surface.

Second, waxing linoleum—a method that improves its beauty and adds to its life, with much less trouble to the housekeeper.

Third, the beautiful new patterns in which modern linoleum is made have caught the eye of interior decorators and architects.

For these reasons, when you think of linoleum, don't think of it standing in a roll in a store or roughly tacked to a kitchen floor.

Think of the bare wood floor of one of your rooms transformed by one of the new designs of Armstrong's Linoleum. Think of this linoleum as carefully laid by a trained linoleum layer, cemented over a lining of builders' deadening felt which has been pasted to the wood underfloor.

Think of this floor as chosen to harmonize in color and design with your furniture and draperies. Think of your nice fabric rugs laid on it.

Think of the linoleum floor as waxed

New inlaid linoleum should be washed as soon as laid with a mild soap, like Ivory, and then waxed with two very thin coats of wax rubbed in thoroughly and polished with a weighted brush. The thin film of wax improves linoleum as polishing improves a shoe. All dust is surface dust, and brushes right up.

It is no trouble to keep this floor looking its best. It should not be scrubbed or scoured. Touch it up about once a week with a cloth moistened in liquid wax.

As linoleum is waxed from time to time, it mellows and gets better-looking, and will wear for years and years.

Is it any wonder that the modern linoleum floor has gained a new recognition from interior decorators, architects, and thoughtful women as a floor of beauty and economy for any type of room or house?

Let our Bureau of Interior Decoration advise you

If you wish help in planning the decorations of any room, our Bureau of Interior Decoration, in charge of Mrs. Hazel Dell Brown, will send you complete suggestions for color schemes for floor, wall coverings, and draperies for any room or rooms you describe. There is no charge for this service.

Let us send you a sample of Armstrong's Linoleum and a copy of our booklet, "New Floors for Old." This book contains a score of the new designs in full color and information to guide you in selecting appropriate linoleum floors for different rooms.

LOS ANGELES A TEXTILE CENTER

Massachusetts Committee to Investigate Situation

Southern Pacific Earnings $5,000,000 for Month

Dividend Payments Declared; Business News

Advantages of Los Angeles as a textile center will today be presented to members of the Massachusetts Chamber of Commerce by M. H. Merrill, industrial engineer, and C. R. Smurr, industrial agent of the Southern Pacific, who left last night to meet the delegation at Santa Barbara. The party will arrive in Los Angeles this morning, preparatory to investigating the possibilities here of textile manufacturing.

Many of the Massachusetts delegates are representatives of the various textile mills of New England, where the industry was first developed on this continent. Present economic conditions are tending to impel the New England mills to move southward nearer the cotton fields.

Mr. Merrill, who, in conjunction with the local Chamber of Commerce, made an investigation of the advantages favorable to the development of the textile industry here, will discuss with the easterners the conclusions of his survey. Mr. Smurr will present the transportation advantages Los Angeles offers to prospective textile manufacturers.

"The down easterner knows California primarily as the home of the movies and the playground of the nation. He is not aware of the industrial possibilities this section of the country offers to the textile industry," Mr. Smurr said yesterday. "We must tell them that we have other projects than those of the movie and recreation. Mr. Merrill, who was employed by our own Chamber of Commerce to make a local textile survey, is a Bostonian and a specialist in the problems of textile engineering. He knows the needs of the industry. He will present data showing that that the consumption of cotton textiles alone in the Los Angeles market, which includes eleven Western States, is approximately valued at $110,000,000 annually.

"Los Angeles offers excellent advantages to the textile manufacturer and yet the industry has no large establishment here. Cotton fields are just without our gates; fuel oil and electric power are available at favorable rates; we have the labor supply and an all-year market demanding textile goods. The local clothing manufacturing industry has increased rapidly during the last few years and the garment manufacturers alone cut millions of yards of cloth yearly. This condition offers excellent inducement to develop the textile industry here."

All available information offered by various local organizations relative to the industry will be presented to the members of the Massachusetts delegation during their investigation here.

ESPEE EARNINGS

The monthly statement of the earnings and expenses of the Southern Pacific Company for the month of August, made public yesterday, showed railroad operating revenues for the month of $23,523,899.29, and railway operating expenses of $16,324,178.07, leaving a net revenue from railway operations of $7,399,721.22. After deductions of uncollected railroad revenues, railway tax accruals, equipment rents and joint-facility rents, the reports shows a net railway operating income of $5,014,856.24, or a decrease of $400,642.59 from August, 1923.

The statement of earnings and expenses for the eight months ending August 31, 1924, showed a net railway operating income of $26,-704,262.83, a decrease of $4,772,-857.44 from the corresponding months of 1923.

DIVIDEND PAYMENTS

Directors of the United Oil Company have declared the regular quarterly dividend of 2 per cent on the outstanding capital stock of 3 per cent a share, payable October 15 to stock of record October 6. The company also reports that its Haas well is now doing 1000 barrels daily of 25 gravity oil.

Barker Brothers, Inc., announce the declaration of the regular quarterly dividends at the rate of 7½ per cent annually on the first preferred and 7 per cent on the common stock. Both are payable October 1 to stock of record the 15th inst.

DAILY TRADE TALK

Stockmen End Hard Year Happily; Life-Insurance Sales Decline; Business Outlook

J. A. McNaughton, vice-president and general manager of the Los Angeles Union Stock Yards Company, in an open letter to the trade gives voice to a spirit of optimism which, consistently and legitimately developed, has gone far in establishing this as the great western market in the face of extraordinary handicaps.

"There have many times within the last few years," writes Mr. McNaughton, "when the cowman was entitled to let forth a good lusty croak, but his attitude has been more one of stick to the job and carry through, rather than to sing the blues, and indications now are that the time is rapidly approaching when he may be repaid for his perseverance and confidence. Of course, the fate of the cowman has been lamented by some writers, but these expressions usually came from people who were not actually engaged in the production of live stock.

"This has been another hard year, especially in the extreme Western States. Last spring, with another year of drouth and short feed in prospect, it was hard to visualize what conditions would be this fall. However, the producer proved equal to the occasion and by the use of dry feeds has scraped through in better shape than anyone would have imagined, and at the same time has demonstrated that finish feeding is an answer to many of the problems to be solved. It has been amply proven that finish feeding of half-fat stock pays as against marketing any but strictly fat stock direct from the grass ranges. It is evident that finish feeding is here to stay and from now on the western grain-fed animal is going to become a common sight on all of the markets and year by year the cattleman will profit more and more through his progressiveness.

"We know that optimism is all right in its place, but the cowman as a general thing is more of a 'pep-ti-mist' than an optimist. There really is quite a difference, as we heard aptly explained once: 'The pessimist closes an eye, wrinkles his face, draws up the corner of his mouth and says: "It can't be done." An optimist has a face full of sunshine. He beams on you and says "it can be done"—and then lets Joe do it. But a pep-ti-mist takes off his coat, rolls up his sleeves and goes to it.

"It is fortunate for all of us that the cowman is entitled to be called a 'pep-ti-mist.' He has weathered the storms of the last few years and is on the job ready to grasp the opportunities and profits that are in store for him in the future.

"Business at the yards here continues to increase. We are over a thousand cars ahead of last year for the same period and every month shows a big increase in all departments over corresponding months a year ago.

LIFE INSURANCE

August was the first month in which sales of ordinary life insurance for the United States have fallen below the sales a year earlier, since April, 1922, according to figures just issued by the Life Insurance Sales Research Bureau of Hartford. This slump does not seem to be due so much to any change in general business conditions as to the fact that 5000 of the leading life-insurance agents of the country met in Los Angeles and were taken away from their work for from five or six days to two or three weeks. Although this meeting took place in the latter part of July, its effect would be most noticeable in the paid-for business in August. A similar meeting was held in September last year at Chicago.

The sales of ordinary life insurance by companies doing 83 per cent of the total business in the United States amounted in August to $508,289,000. This is a decrease of 6 per cent below the figure for August, 1923. The decrease was quite general throughout the country, only the East, South Central and the Mountain States showing an increase over last year. For the year to date, sales of life insurance are 8 per cent above sales in the corresponding period of last year.

BUSINESS OUTLOOK

Bradstreet's review of local conditions for this week says that there has been little change, and that buying is conservative, tinged with caution. There is a general feeling, the review asserts, that business will continue quiet in most lines until after election. Retailers, however, are doing better than in August, aided by cooler weather, although men's wear is below normal.

There has been increased buying in women's wear and furs. Flour mills report that business has improved 10 per cent over August. Real estate shows signs of life and good subdivision property is again active. Furniture manufacturing and retail sales are slow. Cotton mills report seasonal activity, and the banks still maintain an excellent position, as to deposits and resources. Money is easy for the rancher and for essential industries.

Motion-picture producers are spending liberally although full production has not yet been reached, due to the carry-over supply of pictures still awaiting release. The weather conditions continue favorable for crops. The market for produce is good with receipts heavy and prices fair. Excellent cattle demand tends to higher prices.

CO-OPERATIVE BANKING

The possibilities of co-operative marketing being conducted through clearinghouses in small communities, to aid the farmer and benefit banking conditions, will be among the subjects discussed at a meeting of clearinghouse bank examiners during the American Bankers' Association convention at Chicago, beginning Monday.

The clearinghouse bank examiners will also discuss the scope of a clearinghouse examiner's report and whether a clearinghouse examiner who is a certified public accountant should give the bank the benefit of knowledge gleaned by him through his audit of a borrower's books. Other papers to be read include one on the extent to which clearinghouse examiners should co-operate with other public banking officials and the importance of securing statements of operations, earnings and expenses from borrowers and the best method of obtaining this information.

RUBBER INDUSTRY

Edwin Evans Mentzer, in the course of a review of the rubber industry prepared for his economic service, says:

"Rubber is essential. Its uses constantly increase and broaden. Supply is bountiful, and demand for rubber goods less intermittent. The United States is the largest consumer of crude rubber. Perhaps 70 per cent of the imported rubber finds its way into the automotive industry. Sixty-two per cent is used for tires, 13 per cent, footwear, 11 per cent mechanical articles, the balance surgical goods, water-proof cloth, sundries, etc. The automotive industry still is an infant, not in proportions, but in development. There are some 15,-500,000 registered machines in America, perhaps 80 per cent of the world's cars and trucks, and the whole world begins to motorize. Four million, eighty-nine thousand vehicles were made last year and possibly 3,750,000 may be produced this year. There is room for 10,000,000 more cars and trucks in the United States, if business calamity be avoided."

FRENCH SECURITIES

Public securities issued in France during the first six months of this year absorbed 2,816,466,000 francs, as against 7,952,572,000 francs during the corresponding period last year according to official figures compiled by the National Association of French Securityholders and transmitted to the Bankers' Trust Company of New York by its French Information Service.

The apparently considerable decrease in value of issues made during the first half of this year is due to the fact that, whereas credit national issues account for 5,000,000,000 francs in the 1923 issues, such issues are not included in this year's statistics; as a matter of fact, only one issue was made by the credit national this year (during the month of January) which totaled 1,500,000,000 francs.

Bullish Foreign News on Wheat Stimulates Rise

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, Sept. 25.—European news affecting the wheat situation was strongly in favor of holders, and with removal of hedges against export sales, estimated as high as 2,500,000 bushels, prices advanced in the face of a break in corn to a new low on the present downturn, and closed with net gains of 1@1⅛c. Corn rallied toward the last and finished ⅞ cent lower to ¼ cent higher. Oats were ¼@⅜c higher and rye ⅛@⅜c lower, the switching of the foreign demand from the latter to wheat having a depressing effect.

The trade has seldom witnessed a wheat market like the present one, and the situation is extremely unusual, inasmuch as foreigners have for some time past been feeding the bulk of the bull news, although Europe is the largest buyer of cash grain. Russia has prohibited export of grain for six months, according to Liverpool cables. That market was 1⅝@1⅞d higher, with December selling around 1.57¾, or about 21 cents over Chicago.

While the trade has been looking for a material increase in the Canadian spring wheat movement, Winnipeg led the advance during the day and gained 1¼@2¼c, with cash wheat up ⅞ cent as compared with the October.

Houses with seaboard connections were persistent buyers of futures here, while above 1.36 for December there was free selling, part of which was attributed to a local bull who is going away. The close, however, was at the top, with September at 1.32½, December at 1.36@1.36¼ and May at 1.41¼@1.41⅝.

Corn was firmer early, only to break sharply on a renewal of liquidation, which carried December down to 1.01¼, a new low on the present upturn. Strength in wheat resulted in a rally later, and the close was at 1.03⅝@1.03⅞, with May at 1.04⅝@1.04¾. September was weak and closed at 1.00⅜, with the country offering old corn more than for several days. Weather conditions were generally favorable for the crop. Receipts, 376 cars.

A fair trade was on in oats, with the market largely influenced by the action of corn. The basis on spot was firmer at 1@1½c under December for No. 2 white. Receipts, 151 cars.

The big buying of rye of late has been for the account of the German government, according to reports from the seaboard, which has now advised that it has withdrawn from the market for the time being, but would probably buy again next week. Some exporters claim the latter country will buy freely. For the day export sales were 200,000 bushels. Profit-taking, headed by a local bull who is going away, was responsible for the recession in the futures.

NEW BUYING INFLUX INCITES RISE IN COTTON

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK Sept. 25.—Spot cotton closed 25 points net higher at 24.70. Cotton futures advanced some $4 a bale on the local exchange. At one time the list was up about $5 net under heavy buying by trade interests, speculative shorts and prominent Wall-street interests, which sent prices to the highest levels in several days, but scattered profit-taking in the late session caused an easing off from the top.

METAL MARKETS

Daily Review

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CLEVELAND, Sept. 25.—Daily Metal Trade today says:

"Makers of sporting steel products at Pittsburg, such as strip and cold rolled bars, plan steps to protect their natural market outlets against too severe competition. Although generally steel makers are quoting a delivered price on finished products, but with prevailing Pittsburg prices in mind, yet competition already is threatening to change old practices and wipe out the existing differentials into such territories as New England. Sales of pig iron are of fair volume, but Connellsville coke output jumps upward by 6000 tons weekly. Copper firmer at New York at 13c. Zinc recovers to 6.15c. Lead firm at 7.85c, St. Louis. Tin higher at 47¼c to 47⅝c."

Interest Rates

The decline of interest rates in Eastern money centers several months ago is now being reflected in California where money is becoming plentiful and seeking safe sources for investment. It is becoming increasingly difficult to obtain 6½% to 7% on first class securities and as a result California bond prices are advancing.

We own and offer, subject to prior sale and change in price, the following diversified list of well secured bonds, which are recommended for the investment of idle funds:

Merced Irrigation District 6% Bonds

These Bonds are payable, principal and interest, from a direct unlimited ad valorem tax lien on all lands within the district, and rank ahead of all mortgages, present and future, including those of the Federal and Joint Stock Land Banks.

The total estimated value of property in the district, including property owned by it, is $81,250,000, or over 5½ times the entire authorized bonded debt of the district, which is situated in Merced County in the center of the fertile San Joaquin Valley.

The majority of these funds will be used for the completion of a dam and power plant, to be operated in conjunction with the irrigation project. The entire output of 120,000,000 K. W. H. per annum has been sold under long-term contract at a net annual revenue amounting to more than one-half the annual interest charges on the entire indebtedness of the district.

These Bonds are non-callable and are due serially 1956-1962, inclusive. Price, 102½ and interest, to yield over 5.80%, exempt from Federal Income and California Personal Property Taxes. Circular on request.

BAD CHECKS

On September 2 the registration certificate was stolen from a car owned by Marion C. Dodd. Using this certificate as a means of identification the thief has been issuing a number of bad checks, in most cases drawn on the Hellman Bank. Among the names used on these checks are H. E. Goldsborgh and Harry A. Morton. The crook usually selects oil station or garage proprietors as his victims, buying a small amount of oil or gasoline, giving a check for $10 or $15, and requesting the balance in cash.

Following is a description of this man: Age, 32; height, 5 feet 7 inches; weight, 130 pounds; dark hair; wears a light cap.

The public is urged to be very cautious in accepting checks from strangers and the forery detail at Central Station should be notified if a man answering the above description attempts to cash a check.

BOND QUOTATIONS

Prices Point Upward

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Sept. 25.—Bond prices continued to seek higher levels today with trading marked by active buying of several recently neglected issues. Profit-taking which impeded the advance of high-grade issues was counteracted by a diversion of interest to industrialliens, a number of which gave special displays of strength.

Announcement that deliberations were under way in London between Allied bankers and German representatives over the terms of the international loan to Germany hold foreign obligations firm. Indications of favorable progress in the negotiations promoted some fresh buying of European bonds.

Strength of Peoria and Eastern income 5 1-4s, which mounted 3⅝ points to a new 1924 high at 38 3-8, was attributed to reports that a corresponding rise in the road's shares was based on buying by New York Central interests. Wabash 4s and second 5s responded with gains of 2 to 3 points to a favorable August earnings statement and predictions that dividend action on the company's preferred "A" stock would be taken before the end of the year.

Liberty bonds moved higher on an expanded volume of dealings.

An issue of $15,750,000 Pennsylvania Railroad general equipment 4 1-2 per cent certificates have been purchased by Kuhn, Loeb & Co., subject to the approval of the Interstate Commerce Commission. The bonds, maturing annually from October 1, 1925, to October 1, 1939, are being distributed privately at prices averaging an income yield of 4.70 per cent.

Following are yesterday's high, low and closing prices of bonds on the New York Stock Exchange, and the sales of each bond. This market is over Associated Press wires and to expedite transmission the closing is omitted when it is the same as the low and both low and close are omitted when they are the same as the high.

Sound Security Plus Exceptional Earnings

BOYLE MANUFACTURING COMPANY, Inc., First Mortgage 6% Gold Bonds, are secured by first mortgage on the company's land, plant and equipment, located at 51st Street and Santa Fe Avenue, Los Angeles, and appraised at $741,639.91, or over 3½ times the amount of this issue. Net quick assets are in excess of $634,000, providing a total of $1,375,639, or more than $6800 in sound, tangible values for every $1000 First Mortgage Bond.

The Company has been in operation in Los Angeles since 1898 and manufactures an extensive line of sheet metal products marketed throughout the Pacific Coast and in Arizona and New Mexico, under the trade name of "Boyco."

Net earnings for 1923 were over 13¾ times interest requirements on these bonds and for the past five years have averaged over eight times interest requirements on the total funded debt.

These bonds mature serially 1925 to 1931, and are priced to yield 6% to 6.25%. We recommend them for your investment.

LOS ANGELES EXCHANGE

Fractional gains were recorded in several of the leading oil stocks in the trading yesterday on the Los Angeles Stock Exchange. General Petroleum common was up 1-8 of a point at 40 5-8 and Union Oil Associates annexed 1-4 at 57 3-4. United Oil got as high as 39 7-8, a gain of 1-4 of a point over the previous final price. Los Angeles Investment climbed 1 1-2 cents to 3.60.

On a few sales, San Joaquin Light and Power common jumped 1 1-4 points to 43 1-4, a new high for the year. Bank of America sold at 147 1-2 and Merchants' National at 197 1-2. Edison common was traded in at 98 1-2 and Mortgage Guarantee changed hands at 120.

Sales in the mining list were of minor importance. Gold Dust transactions were executed at 1 1-2 cents, Telluride at 5, Simon Silver at 4 and Oatman Gold at 1 1-2.

Edison and San Joaquin bonds were in demand during the bond trading.

BY HOWARD C. KEGLEY

Taking in competition with the Mariand Oil Company, the Associated Oil Company, and others, the Shell company was awarded a lease on the 140-acre DeFrancis homestead tract in the eastern part of the Dominguez field, according to reports made public yesterday. The consideration involved was not announced.

Immediately on being notified that it was the successful bidder the Shell company began grading sites for three wells to be drilled and in the southwest corner of the lease, offsetting the Associated and Mariand leases and another is spotted one location west, offsetting the United Oil Company's Dominguez lease. The third well is one location north of the corner well, offsetting the Associated Oil Company's DeFrancis lease. A fourth well is located still farther north, but present plans do not contemplate drilling this project immediately, it is asserted.

Competition to secure the right to drill the DeFrancis homestead has been keen since the United and Mariand wells at Dominguez discovered the southeast extension of the field. According to geological data the northern and western part of the DeFrancis homestead may not be productive, but the southwestern portion is regarded as practically proven.

Heavy Oil Sand

About 100 feet of sand formation, showing oil and water, has been penetrated in the Petroleum Midway Company's Rideout-Hamburg well, according to officials of the company. The presence of water in the formation complicates matters considerably, officials assert, and pending the solution of this difficulty the Petroleum Midway's other three drilling projects have been suspended temporarily.

Bottom of the Rideout-Hamburg is at 4040 feet. The Pellissier is now 4431 feet. Witte-Vining at 4321 feet and Seward-Rideout at 4311 feet.

Chamberlain Well Flows

With a flow that soon settled down to 400 barrels of steady production, Chamberlain No. 1 of the Petroleum Midway Company was brought in yesterday in the Signal Hill field from the 4963-foot level. Its production was turned into the tanks at noon today.

Chamberlain No. 1 is located on the northeast corner of Obispo and Pala streets and its completion strengthens the optimism of operators interested in the south slope of the hill.

Two new wells are expected within the next few days by the Shell company, it is reported. They are the Cosgrove No. 5, near the Shell gas-absorption plant, and Dolores No. 3, on the south side of Signal Hill. Both are at approximately 3,000 feet. The Hutton is bailing in production and should be in operation on Sunday.

Dominguez No. 5, a Petroleum Midway well, is standing cemented at 4,000 feet and is expected to become one of the new producers in the local field within the next few days.

Signal-City No. 14, one of the same holes drilled on city-owned property in the Sunnyside Cemetery area, stands cemented at 4095 feet, and operators will drill through the cement tomorrow preparatory to completing the well.

Signal Well Revives

The spectacle of a supposedly dead oil well suddenly coming to life and flowing petroleum in considerable quantities was presented yesterday in the old Los Angeles field, when the E. A. Doheny Oil Company's Bernard No. 5, produced ten or fifteen barrels of oil within a few hours. The well occurred while a crew was cleaning the well out under high pressure of hot water.

The Bernard No. 5 first went on production about twenty years ago at a depth of 1284 feet. Wells in this area were never large producers and for several years past the Bernard No. 5 has never made more than half a barrel to a bailer a day, according to drillers. Recently the well stopped flowing and the company decided to clean out in the hope of increasing production.

Work under the direction of J. Thomas Kerr, using a cleaning apparatus designed by J. L. Carder, Los Angeles mining engineer, went to work on the well and, by the use of hot water under a pressure of 800 pounds per square inch, succeeded in inducing a flow of considerable quantities of five oil.

According to officials of the E. A. Doheny Oil Company a number of wells in the old Los Angeles field are being cleaned out to increase production. This company operates forty-five or thirty of these wells, which are on the pump, one gas engine being sufficient to operate a dozen wells on test, the engine itself being run by gas produced by the wells.

Signal Output Decreases

The production of crude oil throughout the United States declined 3600 barrels a day during the week which ended September 13, the total output was 2,028,850 barrels, California's daily average was 612,800 barrels, a decrease of 1200 barrels, while the output of the Rocky Mountains was 1,426,050 barrels per day. The average imports of petroleum at principal ports for the week ended September 20 were 1,000,000 barrels, compared with 1,000,000 for the previous week. The average receipts of California oil at Atlantic and gulf-coast ports for the week ended September 20 were 95,000 barrels, compared with 94,571 for the previous week.

Signal crude oil was reduced 10 cents a barrel and now is being paid for grade "A" at $1.25 a barrel, grade "B" at $1.05. There were no other changes in the marketing.

Meeting to Meet

The first session of the California section of the American Association of Petroleum Geologists will convene this morning at 9:30 o'clock at Alhambra. The geologists will perfect an organization with the object of obtaining a charter for the association from the national body, and will also discuss matters of petroleum geology and technology.

The sessions will continue during all of today and tomorrow. The principal social event will be a dinner tonight at the Alexandria for the geologists and their wives. Joseph Jensen will be toastmaster of the dinner.

Members of the committee in charge of the meetings are: C. R. McCollom, chairman; R. E. Collom, J. A. Taff, S. H. Gester, J. B. Case, Robert B. Moran and E. D. Nolan.

Wildcat Bails Oil

Officials of the National Securities Oil Company yesterday reported that their wildcat well in Orange county, near Orange County Park, was bailing about 5 per cent oil in its shut-off test. The hole is down 4200 feet, and will not be bailed below 2800 feet for fear of a blowout, it was said.

Well Makes Flow

The Reyes No. 12 well of the Shell Company in the Dominguez field began flowing yesterday at the rate of about thirty barrels an hour during a water shut-off test. The hole is down 3490 feet, and will be drilled deeper into the sand before it is finally placed on production.

How Fires Are Fought by the Newest Devices

THE WATER TOWER

Most large cities have equipped their fire departments with water towers. When elevated, these towers attain a height of from fifty-five to seventy-five feet, and by raising the nozzle a stream can be delivered into a window fifteen or twenty feet higher. Thus their ultimate range of effective work is about twelve stories. The towers in use at the present time are raised by pressure generated in a tank similar to the ordinary chemical tank, or by water pressure, or by springs.

The water tower is probably used less frequently at fires than any other single piece of apparatus and for that reason it should be given close attention in order to keep it in proper working trim. This is often neglected, although experience has shown that if left standing too long the plunger in the tower raised hydraulically or chemically will stick, while in the spring balance type the springs will become gummed from the drying of the oil.

Not a few cities regard the tower as a useless piece of equipment and seldom use it, even where it is needed, simply because the fire department does not understand its operation and value.

A 1¾-inch or 2-inch nozzle is ordinarily used on a tower and is reserved as a rule for extreme cases, as a last resort in checking the spread of fire. The ladder pipe and water tower both may be used to advantage in forming a water curtain between buildings, to reach quickly a fire near a window, in a cornice, or some other place difficult of access and where a large volume of water is not necessary, but rather a small quantity delivered at high pressure.

Guy lines again are a necessity on the water tower, and they should be even more securely anchored than in the case of the ladder pipe. At least one water tower has turned over while in operation because such lines were not provided. It toppled before the engines could be stopped, and the resultant water damage in a piano store across the street from the fire greatly exceeded the actual fire loss. Illogically enough, the department employing this tower used the incident afterward as an argument against this type of apparatus. It is generally a mistake to leave the stream on a turret pipe, ladder pipe or water tower stationary for too long a time; instead it should be moved from window to window and from floor to floor to drive back the fire.

WOOL MARKET

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

BOSTON, Sept. 25.—The wool market generally seems unchanged. There was good demand for all lines. Much of the activity is due to speculation. Sales, 250,000 pounds, principally territorial. Montana wool, principally fine, medium and half-blood grades, have moved at about recent quotations. A sizeable quantity of strictly fine territory clothing wool has also changed hands at recent advances.

EX-SERVICE MEN GATHER HERE TODAY

Ninety-first Division Boys Will Spend Entire Day Registering for Meeting

The Alexandria Hotel today will be a mass of ex-service men of the Ninety-first Division, A.E.F., who will be all-day registering for the fifth annual convention which will be in session Saturday and Sunday. Tomorrow morning and afternoon will be devoted to the registering and designating quarters for the various units and reception.

The Three Hundred and Sixty-fourth Infantry will hold its banquet at Herbert's, while the "Three Hundred and Sixty-third Infantry will be at the Bull Pen Inn. The Three Hundred and Sixty-second officers will be at the California Club and other banquet places will be posted on the bulletin boards at the division headquarters in the Alexandria.

Sunday will be given over to the business of the Division Association and entertainment.

During the morning auto tours throughout the city have been organized, as well as trips to the beaches, a swimming party at Hinnini Baths and various other sports.

At noon Sunday the convention will be called to order at the Vernon baseball park, when the election of officers and the selection of a city for the next reunion will take place. It is expected keen competition will develop between Portland and Seattle for the next meeting.

After the business meeting the park will be cleared for a barbecue, boxing bouts and entertainment from the city's show houses.

Headquarters for the various units will be located in the downtown hotels as follows:

Ninety-first Division Headquarters, One Hundred and Eighty-first Brigade Headquarters, One Hundred and Eighty-second Brigade Headquarters, Alexandria.

Three Hundred and Sixty-third Infantry, Three Hundred and Sixty-second Infantry, Military Post, Stowell.

MEETING TONIGHT TO PLAN BENEFIT GAME

A special meeting will be held tonight at the Del Monte Cafe by members of the general committee arranging for the benefit baseball game and entertainment at Washington ball park, October 26, for the Home of the Good Shepherd building fund. Thomas P. White and Rev. R. E. Lucey will be the principal speakers. J. Walter Clune, chairman of the executive committee, will preside. Leo Bergin is arranging an entertainment program to augment the game. The stellar offering of the afternoon event will be the baseball game between the White King champions and the Vernon Tigers. The former organization is under the management of Charles A. Meyer of the Los Angeles Soap Company.

WOMAN'S FOOTPRINTS IN CAR; WIFE SUES

When Mrs. Irene Martha Parker surveyed the wreck of a car her husband, John Henry Parker of Long Beach, brought home one night, and observed a woman's foot prints on the upholstery, she was naturally curious, according to her complaint in a suit for divorce filed yesterday. A civil question as to what had happened, angered her husband so that he struck her, blackening her eye, she charges.

LOS ANGELES MARKET

CATTLE: Brisk demand developed for the small supply of steers and prices were unevenly higher. Bids to the seventy of steers the last week, values here worked to a high level; in fact, in the general opinion of the trade, higher than the market warrants. Three loads of 1174-pound California steers topped at 9.00, while 899 to 1020-pound steers lacking in finish turned from 7.00 to 7.40. No apparent price change developed in fat she stock and a fair clearance of the moderate receipts was made at about steady prices. Two loads of 1012-pound northern cows topped in bad lots at 4.75, while odd head weighty kinds cashed upward to 5.00. The bulk of cows, including light Altoona and Texas offerings, turned from 3.00 to 4.40, the higher price being paid for northerns. Canners and cutters cleared largely from 2.00 to 2.90. Bulls held steady, most bolognas going over from 3.50 to 4.00.

CALVES: A fair clearance was made on the moderate supply of calves, mostly southeastern, at steady prices. Offerings were largely common and medium 150 to 200-pound range calves from 5.50 to 6.50, with odd lots upward to 7.50. Commons and heavies were fairly numerous downward to 3.00.

HOGS: Very narrow demand existed for butchers and only a few loads had sold up to a late hour. The bulk 140 to 170-pound averages, turned from 11.00 to 11.25, the latter price top, although some ways held higher, but remain unsold. Smooth packing sows cleared largely around 8.75, with roughs downward to 8.00 and below.

SHEEP: Nothing was offered in the ovine division and in the general opinion of the trade, all killing classes are quotably steady.

Divorce Suit Fails; Wife Files Maintenance Suit

Failing to obtain a divorce some time ago, because she was unable to corroborate her testimony, Mrs. Jennie B. Strong yesterday filed suit for separate maintenance against Eugene V. Strong. She charges her husband cursed her and on one occasion vented his temper by throwing her to the floor. The couple were married in Los Angeles in 1905, according to the complaint, and have community property valued at $150,000. They have no children. She asks $50 a week.

JOINT-EASE

Says: "When Joint-Ease Gets In—Joint Agony Gets Out"

It was a high-class pharmacist who saw prescription after prescription fail to help hundreds of his customers to get rid of rheumatic swellings and stiff inflamed joints.

And it was this same man who asserted that a remedy could and would be compounded that would make creaky, swollen, tormented joints work with just as much smoothness as they ever did.

Now this prescription, rightly named Joint-Ease, after being tested successfully on many obstinate cases, is offered through progressive pharmacists to the millions of people who suffer from ailing joints that need limbering up.

Swollen, twingy, inflamed, stiff, pain-tormented Joints are usually caused by rheumatism, but whatever the cause, Joint-Ease is right in through skin and flesh and gets right to and corrects the trouble at its source.

Remember, Joint-Ease is for ailments of the joints, whether in ankle, knee, hip, elbow, shoulder spine or finger and when you rub it on, you may expect speedy and gratifying results.

It is now on sale at druggists everywhere for 60 cents a tube.

ALIMONY DELINQUENT PROMISES TO PAY UP

ATTITUDE CHANGES AFTER NIGHT IN JAIL FOR CONTEMPT

A night in jail gave Sam Blackman an entirely different view of the matter of alimony, he assured Judge Guerin yesterday.

The previous day, in Judge Guerin's department of Superior Court, he had definitely proclaimed that it didn't make any difference how much alimony Mrs. Rose Blackman needed, because he couldn't pay anything, however little.

So Judge Guerin sent him over to the County Jail, in contempt, to think the matter over.

Yesterday he went before the court again with a changed opinion.

"You let me out of jail, judge, and I'll pay up my arrears right away," he urged.

Judge Guerin released him on his promise to do better in the future.

MRS. KLEINSMID TO BE GUEST AT RECEPTION

Mrs. R. B. Von Kleinsmid, wife of Dr. R. B. Von Kleinsmid, president of the University of Southern California, will be the guest of honor at the reception to be tendered by the Associated Women Students to the Big and Little Sisters of the school. The reception will be held this afternoon in the parlors of the president's home. Each freshman woman entering the institution is known as a Little Sister during the first semester, and a Big Sister is appointed to be her special friend from among the older students. Officers of the Associated Women Students also will receive the guests. Ethel Oliver, Pauline Kleine, Ethel Oliver, Ella Morrison, Marion Weed, Constance Bethke, Eleanor Kemp, Helen Sparks and Dixie Wheeler. Ethel Oliver is chairman of the committee on arrangements.

INDICTMENT FOR GARBUTT VOTED

Grand Jury Accuses Him of Slaying Mrs. Hunn

Arraignment is Scheduled for Tuesday Morning

Defendant Declines to be Present at Hearing

An indictment charging Harry Garbutt with first-degree murder was voted yesterday afternoon by the county grand jury after an investigation of the slaying of Mrs. C. S. Hunn in her Pasadena home last Friday. Garbutt will be arraigned Tuesday morning when the indictment is formally returned, according to Dep. Dist.-Attorney Dunlap, who presented the case to the grand jury.

On the advice of his tentative counsel, C. O. Bacon, Garbutt did not appear before the grand jury. Six witnesses were examined. The first of these was Fred Gibson, a friend of Mrs. Hunn's, who was one of the four people said to have been in the bungalow at 90 North Madison avenue, Pasadena, when Mrs. Hunn was attacked with a small hammer and then shot through the body. Gibson repeated to the jury he told the police, that Garbutt came to the Hunn residence in the afternoon, remained for dinner and struck Mrs. Hunn with the hammer and then shot her while Gibson was in the bathroom.

GIRL TESTIFIES

Additional evidence was presented by 8-year-old Virginia Lee Hunn, adopted daughter of the murdered woman, and the third person, other than Mrs. Hunn, said to have been in the bungalow. The little girl's previous story was that she had seen Garbutt take his cap and run from the house while her mother lay on the kitchen floor near the outer door.

Other witnesses who testified were F. W. Latham, landlord of the bungalow court in which the Hunn residence is a unit; Detective Lieutenants O'Rourke and Silver of the Pasadena police force, who investigated the murder and arrested Garbutt, and Miss Nina Kirkhoff, friend of the accused man, who is being held as a material witness.

Dep. Dist.-Atty. Dunnison declared last night Miss Kirkhoff will be held for a few days as a material witness but no charges will be preferred against her.

GIRL'S FUTURE IN DOUBT

One question raised by the death of Mrs. Hunn, which has been settled, is what will become of little Virginia Lee Hunn, adopted daughter. Virginia has never been legally adopted. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. A. Hunter of Halfway, Mich. She may return to them or she may go to Chicago with C. R. Hunn, brother of the murdered woman. The little girl declared yesterday that she would do as Hunn wished. She said she would like to keep Bobbie with her.

Arrangements had been made yesterday for the shipping of Mrs. Hunn's body East, according to her husband. Funeral services were conducted Wednesday night by the undertaking parlors of Berson and Cabot. Interment evening will be in Detroit. Hunn declared.

The safety-deposit box in the Pasadena branch of the Pacific-Southwest Trust and Savings Bank rented by the late Mrs. Hunn was opened yesterday by Deputy Auditor Priddy of the State Treasurer's office in the presence of the Pasadena police department. It was found that the box contained oil stocks and bonds to the value of $5000, but no papers or will were found. The property will be held by Mr. Priddy pending developments.

Only one clew connected with the slaying now remains to be run down by the Pasadena police, it was announced yesterday. This is concerning ownership of the hammer used to beat Mrs. Hunn in the head. Detectives are searching hardware stores here in an effort to find who originally purchased the hammer.

SLAYS ON WOMAN'S DARE

Covina Man Confesses Shooting Young Matron Who Spurned Love and Laughed at Threats

"I told her I was going to kill her. She dared me to do it, and I did," William T. Young, widower with six children, used these words unemotionally yesterday in describing the slaying of Mrs. Jennie Trewett, 31 years of age, of Covina, according to Capt. Hunter of the District Attorney's staff and Capt. Bright of the Sheriff's homicide squad, who listened, they said, to his confession.

Young was caught yesterday afternoon less than twenty-four hours after the murder, by Deputy Sheriffs watching the house of Mrs. Trewett in Azusa. He had previously confessed the killing to Constable Cain, he told the officers, who had gone to San Dimas Canyon to end his life, but lost his nerve.

Young readily admitted, according to the officers, he had been paying court to Mrs. Trewett for many months and had been trying to persuade her to leave her husband. She wavered and finally refused, he said, but finally relented. It was this that determined him to the slaying, he said Young's uncle was said to be looking for him with a gun.

"WOULDN'T RIDE"

Mrs. Trewett was shot down Sunday on Vincent Station, two miles west of Covina, where she lived. She had finished her day's work in the Irwindale Citrus Association packing-house near Vincent Station and was waiting for a Pacific Electric car to take her home. Young had talked with her a few minutes before at the packing-house, got his refusal, and driven his car on toward Covina—"she wouldn't even ride home with me," he said—looked back and saw her standing in the road. He turned his car around and drove to where she was, he said.

"After I fired I saw her stagger and then fall," Young said, according to the officers. "I started my car and beat it."

A woman picking walnuts near by heard the shot and saw Mrs. Trewett drop to the ground. She ran to a telephone. A passenger on the Pacific Electric car, which arrived a moment after the shooting, jumped off and picked up Mrs. Trewett's body. She had been shot through the heart.

PLANNED SUICIDE

Young told the officers, they say, that he drove to his room in Covina after the shooting and then went to Azusa, where he saw his daughter Mrs. Madeline Knieling.

"I told her I had killed Mrs. Trewett and was going to kill myself," he the resolution be referred to the public works committee of which Councilman Wheeler is chairman. Councilman Mallard and Allan Allan laughed aloud.

"I thought so," said Councilman Mallard.

Councilman Allan's resolution was as follows:

"Resolved, that no patent pavement shall be ordered in any improvement ordinance in Los Angeles until the owners of the patent have complied with the following conditions:

First—Shall have filed with the Board of Public Works of the City of Los Angeles a license according to the City of Los Angeles and to any contractor to whom the said city may let a contract the right to buy in the open market any material needed to comply with the specifications for said pavement, and the further right to prepare at his own or any other plant the material to be used. No charge shall be made by the patentee for said license nor for supervision or inspection nor for any purpose whatever other than royalty, and said royalty shall not exceed 15 cents per square foot of pavement, and the specification for patented pavement shall contain any provision that may tend to restrict the number of bidders."

The Municipal League submitted a new communication to the City Council yesterday summarizing the patented-paving controversy as follows:

As a result of the extended hearing you have had upon the question of the adoption of competitive specifications and the inclusion therein of patent pavements, the following facts have been established by uncontradicted evidence:

(1.) That the "patent pavement" included in the present specifications is not made of any patented materials or mixtures of materials, but that the materials and mixtures specified in that "patent paving" can be freely used without the payment of any license or royalty;

(2.) That street grading, when done by a patent-paving contractor, has cost the property owner more than twice, and up to more than two and one-half times, as much per cubic yard as the same grading would have cost the property owner if done by a contractor for competitive pavement, as appears from an analysis of all the street work done in the City of Los Angeles in the first seven months of this year;

(3.) That, as shown by the same analysis, the sidewalk curbing and lateral sewer laying, when done by a patent-paving contractor, has cost the property owner from 1 to 37½ per cent more per lineal foot, than the same work would have cost the property owner if done by a contractor for competitive pavement.

That an asphaltic concrete pavement known as "Type A, Frame Specifications," which it has been admitted and asserted by the attorneys for Warren Brothers, is indistinguishable from Warrenite Bitulithic Pavement, can be made and laid without the payment of any license or royalty. (U. S. Circuit Court of Appeal, Warren Brothers Company vs. C. M. Thompson, et al. 282 Federal Reporter, page 956.)

That it is engineering proposition wholly—one that requires specifications that will give lowest life and least maintenance cost to city streets. Under these circumstances it is inconceivable that your honorable body could now adopt any "patented-pavement specifications" as such, or that your honorable body could do other than adopt a series of specifications drawn by unbiased engineers to meet the physical needs of the city traffic. Very truly yours,

MUNICIPAL LEAGUE OF LOS ANGELES.
[Signed] Franklin D. Howell, President.

DEADLOCKED JURY IN SHEIK TRIAL RELEASED

After being out about twenty-four hours, a jury in the case of J. Addison Sheik, charged with obtaining money under false pretenses in a mining stock campaign, reported to Judge Hahn yesterday that it was deadlocked hopelessly and was ordered discharged. The vote stood 11 to 1 for conviction, the foreman reported. Sheik was indicted in connection with the sale of stock in the Monogram Mining Company, which had a mine near Randsburg. The date for a new trial will be set Tuesday.

ENGINEER TO SPEAK

Dr. Miller McClintock, traffic consultant engineer, will speak Tuesday night at the meeting of the Hollywood Business Men's Club at the Masonic Temple, it was announced yesterday. Dr. McClintock will be introduced by Paul G. Hoffman, president of the Los Angeles Traffic Commission. Officers of the club will act as hosts to the members.

RED CROSS LEADER TO TALK

Dr. T. E. Green Will Discuss Organization Today for Exchange and Friday Morning Clubs

Dr. Thomas E. Green, member of the staff council of the American Red Cross, will speak at the Los Angeles Exchange Club luncheon today at the Biltmore and later in the day will address members of the Friday Morning Club. National and local work of the Red Cross will be his subject.

Dr. Green has been in American public life for the past twenty years. As a journalist and statistician he has traveled over the world. He was formerly associate editor of Hampton's magazine, New York, and is an author.

GOES AROUND WORLD

Since 1917 he has been the national director of speaking service of the American Red Cross. In 1910-11 he journeyed around the world in the interest of international peace, and was delegate-at-large to the fourth American peace conference, 1913; was lecturer for the Carnegie endowment for international peace, 1915-16; and lecturer for the Army Y.M.C.A. early in 1917. Dr. Green has been decorated for distinguished service by many foreign governments, recently having been elected a chevalier of the Legion of Honor of France, which in 1921, had awarded him the medal of honor.

Dr. Green is completing a circle of the Pacific division of the American Red Cross with speaking dates in twenty of the larger cities.

TO SPEAK BY RADIO

Dr. Green will remain in Southern California until Monday, in order to speak at the First Presbyterian Church in Pasadena on Sunday evening. He will leave Monday to enable him to reach Washington, D. C., for the national Red Cross convention, October 6-9, where he is to be one of the principal speakers.

Dr. Green will broadcast from KHJ tomorrow at 9:45 p.m. He is accompanied by Mrs. Green.

NOBLEMAN IS MOURNER OF WET ERA

Spanish Marques Predicts Latin-America, However, Will Oppose Prohibition

It fills him with sadness to visit the United States now and think of the good old days before the enactment of Volstead's justly celebrated law, Marques Del Merito of Madrid suggested to newspaper men yesterday.

The marques, who is a scion of one of the old families of the Spanish nobility, is the owner of extensive vineyards in the Province of Cadiz and one of the largest exporters of sherry in Spain.

"Prohibition in America has cut into our business a good deal," he observed lugubriously. "This country was one of our best customers. Now it never buys a nickel's worth."

Del Merito is on his way home after a tour of inspection of the agencies of his firm in Central America and Mexico. He believes there is no prospect of prohibition in those countries, though it is understood President-elect Calles of Mexico favors the abolition of liquor. Nor does he place any credence in the statements made here recently by Lord Conyngham of England that that country will be forced into prohibition before long to maintain the efficiency of its population so it can meet the competition of the United States.

"The Latins have used wines so long that it would be almost impossible to change them," he said. "The same is true of the Britons. We have observed no signs that the English consumption of liquor is falling off. In fact, that country is now one of our best customers."

RESERVE OFFICERS TO MEET HERE NEXT YEAR

The 1925 State convention of the Reserve Officers' Association will be in Los Angeles. This announcement was made here yesterday by Lieut. Col. R. P. Tisdale, president of the State body, who has just returned from San Francisco, where the convention was held last week. This city received high recognition at the San Francisco conclave, which elected Col. Tisdale chief executive. Lieut. Col. George H. Chase was elected treasurer; Lieut. Col. O. C. Wyman, secretary, and Capt. Leo D. Daze, judge advocate. All are Los Angeles men. Lieut. Ralph Scott and Maj. Leslie Bryant, also of this city, were named to the State council.

Massachusetts Chamber Party Due Here Today

A special train bearing about 100 representatives of the Massachusetts State Chamber of Commerce will arrive in Los Angeles at 12:30 o'clock this afternoon to remain until tomorrow night as guests of the Chamber of Commerce and the Massachusetts Society of Southern California.

The party left Boston the 8th inst., for a tour of the United States, has visited all the principal cities of the Middle and Northwestern States and is now on the way to San Diego.

The party will be met at the Southern Pacific station today by Charles A. Cooke and other representatives of the local chamber and a committee representing the Los Angeles Massachusetts Society headed by President H. M. Loud.

The visitors will spend the day in conference with local business men and will be entertained at dinner tonight at the Ambassador. Tomorrow they will be guests of the Chamber of Commerce on an automobile tour of the city and will depart for San Diego at midnight. From that city they will start for Chicago via Salt Lake City, Denver and Omaha.

Two Sikhs Get Jail Sentences Also Deported

Judge James's department of the United States District Court looked like a scene from one of Talbot Mundy's novels yesterday at the trial of two British Indians charged with entering this country without passports. The prisoners were Sikhs. While they had had United States Army haircuts, their friends who crowded the courtroom wore the cream-colored turbans and full, curly beards that mark the true Sikh.

The prisoners were Sucha Singh and Gabid Hundu. They were convicted by the jury and sentenced to serve seven months in the Riverside County Jail, after which Immigration Department officials will see that they leave this country.

Their story was ordinary, except that it contained an humiliating admission—for a Sikh—that they had been held up and robbed of the money supposedly paid for their delivery into this country.

Sucha Singh, in relating their adventure, told how they had come to Mexico by way of Cuba, and found their way to the Lower California border at Mexicali..

COVINA MURDER SUSPECT TAKEN

self. I told her I was going up in San Dimas Canyon and to tell my son to get the younger children and bring them up there. I wanted to say good-by to them," Young continued. After waiting in the canyon awhile he started back to Mrs. Knieling's home, missing his son and the children on the way. Learning they had gone to the canyon as he had directed, Young retraced his steps and met his offspring near the canyon entrance. He kissed and hugged them and bade them farewell. Then he decided to postpone suicide.

"I went back to my room in Covina and spent the night there with my son," he said. "In the morning I went back to the canyon, but I lost my nerve about killing myself and decided to go back to my daughter's."

Capt. Bright and Deputy Sheriffs Neighbours, Monteleone, Modie, Catlin, Allen, Sweesey and Stensland had surrounded the Knieling home. Neighbors and Monteleone saw Young approaching through an orange grove and covered him with sawed-off shotguns. He surrendered without protest or resistance, and admitted the slaying at once, the officers said.

MET RELATIVE

He said he had planned to go riding with Mrs. Trewett Monday night, but something happened to prevent, and he went to a spot near her home and waited, hoping to see her. Her husband's uncle, Clyde Turner, spied him there, he said.

"I seen we were going to have trouble, so I left," said Young. "Then later I heard Turner was looking for me with a gun and I figured I'd leave again and stay gone. But I decided to go back to the packing-house and see Mrs. Trewett again.

"She said she wouldn't go on a ride with me. She told me to go see her husband and he would settle with me. It was then I told her I'd kill her, but I didn't—not then. When I turned back I told her again I would kill her and she said 'go ahead.'"

Oscar Trewett, husband of the dead woman, told the officers after the shooting that he had complained to his wife of her acquaintance with Young and she had promised to give him up.

TWICE ARRESTED

Young was arrested in 1917 on an assault charge, according to police records, and again at a later date for violation of the Wright Act. He is 40 years of age, but looks younger. Young readily identified in the Sheriff's office the pistol with which he did the shooting.

Deputy Sheriffs Monteleone and Neighbors said Young remarked when he was arrested: "There isn't much to this as far as I am concerned. Just a little trouble between me and my girl. I lost my temper and shot her."

The inquest into Mrs. Trewett's death will be conducted today at the Custer & Christiansen morgue at Covina.

construction is expected to be started on the $544,000 big Santa Anita reservoir. The next job to receive consideration will be the big Dalton reservoir. Within a few months it is expected several projects will be under way.

"So vast is the program of work that lies ahead of the board in connection with the flood-control work that we have felt justified in retaining the services of the man we believe to be the greatest practical engineer in the country," Chairman McClellan of the Board of Supervisors, declared after the conference in which the arrangements were made. "The responsibility upon us is too great for us to fail to take advantage of every opportunity to secure safe and careful guidance in our work."

BERMUDA'S STRENGTH IN ONION CROP

Visitor Says Island Also Known for Its Firewater, Honeymooners and Wind

The strength of Bermuda lies in its onions, of which powerful quantities are shipped annually to the United States, according to Mrs. J. R. Conyers of Hamilton, Bermuda.

Mrs. Conyers, who is visiting Los Angeles and is a guest at the Biltmore, added that other pleasant features of the little island are its strong winds and its potent waters.

"During the month of September, when we have our tropical storms, it is no uncommon thing for the wind to reach a velocity of from 140 to 175 miles an hour," said Mrs. Conyers. "As for our strong waters, mainly of Scotch origin, Bermuda is one of the leading repositories for this commodity within a reasonable distance of the American mainland."

She stated that visitors from the United States are very numerous, explaining that most of the Americans who come to Bermuda may be divided into two classes, the arid or the newly married.

"It was always a favorite resort for honeymooners," she said, "for the island is a romantic place, with its vivid foliage, its snow-white roads and buildings of coral rock, and especially its enchanting moonlight. But since the advent of the Volstead Act, I am of the opinion that the number of the arid surpasses that of the newly married though both are plentiful."

BUILDERS LEAVE FOR PARLEY IN SAN DIEGO

A conference of officials of the various builders' exchanges of Southern California will be held today in San Diego to take up subjects of paramount interest to the organizations, according to Paul F. Langworthy, secretary-manager of the Los Angeles Builders' Exchange, who left last night to attend the meeting. The cities of San Diego, Los Angeles, Long Beach, San Pedro, Santa Monica and Santa Ana will be represented at the conference, which is scheduled to be held in the Spreckels Building at 1:30 p.m.

KENNEDY HOME IS STRIPPED

Auction of Slain Son's Prized Possessions Renews Grief of Parents; Bidders Make Merry

Memories so poignant were awakened by the surroundings and objects of their home at 2859 Francis avenue that Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Kennedy have been unable to reside there since the slaying of their son, J. Belton Kennedy, three years ago. Yesterday the household furnishings and prized possessions went under the auctioneer's gavel in preparation for the leasing of the house.

Mr. and Mrs. Kennedy saw cherished articles pass into the hands of strangers at a pittance of the real worth. There were approximately 100 persons ready to bid when Charles Hammond, auctioneer, began his harangue of figures.

Fine Haviland chinaware, carved Chinese teakwood chairs, gold-plated candelabra, marble statuettes and the usual furnishings of home were put for auction.

PLAYTHINGS GO

But the pathos of the auction concerned small articles that were the playthings of J. Belton Kennedy as a child, years and years before the tragedy on the steps of his Beverly Hills cabin, when he was shot to death from ambush. His murder, which resulted in the trial and acquittal of Madalynne Obenchain and Arthur Burch, was one of this city's most sensational crime mysteries.

A little desk of cherry oak, purchased for Kennedy when he was 7 years of age—a quaint little Chinese drum—a small billiard table—these and other like objects, the sight of which brought renewed grief to the parents, were sold.

The tremendous sorrow that existed in the background of the auction was invisible to the bidders, most of them women, who chatted and laughed in high spirits. And Hammond, with his mop of red hair, talked in staccato sentences, interspersing quips and jests that added to the general good humor.

MOTHER SHOWS GRIEF

Kennedy moved through the rooms with the quiet dignity that distinguished him all during the turmoil of the period subsequent to his son's death. And Mrs. Kennedy, showing the signs of permanent grief, sat in the living-room, a silent, saddened woman, who cannot for a moment forget her terrible bereavement.

Kennedy sauntered out to the rear yard. The yard is neatly kept and there is a small arbor of slender trees, plants and flowers in the center. There is also a large dog kennel—empty.

"This was Togo's kennel," said Kennedy. "Togo was Belton's dog, a beautiful Scotch Collie. Togo died a year ago—of old age. He was 13 years of age. He used to crawl over to our new home on Ninth street near Vermont at 2 and 3 o'clock in the morning. He would scratch at the screen door until I let him in. I would pet him a little and then take him back there to the kennel."

The auction began at 2 p.m. yesterday and lasted until the dinner hour. It was resumed at 7:30 p.m. and continued until fairly late at night.

PHONE HEARING IS CONCLUDED

telephone engineer for the commission, suggests the following:

Segregate the city much as the company suggests, but give unlimited telephone service from each of these outlying districts with the downtown area, only charging toll in calling from one outside area to another. He also proposes a lower schedule of rates: Unlimited business telephone service at $11; measured service for seventy-five calls; $5 with 5 cents for the next seventy-five calls; 4 cents for the next seventy-five messages, and 3 cents per call thereafter; residence telephone charges, $4.50 for individual line; $3.50 for two-party, and $3 for four-party lines.

It has been conceded generally by experts that the company must be given more revenue. The company lost $1,152,000 last year through operations and accumulated a deficit over a period of seven years of $18,633,719. If the company's proposed rates are put into effect they will return approximately $5,000,000 more a year than the present schedule.

Expert witnesses for the opposition have stated that the company is increasing its efficiency and that its cost of operations is gradually declining. It has been suggested that a new schedule of rates should not be fixed until the company reaches a normal level.

In his closing speech before the commission, City Attorney Stephens said it was the intention of the interests representing telephone users to retain the services of John G. Wray and Cyrus Hill, Chicago experts, to work out a permanent plan for taking care of the telephone problem in Los Angeles.

SERVICE PRAISED

Railroad Commission engineers who have made an independent study of the telephone condition here testified that the service which the company now gives is of a high standard and cited that while 634 complaints were made for each 1000 subscribers in January, 1923, there were only 130 complaints for 1000 in July, last. The company was said to be in a position to install new telephones more rapidly now than has been the case for some time past.

Much criticism has been voiced by the opposition over the contract which the local company and other associated companies have with the American Telephone and Telegraph Company. Under this agreement the Southern California company pays 4½ per cent of its gross revenue in exchange for all services the parent company renders. John Dillon, telephone engineer for the city, contends that the local company will pay under the proposed rates $453,788 more than the services cost the parent company to produce. The telephone company asserts that while it would pay approximately $700,000 to the American company under the new rate schedule it would save in return more than $2,000,000 annually.

Progress Made in Planning New Elks' Clubhouse

Progress in the completion of preliminary details for the erection of the new Elks' home on the southwest corner of Sixth and Park View streets is being made, according to an announcement yesterday by Michael Shannon, president of the organization.

All bids for the construction of the structure have been rejected, but the Scofield Engineering and Construction Company has been retained to build the clubhouse as agents for the lodge, pending the completion of a contract suitable to the club.

Plans for the building are being prepared by Curlett & Beelman, architects. Tentative plans provide for the erection of a clubhouse costing more than $1,000,000.

NEIL ON PENSION TOUR

Judge to Open Drive For Mothers' Aid Laws in Bay City

Judge Henry Neil of Hollywood left last night for San Francisco where he will open a State-wide campaign tour in the interests of mother's pensions. Mrs. Wallace Reid, assisting Judge Neil in the campaign, will also speak in San Francisco.

Judge Neil will urge that the California laws on mothers' pensions be changed so as to conform with other State laws which he says, are more efficient and helpful. He plans to speak in every large city in the State before closing his tour.

PLEDGE AID TO RICARD MEMORIAL

Knights of Columbus of Sixteen Councils Back Observatory Project

Pledges of undivided support were given by sixteen councils of the Knights of Columbus of Los Angeles and surrounding cities at a mass meeting last night in the local Knights of Columbus Hall, 612 South Flower street, in the interest of the Ricard Memorial Observatory campaign by officers and membership of the council's represented.

Rev. Zacheus J. Maher, president of Santa Clara University, told the gathering of the wonderful progress that is being made by the Knights in Northern California. Father Maher, a former pupil of Father Ricard, told his audience of the untiring efforts of the "Padre of the Rains" in the interest of science and mankind during a half-century's labor.

Harry Mulcrevy, County Clerk of San Francisco, who is chairman of the Ricard finance committee, asked the fullest co-operation of Knights of Columbus in Southern California. He told his hearers that the Knights of Columbus planned the erection of an observatory, which, when completed, will be one of the finest structures of its kind in the world.

State Deputy White of Los Angeles, who arranged the mass meeting, stressed the necessity of the active support of each officer and member of the entire order for the success of the project.

A vaudeville and vocal program was given by professional talent from the leading Los Angeles theaters.

Rehler Is Found Guilty of Plot for Bankruptcy

A jury in U. S. Dist. Judge McCormick's court last night brought in a verdict of guilty in the case of H. J. Rehler, charged with conspiracy in anticipation of bankruptcy. Rehler was accused jointly with H. J. Mueller, owner of the Visalia Furniture Company, which has a head store at Visalia with branches at Fresno and Bakersfield. Mueller pleaded guilty some time ago.

The case revolved about the removal of $15,000 worth of the company's stock, which the prosecution held had been discovered in a Main-street establishment here and had been shipped here in expectation of bringing an action for bankruptcy before the trustee in bankruptcy.

The prosecution's case was complicated by the suicide at San Francisco on the 15th inst., of Arthur Collyns, a one-time employee of the firm, who was to have been the prosecution's chief witness.

ELECTION CONTESTED

Sierra Madre Man Attacks Bond Vote in Action Against City

Declaring the bond election conducted in Sierra Madre August 26, last, to raise funds for certain improvements in Municipal Improvement District No. 1, was irregular, Alanson L. Phelps yesterday brought a contest of the election against the city and the Board of Trustees.

Phelps declared the contemplated improvements were not specified in the bond ordinance and he also asserted the election officials failed to post a great register sheet at the polls. According to Phelps, the bonded indebtedness of the district, as it now stands, equals the asserted valuation of the property in the district.

RITES FOR MISSIONARY VETERAN TOMORROW

Funeral service for Rev. Charles E. Cowman, president of the Oriental Missionary Society, will be conducted at Trinity Missionary Church, Lemon Grove avenue and Hobart Boulevard, at 2 p.m. tomorrow. Mr. Cowman was a missionary in Japan for twenty-three years and died at his home, 256 South Hobart Boulevard, early yesterday morning. He had been ill a long time with heart disease. He is survived by his widow, his mother, Mrs. Mary Cowman of Long Beach, and a sister, Mrs. J. F. Strong of Long Beach.

4 out of 5 are victims

These are the odds you fight in the battle against Pyorrhea. Four out of every five over 40—as well as those considerably younger, too—are afflicted with this sinister disease. Will you be a victim?

Protect your gums and save your teeth

Just as a ship needs the closest attention under the water-line, so do your teeth under the gum-line. If the gums shrink, serious dangers result.

The teeth are loosened. They are exposed to tooth-base decay. The gums themselves become tender and bleed easily. They form sacs which become the doorways of organic disease for the whole system. They often disfigure the mouth as they recede.

Prevent Pyorrhea with Forhan's

If used in time and used consistently, Forhan's will prevent or check its progress. Forhan's is safe, efficient and pleasant-tasting. It preserves gum health, corrects tender gum spots, hardens gum tissues so they will offer proper support to the teeth, and keeps your mouth fresh and healthy.

Forhan's is more than a tooth paste; it checks Pyorrhea. Thousands have found it beneficial for years. For your own sake ask for and get Forhan's For the Gums. At all druggists, 35c and 60c in tubes.

DAWES PLAN AID ASKED BY JENKS

Institute Head Urges Buying of European Bonds

Optimists' Club Told of Chaos in Old World

Appreciation Fund is Boosted $250 at Meeting

Addressing Los Angeles business men on the moral and financial support due to the Dawes plan by buying the well-secured foreign bonds now offered, and by investing in American industries, Dr. Jeremiah W. Jenks, chairman of the board of directors of the Alexander Hamilton Institute, told members of the Optimists' Club at the Biltmore yesterday that the next two years will be a crucial period for Europe, and that America's opportunities for world service and financial gain are virtually unlimited.

Introduced by Dr. Remsen D. Bird, president of Occidental College, who told of Dr. Jenks's valuable service as research professor of government and public administration to the New York University, the speaker began his address with a tribute to Henry M. Robinson of Los Angeles who, he said, played a strong hand in the formulation of the Dawes committee report, "the most important political document since the peace treaty."

PROBLEM IS GREAT

"Today all European nations are safe in dealing with America, either a financial or advisory way, because they have confidence in America's unselfish intentions," said Dr. Jenks. "It was this trust on the part of Europe that led to the appointment of the Dawes committee. The acceptance of the committee's report was a marvelous achievement in the face of the financial and political chaos and racial and racial bitterness of the Old World. The problem was a complicated one and the Dawes plan will doubtless be modified, but the plan contains provisions for changes and provides for the appointment of other boards which shall include American representatives.

"I appreciate the reasons for the launching of the Dawes plan. It was necessary to consider conditions in Europe for three years prior to the committee's appointment," said the speaker, who proceeded to give an account of the various state of the continent, which, he said, was due largely to racial hatred and political distrust among the factions of each and every government.

"Three years ago industrial and agricultural Europe showed only about 40 per cent of its prewar normal efficiency, due to want of capital, lack of machinery and labor unrest," said Dr. Jenks. "Within the last two years conditions generally have improved, yet no country has returned to its prewar basis. The same thing is true regarding financial conditions, for, in spite of improvements, no country today may be said to have balanced its budget, and to have obtained a perfectly sound monetary system. An illustration of the statement may be noted in Austria, in which country today the borrower is charged 18 per cent on money which he promises to return in present currency, although one may obtain loans at 10 per cent on a gold basis."

AMERICA TO RESCUE

Declaring that partisan feeling in Congress, free America is in a state comparable to the disunion and bitterness evidenced by political factions in the Old World, Dr. Jenks said that the "failure in democracy" have prevailed and abused their power, often having brought their countries to the verge of ruin. As an instance, he cited the case of Germany, in which country the reactionary establishment of the eight-hour day and the heavy and inequitable taxation of wealth resulted in diminished production and decreased state revenues.

Dr. Jenks spoke of the bitterness of feeling existing between France and Germany prior to the invasion of the Ruhr and of the change of that spirit of acrimony following the invasion of the Ruhr. The position of both countries, during the Ruhr occupation, were openly predicting war, admitting that the only way to avert a conflict would be the beginning of another world holocaust was measured by a rich, strong and impartial nation," said the speaker. "With such requirements no country excepting America could comply and the United States faced the situation and acted with credit to this nation and for the furtherance of international prosperity and good will."

FLIGHT FUND BOOSTED

A feature of the meeting yesterday was the collection, by the Big Brother committee, of $260.60 for the Southern California fund for the world flyers. Federal Judge Bledsoe, chairman of the board, introduced Don Tyler, winner of the national oratorical contest, who delivered his prize oration on the Constitution." Following the address Judge Bledsoe mentioned the fact that four years ago less than 50 per cent of American citizens cast at the Presidential election. Every member of the Optimist Club pledged themselves to register and exercise the right of franchise at the November election.

Yesterday was perhaps the first day in the history of American courtrooms that a man was fined by a Federal judge for the "crime" of accepting an appointment as a delegate. The imposition of the fine followed the announcement by Judge Westervelt, president of the club, that at 4:30 p.m., next Monday at the Ambassador, Dr. Clarence True Wilson and Rupert Hughes would debate the subject, "Why Should Good People Go to Church," and that Bill Guyton will be the victor of the verbal conflict.

"I cannot understand why these two intellectual gentlemen would enjoy debating on this subject and why they probably will say what they say, but I can't understand why they would choose such a subject as Bill Guyton," said Judge Westervelt. "For this unearned publicity you are fined $5 for the Optimist charity fund—Judge Guyton."

A 15-year-old boy telegraph operator of Williamstown, Mass., broke a record by handling press matter at the rate of 1500 words a minute during the Institute of Politics session.

Justice Relents After Veteran's Record Is Cited

Shortly after he had been held to answer yesterday by Justice Baird on a charge of issuing worthless checks, W. A. Green fell in a faint on the floor of the courtroom. While friends were attempting to revive him, Justice Baird was told of his heroic record as a major in the Canadian Army during the World War.

Green, it was said, was gassed and wounded and at the time of his arrest was under the care of the Canadian Veterans here. A wound, which necessitated an operation on his spine, witnesses testified, caused him to act irrationally at times and it was believed he was not quite himself when he is asserted to have forged four checks for $100 on the First National Bank of Garden Grove.

When the new light was thrown on the case, Justice Baird expressed a desire to help the unfortunate veteran and allowed his friends to take him to a hospital on his own recognizance.

BRIDGE PLANS PUSHED

New Anaheim Viaduct Will Give Roads Harbor Route

City Engineer Griffin yesterday was instructed by the City Council, under a resolution introduced by Councilman Allan, to proceed with the estimates of cost and plans for the viaduct to be built at the crossing at Domingues Creek and Anaheim Boulevard in the Wilmington district. The viaduct will cost about $500,000, and will be paid for by the railroads and Harbor department belt line, the tracks of which will pass under the viaduct, and by the county, Los Angeles and the city of Long Beach and adjacent assessment district. The purpose of the viaduct is to enable the railroads to enter the outer harbor district under Anaheim Boulevard and thus avoid the creation of a grade crossing at this point.

OPERA LEADERS PLAN GREETING FOR SINGERS

Directors of the Los Angeles Grand Opera Association will meet today to discuss plans for an official welcome for singers of the Metropolitan and Chicago Grand Opera companies, who are coming here to appear for the local organization. The singers are now in San Francisco with the Bay City Opera Association and are scheduled to arrive here October 6. That evening they will open the season with a performance of "Andrea Chenier" at the Philharmonic Auditorium. A large delegation, including opera founders, city officials and music lovers is expected to greet the singers at the Southern Pacific Station.

MEXICANS REPORTED HEADING TO STUDIOS

Attracted by misleading articles in Mexican newspapers about the mythical opportunities in Hollywood for screen aspirants, hundreds of Mexicans are heading toward Southern California, according to a letter received by Jack Warner of Warner Brothers from a Mexican official. The newspaper atricles are signed by Mexicans who say they are highly paid motion-picture players, but a check of larger studios showed that they are unknown here. Warner communicated with the Hollywood Chamber of Commerce which sent information and statistics on employment conditions to various newspapers throughout Mexico.

FURNITURE EX-CASHIER ACQUITTED OF THEFT

J. G. Hallissey, former cashier for the Overell Furniture Company yesterday was acquitted by a jury of a charge of embezzlement, brought against him when funds of the company were found to be short. Although witnesses stated before Judge Hahn that Hallissey had charge of all funds, the jury stated after a short deliberation that sufficint evidence had not been presented to show any criminal act. Attorney Paul Schenk represented Hallissey.

BUSINESS MEN WILL LEARN SPORT ETHICS

The ethics of sport will be applied to business and business methods today, when four sportsmen address a gathering of the Junior Chamber of Commerce at a luncheon at the University Club.

The speakers are Woodworth Clum, manager of the Shopping News, and Coaches Henderson, Calland and Hunter of the University of Southern California. Their topics will be "Ethics and Sportsmanship." Howard Miller, secretary of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, is in charge of the arrangements for the meeting.

THE INVASION

Alaska Indians are using motor boats instead of canoes and they are learning to fox trot to the music of phonograph records. The American invasion brings spice and activity wherever it goes.

CARELESS DANCING

Even the dancing masters shudder. The convention of the American Society of Dancing Instructors officially reprimanded "the pagan abandon and moral laxity" of the average high-school dances of today. If the teachers call it that there must be something wrong somewhere.

NO PARKING

For the gathering of the American Legion the city of St. Paul made special traffic regulations. In a district more than a mile square in the heart of the town no parking of automobiles or running of street cars was permitted at any time. The citizens found it delightful—while it lasted.

FUTURE VALUES

When airplanes are as cheap, safe and plentiful as Fords it should make a difference in land values. The country has its radio and its continuous communication with the world. Quick transportation will make the country another suburb of the city. Rural property is thus likely to increase in value.

PAYING THE PENALTY

An East St. Louis woman has been sentenced to ten years in a Federal prison for peddling drugs. If all dope venders are given equally stiff doses of legal medicine the highways will be gradually cleared. A ten-year term seems like harsh punishment for a woman, but the situation calls for severe measures.

LONG SERVICE

At the age of 97 an Ohio woman is still peeling two barrels of potatoes a day. She does this for a Cincinnati restaurant and this has been her regular task for thirty-eight years—or ever since the death of her husband. She may be truthfully said to have a life job at it. In her time she has sliced over two trainloads of spuds, which would have fed Gen. Sherman's army for a month. This venerable unjacketer of murphys may retire on reaching her century mark, but does not indicate any immediate intention of so doing.

WOMAN'S WORLD

One of the scientists at the Smithsonian Institution figures that woman is still a drudge. Mostly he derives his conclusions from the fact that there is still a lot of hand work in the kitchen and there is no complete electric equipment in the house. When everything in the home can be accomplished by electricity the emancipation of woman may be said to be at hand. It is not enough that she may brew her coffee, brown her toast and curl her locks by means of the electric current. She should be able to sit in an easy chair and accomplish every household task from winding the clock to putting out the cat by merely pushing a series of electric buttons. Not until then will the emancipation of woman be complete. At least this is the way it looks to the professor. He is speaking of the physical and not the mental or moral emancipation.

WORK OF A TRICKSTER

The prowling hand of a designing political trickster may be seen in the groundless rumors concerning Secretary Wilbur. He is too sturdy a statesman to be in the least disturbed by generalities, but it is nothing short of malignant misrepresentation to say that in his Avalon speech before the California Bar Association he "denounced the Volstead Act." He merely took exception to the provision of the act that gives power to imprison a man for one year without trial. Let the objectors stand up. Secretary Wilbur is as fearless as he is strong and learned in the law. He at the same time took a similar stand concerning the Red Light Abatement Act. Yet no man will have the temerity to say that he has an iota of sympathy with either of the flagrant abuses at which these laws are aimed.

RESCUE THE PERISHING

In the co-operative marketing of perishable products the farmer and gardener will have a lot to learn before they can dispense with the middleman. Georgia peaches were sold in New York this season for as high as $8 a bushel, of which the grower received 80 cents. About $6 of it was said to have been represented by packing, sorting, trucking, distribution and waste. The consumer must, in the long run, pay for all the losses caused by spoilage and the weather, although he does not know it. Under the right sort of marketing there would be no flooding of trade centers with the various crops. The fruit, for instance, would be marketed progressively and there would be a survey of the field, the yield and the demand that would be studied every day in order to regulate all shipments. In the long run the consumer would pay less than he is doing now; he would get better stuff and the producer would get a much bigger percentage of the total price. California orchardists have made much progress in the direction of scientific marketing, but there is still much to be achieved.

LA FOLLETTE CLASSIFIED

The supporters of Senator La Follette in California should welcome the decision of his leaders to have his candidacy for President of the United States submitted to the electorate of this State by the Socialist party. Chief Justice Myers and Associate Justices Waste, Shenk and Richards of the State Supreme Court, in ruling that the California election law does not permit the Wisconsin radical to place an independent electoral ticket on the November ballot, were concerned only with the legal aspects of the case, but their judgment has resulted incidentally in clarifying the issues of the Presidential contest.

Party designations or self-coined appellations designed to label a man or a movement are seldom absolute in application, but La Follette, certainly not a Republican, obviously not a Democrat, and meaningless as an "independent," is best described in his present adventure as a Socialist.

Morris Hilquit, New York Socialist and manager of the La Follette campaign in the East, says that, regardless of what La Follette says of himself, he is a Socialist and has been a Socialist for twenty years. Victor Berger, the Socialist Congressman from Wisconsin, likewise approves the Wisconsin Senator's Socialistic doctrines. The Socialist party has formally indorsed his candidacy for the Presidency.

La Follette himself, while sufficiently crafty to denounce the relatively weak Communistic group in this country and thus make a bid for liberal support, has accepted the Socialist backing and has presented a set of political principles and policies acceptable to the Socialist party.

It is altogether fitting, therefore, that as a Socialist he and his cause should be judged. In this State the issue is drawn between Coolidge and Dawes, the Republicans, Davis and Bryan, the Democrats, and La Follette and Wheeler, the Socialists, with a shade of I.W.W.ism injected by Wheeler. Developments here indicate that all radical elements, even the Communists whom, for the sake of appearances, he denounced, are feverishly working for La Follette, but none more so than the Socialists.

Notwithstanding the anguished protests with which the La Follette supporters greeted the decision of the Supreme Court, they expected nothing else and never did expect anything else. Their whole effort to land their candidate on the printed ballot against what they themselves recognized to be the law was a clever bid for the sympathy accorded a supposed under dog. They will use the decision as another argument in favor of upsetting the courts and the government, citing it as proof of the oft-flung charge of the soap-box spellbinder that the courts are the enemies of the common people. The wires were not cool from carrying the Supreme Court's decision before that cry arose from every quarter of the State. It came just a little too quick to be unstudied and spontaneous.

It is doubtful that the normal Democratic vote in this State will be cast in the Presidential election this year, and if such a development does occur, the decision of California voters will be made as between Coolidge and La Follette.

The Republicanism of Coolidge is as positive and as vigorous as is the Socialism of La Follette. Aside from his own character, personality and capabilities, each man stands for certain principles and for a cause. Those who are sincere in their espousal of the principles secretly or openly indorsed by La Follette should, in equal measure with those who oppose such principles, gladly herald this opportunity to decide the issue fairly and without subterfuge.

CRIMINAL MINORITIES

The oft-repeated assertion that "every man has his price" is open to debate. Myron T. Herrick recently stated to The Times that at the outbreak of the World War while Ambassador at Paris he loaned personally to stranded American tourists more than $200,000. With few exceptions this was promptly repaid and those unable to meet their obligations wrote and told Mr. Herrick the reasons why. There has been published lately a compilation of the losses sustained in the United States each year as a result of dishonesty. The figures are calculated to disturb one's faith in one's fellow-man.

Reassurance comes from an experiment recently made in Cleveland, where 1000 persons, chosen at random from the telephone directory, were given $1 each in such a way that if they had a sense of honor they would feel it incumbent upon them to return the money. Eight hundred did return it; that is, four out of every five upon whom the experiment was made proved to be scrupulously honest.

There is absolutely no reason to doubt that the overwhelming majority of people are upright.

The dishonest work havoc and cause losses so greatly out of proportion to their numbers as to create the impression that they constitute a far greater percentage of the population than is the case. Three and one-half billions of dollars are taken from the American people annually by crooks. Operators of bucket shops, sellers of worthless securities and manipulators of land swindles and confidence games take $2,000,000,000. This figure is arrived at by a comparison of estimates of the president of the New York Stock Exchange and a representative of the Associated Advertising Clubs. The annual embezzlement loss is placed at $125,000,000 and the burglary loss at $525,000,000. The figures are based on estimates of the heads of thirty-one surety companies. The annual loss from forgery and check-raising is said to exceed $100,000,000.

Worthless checks cashed by merchants add $100,000,000 to the losses incurred from dishonesty. The National Association of Credit Men places the annual loss through fraudulent bankruptcies and other dishonest schemes of dodging creditors at $5,400,000,000.

Much of the responsibility for this enormous loss due to criminal practices rests with the criminal courts of the country—mostly with the juries, but some if it with the lawyers and with the existence of laws and methods of court procedure which favor the criminal.

In view of the enormity and prevalence of such thefts and swindles as enter into the compilations cited one might suppose that the criminal classes composed a large part of our population. As a matter of fact, according to penologists, the criminals constitute between 1 per cent and 1½ per cent of the inhabitants, and at all times 200,000 of their number are under lock and key in prison. We hear much about dishonesty, but very little about honesty. Honesty is too common a virtue to excite comment.

TEMPERANCE FOR BRITAIN

When Britain's House of Lords reassembles it will again be confronted by a bill offered by the Bishop of Oxford at the last session and supported by all the bishops, suggesting reform remedies for the liquor traffic.

The bill is not designed to put Britain under national prohibition, but to make for temperance by eliminating the element of gain from the business of liquor selling. It calls for putting the entire production and sale of intoxicating liquors under "disinterested management" and for permitting every electoral district to vote upon the "no-license" question.

Both supporters and opposers of the measure agree that there is a marked decrease in excessive drinking, but those for the measure maintain that this condition would be heightened and show reform to much greater extent but for the "artificial check to falling consumption" maintained by the brewers and distillers.

Lord Banbury endeavored to deal the measure a death blow when he described prohibition in Philadelphia, but the Bishop of Oxford contemptuously likened this to "condemning the channel tunnel because of the inflammability of Zeppelins."

It is interesting to note that all the bishops are agreed that complete prohibition would be undesirable and impractical for England, but that whatever laws are passed would receive infinitely greater respect and enforcement from Englishmen than is ever accorded to their own laws by Americans.

In the meantime the chances for the "Bishop's Bill" and far-reaching temperance reform appear to be excellent. So carefully, reasonably and moderately is the bill drawn up that its proponents see the best possible augur for its passing the Commons—even under a Labor regime.

THE GREAT DISCOVERY

Norsemen in America are peacefully celebrating the discovery of this continent by their famous forbear, Leif the Lucky. In some communities they seem to have agreed upon September 27 as the anniversary, although Capt. Erikson neglected to leave a memorandum of the exact date. The professors are unable to agree upon the identity of the discoverer of this country, much less the date, but the world at large has given Christopher Columbus the credit.

Efforts have been made to prove that Irish monks touched our continent in the eighth century, but serious historians refute this as impossible. Somewhat better proof is furnished of a discovery by a Portuguese adventurer early in the fourteenth century, but it is accepted by few authorities. The saga concerning the journeys of Leif Erikson is, however, considered as good evidence by many. Even if he did not touch foot on the soil of what is now Massachusetts he did undoubtedly spy out Labrador and Nova Scotia. The Vinland, where Norsemen are said to have founded a settlement, following the discovery, is still a mysterious region.

The first white child born on this continent was said to have seen the light there in the year 1003, but there is no birthmark on Plymouth Rock to prove it. According to the saga gossip, the discovery of Erikson was made in the year 1000, when the Norse captain sailed from the coast of Greenland in search of a warmer climate. He finally brought up in land where grapes were growing in profusion and where some fierce-looking natives were seen. The presumption follows that the Norwegian must have landed somewhere between Martha's Vineyard and the Tammany belt in New York. Writers have located Vinland at various points in the New England States, but their work is founded on speculation. That the son of Eric the Red did journey far seas and glimpse our now well-known continent is fairly well-established and if the Norwegians wish to pick out September 27 as the anniversary there be none to say them nay. Rather we should congratulate them. It was a noble discovery from any viewpoint.

THE WORLD'S WINDOW

Opportune Deafness

The occasion of the ratification of the Lausanne Treaty by the French Parliament when Premier Herriot said that Turkey was the daughter of France is seized upon by Le Matin as an opportunity to laud and eulogize Ishmet Pasha. He is called "a master diplomat," "the winner of both war and peace." And "the hero of the oriental drama." True enough Ishmet won every point at the conference. At one stage in the negotiations he departed, but was soon invited to return, only to impose the demands of the grand assembly of Angora on Lord Curzon and the French delegates. Ishmet is stone deaf. Secretaries sat on each side of him at Lausanne. He had to watch their writings and notes to keep track of the procedure. He often followed a speaker by the movements of his lips, it was said. But when Lord Curzon made his final speech, at the end of which he agreed to the Turkish demands, Ishmet needed no secretaries. He smiled broadly and flashed his eyes. For once his affliction had left him.

Napoleon Saw Many Specters

Recent discovery of a tremendous vault with passages, rooms and chapels under the Red Square in Moscow, where the library of Ivan the Terrible and the crown jewels of Sofia, sister of Peter the Great, were found, revives the story of Napoleon, who succeeded in entering certain sections of the crypts during his sojourn in deserted Moscow. It is said that the ghost of a saintly monk rose from its coffin to stare at the Emperor when he descended in the subterranean caves to watch his grenadiers at work in the business of looting and searching for treasure. Napoleon was terrified, but no more than he was in Berlin, where he slept for a night in the Old Palace. Despite warnings, the great Corsican paid no heed to predictions that the White Lady, the ghost that warns members of the Hohenzollern family of their approaching death, would come to haunt him. He stationed guards around his room and one colonel of hussars slept in the room with him. In the middle of the night the Emperor screamed in terror and ran into the corridor in his night clothes. To anxious questioners he would give no answer, but he departed forthwith, saying that he would never return there, we are told by historians. At Austerlitz he also saw a ghost, it is said. But at that time he was out riding in the open in the night before the battle. "Nothing but a stray goat," said Napoleon to his frightened staff officers. Adding: "It's not a bad omen for the morrow, I believe." As to the latter he was right.

RIPPLING RHYMES

THE BOBBING FAD

My niece's hair is bobbed; I view her with alarm; methinks she has been robbed of beauty and of charm. She had the finest hairnere scissors made it drop! No damsel anywhere could boast a finer crop. It waved above her brow, it curled about her neck;
I gaze upon her now and she appears a wreck. But I'm a mossback wight, in love with ancient ways, and nothing seems just right that happens nowadays. When I rebuke my niece for cutting off her hair she answers, "Give me peace—they do it everywhere! At every modern scheme you mossbacks stand aghast; oh, would you have me seem a relic of the past? When other maidens bob you'd have me wear it long, avoid the barber's job and get myself in wrong.
When other heads are shorn you'd have my topknot great, you'd have me feel the scorn of people up to date." Defiantly she talks, defiantly she grins; she's glad she has no locks demanding bands and pins. She almost makes me feel that she's in earnest, too, rejoicing that the steel was sent her tresses through. But sometimes when I pass her room I see her rise and face the looking glass with teardrops in her eyes. Oh, Celia, why those tears? And why that sigh dismayed? Are they because the shears have made your glory fade? You face me with a stare of righteous wrath and say, "I would not have the hair that I have thrown away!"

Mexico City had four dead in the celebration of the republic's Independence Day. Some features of American civilization are being too well copied elsewhere.

THIS IS THE DAY

Vasco Nunes de Balboa, Spanish pioneer, discovered the Pacific Ocean from the summit of a mountain on the Isthmus of Darien in the year 1531. He descended the mountain and after three days' march reached the ocean at a place which he named the Gulf of San Miguel, a name it still bears.

FACTS ABOUT BACTERIA

BY RANSOME SUTTON

We are surrounded and saturated with bacteria, and every time we breathe we inhale bacteria, yet not one person in 100 knows:

That, if bacteria should disappear, mankind would promptly become extinct; that, under ideal conditions, a single bacterium can give rise to 78,000,000,000,000,000,000,000 of descendants within twenty-four hours; that a bacterium can travel about four inches in an hour, which to it is as fast as a mile a minute would be to man, and that it would take 15,000,000,000,000 to weigh an ounce.

Dr. Arthur I. Kendall, dean of Northwestern University Medical School, makes these statements and shows that civilization is dependent upon microbes.

Bacteria are living organisms. Before animals and plants appeared they existed, being able to feed upon gases and lifeless dust. But, as higher creatures change their eating habits and thereby become changed themselves, many varieties of bacteria turned from lifeless to living food and became parasites. Not all the parasites are bad, but all bad bacteria are parasites. They find their way into our bodies and feed upon our flesh. There are three kinds: (a) spherical, or berry-shaped, to which the name "coccus" is applied; (b) rod-shaped, called bacilli, which look like tiny frankfurters; (c) the curved or spiral-shaped kind, called spirilla. As to size it would take 37,000 typhoid bacilli, laid end to end, to reach the length of a kitchen match.

Since the beginning of the Christian era there have been only sixty generations of mankind; but, as bacteria double in numbers every fifteen minutes, sixty generations can arise in fifteen hours. If one germ of Asiatic cholera finds its way into a human body its unchecked progeny would, in twenty-four hours, number 787 followed by a string of twenty-six ciphers. Of course, the patient dies, and the microbes die with him, unless some find lodgement in another susceptible host.

Many kinds of disease-bacteria cannot enter the system through the nose or mouth, but must find their way into the blood stream. The bubonic-plague germ (bacillus pestis) belongs to this class. Its natural breeding place is the blood stream of rats. You could inhale the breath of an afflicted rat without contracting the plague. But if a flea bite the rat then bite you you will find your glands swelling and your brain threatening [illegible]

A DOUBTING THOMAS

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 24.—[To the Editor of The Times:] In this morning's Times is a story from Riverside as to the claims of one "Dad" Conklin and his alleged part in the Custer battle of June 25, 1876. It is stated that he "guided Gen. Custer's forces to the point where they met defeat and death."

I would like to take issue with the writer of this story. The only guide Custer had on this expedition was Charley Reynolds, long one of Custer's favorite scouts and guides, who went into the battle with the Reno contingent and was killed in Reno's fight in the river bed of the Little Big Horn. If Custer had a guide along by the name of Conklin it is a piece of news that historians never heard before. Charley Reynolds was chief guide of the expedition from the time it left Fort A. Lincoln until he was killed in battle. There were other Indian scouts and guides loaned to Custer by Col. Gibbon at the time the Seventh Cavalry left the Rosebud, but no white men except George Herendeen.

This story says, "He (Conklin) guided Custer's men into a little valley near where the Indians were to be attacked. Conklin left Gen. Custer with the understanding that he was to bring reinforcements and that Custer's men were to remain quiet for two days to give the guide sufficient time.

It is very plain that the writer of this yarn knows absolutely nothing about the battle of the Little Big Horn. Where would Conklin go for reinforcements? Gibbon and Terry were marching up the Big Horn Valley, according to a well-defined plan laid out by Gen. Terry, and they were expected to meet Custer on June 26. Crook was forty miles to the south, lying in camp, having met a serious setback at the hands of these same Indians on June 17 on the Rosebud River. The story says "when Conklin returned with additional troops he found the mangled bodies of Custer's men."

Conklin never returned with any "additional troops," unless he went downstream and met Terry and Gibbon coming up—which is very doubtful. The expeditionary commander (Gen. Alfred Terry) knew the Indians were somewhere in the neighborhood of the Big Horn Valley and he expected to entrap them between his own column and that of Custer, but Custer knocked Terry's plans galley west by making forced marches and appearing on the ground a whole day ahead of the pre-arranged time.

I challenge the writer of this yarn to prove that this man Conklin was Custer's guide or that he was even a mule-whacker or packer on that expedition. There was no scout or guide by that name attached to the Seventh Cavalry on this expedition. George Herendeen, a white scout, was loaned to Custer by Gibbon at the mouth of the Rosebud, but he was not attached to the Seventh Cavalry proper. Billy Jackson, a half-breed; Mitch Bouyer, a half-breed, and several Crow Indian scouts were also loaned to Custer by Gibbon.

Charley Reynolds was Custer's only guide attached to the Seventh Cavalry, June 25, 1876. If anybody wants the "proof of the pudding" I can prove it.

and your brain throbbing with fe ver.

During the Boer War, when pe low flags were flying over Cape town and the government was pay ing a pound apiece for dead rats, I stepped on a decaying rat while running to board a ship. Hurrying to my stateroom, I took off my shoes, threw them through the porthole and spent a frightful night. The next morning the glands under my armpits and jaws were swollen and ached. I sent for the ship doc tor. With sponge to mouth he reached a gloved hand through the doorway, felt my glands and said: "You've got it." There was not much time to live, for the climax comes quickly and only a few sur vive. By mid-day, however, the soreness and swellings had disap peared and the doctor permitted me to leave the stateroom. Night mares and imagination had done what the bacillus pestis would have done if a flea from the dead rat had bitten me, save that one re covers from imaginary diseases whereas flea bites, during plague epidemics, usually prove fatal. It isn't the bite of the flea that puts the germ in your blood, however; the flea empties its alimentary ca nal upon your skin preliminary to biting and in the salivary contents of its canal the germs are found. Then you scratch or rub the bite, place to relieve the itching, thereby forcing the germs into the tissues. As between man and rat, bubonic plague germs always prefer the rat and it takes a peculiar kind of flea to carry it to the less desirable host.

Germs which enter the blood body through the nose or mouth, causing whooping cough, pneumonia, scarlet fever, measles, colds and like diseases, may be carried from one person to another. Dr. Kendall found that a single cough or sneeze may contaminate the air in a far corner of a large room in several hours, and in one experiment the germs were carried by the air through a hallway up several flights of stairs.

All germs are good germs which have never acquired a liking for human flesh. The kinds which feed upon other germs are mankind's best friends. Dr. D'Hertelle of the Pasteur Institute has now discovered a species which, upon being injected in human blood, literally destroys the kinds that cause disease. Bacteriophage, meaning bacteria-eater, is the name he gave to this species, which, as bacteriologists believe, can be used to render mankind and domestic animals immune to germ diseases.

INDIAN SUMMER

BY J. J. BOWMAN

She told me that there should be an Indian summer in the winter of all our lives, this little old lady of Los Angeles. No one would have said that she was 80 years of age were it not for the evidence of "Who's Who in America." In spite of her silver hair, this little, young old lady seems anything but old; she is young in her glad gracefulness of her manner, young in her extensive interests and young in her enthusiasms.

Her furrowed cheeks remind one of tear channels; the dainty touch of old lace at her throat and wrists and the exquisite little gown and its colorings bespeak a woman of great heart and understanding. Her presence always dominates and the odor of her violets permeates the air. She is so very dainty that she reminds one of a miniature piece of porcelain.

In looking at her there is always peace and comfort and calm repose. Her calling is to add to the sum of human happiness by healing the heart maladies of men and women.

How she loves Los Angeles! Her dear, wistful smile is always most assuring and her voice is as the tinkling of a mission bell. She enjoys every minute of her life. She will tell you with a smile that every age has its compensations, and she does not know whether or not she is enjoying herself now more than she did in her riotous 40's and 50's.

She gets so much out of life, she will tell you. She radiates the joy of living in this breathing, throbbing world of ours. She does not care for caps of lace to tie about her faded face, she wants to wear bright flowers in her hair. She is thankful that the child spirit still is in her still stays.

During the winter of her life there has come to her a fine vision, the solicitude regarding the inner life and the eternal verities. In looking backward there comes to her blessed, redeeming memories of life so exquisitely tender that often times she must put her hand to her throat to quiet the emotion. She has been fortunate in finding herself in a big garden of beautiful women, and of men who are tender and strong.

She will tell you that this is but one of many phases in the Indian summer of her life. She is thankful that she breathes deep. She is thankful that she enjoys the sunshine, good music, good books and the theater. She is thankful that she can laugh and not just giggle, for she claims that laughter is a positive sweetness of life. She would want to forget forever the clang of the street car and automobile. In the Indian summer of her life she would like to return to a heathendom that worships gods instead of dollars and loves manhood simply because it knows nothing of faithlessness and fraud.

She will tell you, and not sadly, that the candle of her life is not extinguished, but that life has been as a summer's breeze in a meadow, and she found the hidden flowers and set the perfumes flying. She heard the laughter of children and she smiled as a woman smiles. When she smiled there was a look of heaven about her face that listners give to the beloved disciple. She will say to you that for everyone there is an Indian summer coming frequently in the winter of their lives.

Gaston B. Means now resolves all the testimony he gave to the Congressional inquiries. It was hardly necessary; nobody believed it, though a few pretended to.

Program Compared to Cake With Fancy Icing

Knights of Khorassan Band Wins Plaudits of Fans

Catalina Musicians Score; Readings Are Enjoyed

BY CLAIRE FORBES CRANE

Last night our KHJ program resembled nothing so much as a sumptuous layer cake with cream filling, and if any of you do not adore layer cake something must be the matter!

The cake itself was two splendid lands — the Dramatic Order Knights of Khorassan Band, Maj. Arthur Balue conductor, and the Santa Catalina Island Marine Band, George Mulford, director. For filling we had Charlie Wellman and Bill Hatch and George Kind. And as icing—fancy icing at that—Coy Barkley and his Palais Ballroom Orchestra from Ocean Park.

I have often spoken to you of the value of singing societies, bands and all forms of musical organizations which are the outgrowth of orders such as the Knights of Pythias. It is music done for the love of it as a social expression of humanity — and I trust all wives will encourage their husbands to indulge this artistic urge.

BAND IS ENJOYED

Last night the Knights of Khorassan Band played a program which Radioland thoroughly enjoyed. Under the masterful direction of Maj. Balue they exhibited the rhythm and good emotional instincts. Blanche Clay, soprano, sang "The Swallows," and several other light numbers charmingly. W. L. Cooper, flutist, and Harry Elder in novelty numbers, played two outstanding lights in the personnel of the band. An interesting feature of the occasion was a little talk explaining the meaning of the Dramatic Order Knights of Khorassan, and what they stood for.

After a successful and brilliant season the Santa Catalina Island Marine Band, C. H. Porter, manager, and George Mulford, conductor, celebrated their return to Los Angeles by an hour of broadcasting. Their spirit seemed in no wise diminished by their long summer of work. Like all else with which bears the name of Catalina this band ranks among the foremost of the Coast. And last night its beautiful music brought back to us the moonlit nights at Avalon and the smell of salt sea breezes.

READINGS UNUSUAL

George Hood, one of our favorite readers, gave the "Legend of Pegasus" and "John Burns of Gettysburg." Mr. Hood has a facility of discovering unusual readings which always delight us.

Charlie Wellman and Bill Hatch brought back old times to us with their splendid teamwork. Greetings to the Prince of Jazz and his Good Vibes.

From 11 to 12 p.m. was the combined midnight dance party by Coy Barkley and his Palace Ballroom Orchestra from Ocean Park.

It was a great success and we know that many a hostess felt grateful to Mr. Barkley for presiding at her entertainment.

NOON PROGRAM

At noontime George Young, lyric tenor, made his first appearance over KHJ and acquitted himself creditably. His singing of "Macushla" was done in a sincere and sympathetic manner.

Emilia Coronel, whose attractive singing will be remembered on Mexican Independence Day, sent us a pupil for the children's hour, 13-year-old Robert Wirig. Master Robert has a real boy soprano voice and revived our childhood memories of vested cathedral choirs.

Zella J. Dodge, reader and instructor of dramatics gave "The Far-Off Day," and "If I had Time," from "Dumb in June," by Richard Burton of the State University of Minneapolis. We enjoyed Mrs. Dodge thoroughly and also a pupil of hers, Vivian Marple, who made a very good impression on her former appearance.

Of possible interest to the music lovers of Radioland we are publishing this poem by Mrs. Guy Bush:

A POEM

BY MRS. GUY BUSH

(To Dan McFarland, after listening with Mrs. Newkirk and Mrs. Bower to the "Ave Maria" by Carnon, accompanied on the organ by Mr. McFarland.)

In the quiet room we sat alone—
Only a tiny golden gleam of light
Fell here and there on some old painting rare—
On carving quaint and strange—then suddenly
The organ spoke, as if the beauty there
Had flowered into sweet soul-enchantment deep.
Flowed o'er our listening hearts, and then a voice
"That we had loved long since and lost awhile,"
Singing the Virgin's Hymn—it seemed to fall
Straight from the golden throat into our hearts;
And we marveled at the mystery
Of Time and Death defeated—living, sweet
As angels' voices, it sang on and on.
Serene and sure it drifted down to us
From the far, infinite spaces—and it was
The magic of your touch upon the keys
That drew it earthward—Oh, to feel
Again the re-created beauty given
To us in such rich measure! drawn beyond
The visible world of things we move among
To walk for one brief moment higher ground
And feel its air upon us. What you gave
To us in that short hour was indeed
A gift beyond all price or measuring.
For who can measure beauty? Who can buy
The greatest gifts of the spirit—Love, Joy, Peace!

Court's Order Defied by Free Bus Line Head

De Witt J. Brady, president of the Culver City Community Free Bus Line, told members of the Culver City Lions' Club yesterday that he would have to be "handcuffed and thrown in jail" before he would stop the busses.

Shortly before this statement Brady and other officials of the bus line, which operates through Culver City between the end of the Washington-street car line and Venice, were served with injunction papers prohibiting them from operating the busses. They will appear in Superior Court Monday to answer contempt of court charges growing out of their refusal to halt the operation of the free bus line in accordance with the court's orders, which had been issued several weeks ago.

The court action against the bus line was brought by the Pacific Electric Company. The busses are operated on a donational plan.

WILL LEAVING ESTATE TO FRIEND CONTESTED

The bequest by C. E. Reinijes, Pomona, of his entire estate, valued at $8225, to Mrs. Lola Elwood, a friend, was attacked in a contest on his will, filed yesterday by brothers and sisters. His relatives declared he was incompetent and unduly influenced by Mrs. Elwood when he drew his will. Reintjes died January last.

TO CHARGE CUSTOMERS: All purchases on and after September 22 appear on October statements.

The Smartest Suits are Ensemble Costumes

The Suit that triumphs this Fall is an ensemble costume, consisting of seven-eighth length coat and frock akin to it in decoration and color. You will remember the ensemble's first appearance, its acceptance, its general becomingness; and you will realize how much one can mean to you when you see the newer models. Tawny shades were chosen to enhance your loveliness and suede-finished fabrics to bring out their richness most charmingly. These are practical costumes, accommodating for so many occasions.

Wraps of Autumn

Choose Unusual Silhouettes

Fashion saw women wrapping their smart Coats closely about them, achieving a silhouette ever so narrow at the hem and rather full in the waist. Then striving diligently to please them further she designed these Wraps for Fall, which follow the lines of a dolman so closely. Puff sleeves appear occasionally and a lining of plaid enlivens one or two. Follow this mode or choose a straightline Wrap with tunic border of fur—your style-right appearance is assured.

SOCIETY

BY JUANA NEAL LEVY

Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Milbank, Mr. and Mrs. Morris Milbank and Miss Mary Frances Milbank of Wilshire Place left yesterday for the north, motoring up to Berkeley, where they will attend the wedding tomorrow afternoon of Nichols Milbank, Jr., and Miss Dorothy Kinney, which is to take place in the St. John's Presbyterian Church of the northern city. Miss Mary Frances Milbank, who is entering her junior year at University of California, will assist as maid of honor at the wedding, while Mrs. Morris Milbank, a bride of the summer, will be the matron of honor. Morris Milbank will attend his brother as best man. After the ceremony a reception will be held at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Irving Kinney, on Derby avenue, and Mr. and Mrs. Milbank and his bride will motor leisurely south and will make their future home here.

Felicitations

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley W. Smith (Florence Clark) of South Rossmore avenue are receiving congratulations over the arrival Tuesday of a tiny son.

On to College

Miss Fay Harrison of the Victoria Arms is leaving in a few days for the north, where she will resume her studies at Stanford University.

Leaving for Home

Among the attractive visitors to Los Angeles this summer is Miss Bessie Erwin Waddell of Dallas, who since March has been visiting with friends and relatives here and is leaving shortly for her southern home. She is planning to stop en route for a visit in San Antonio, Tex., and will also visit relatives in Houston, where she has hosts of friends who are planning several social affairs in her honor. While here Miss Waddell was the honor guest at numerous affairs, among them being a delightful affair Saturday evening given by Miss Thelma Meyerrose at her home on Monte Vista. After a month's visit in Dallas, Miss Waddell will join her aunt in New York City and resume her studies there this winter.

For Visitor

Mrs. George Davidson Gilmore of Cambridge street entertained with a luncheon at the Montmarte Cafe in Hollywood Saturday, honoring Mrs. Melvin Flavius Terry of New York City, who is her house guest this month. Sweet peas and yellow daisies were effectively combined in the decorations of the table, a low flat blanket of the flowers forming the centerpiece, and hand-made butterflies in pastel shades were the place cards, marking covers for Mrs. Gilmore, Mrs. Terry, Mrs. W. W. Gardner, Mrs. A. C. Perrine, Mrs. F. R. Phleger, Mrs. A. Hanners, Mrs. Berenice Johnson, Mrs. Cyrus Sweet, Mme. Cassomelle, Mrs. A. L. Gossler, Miss Doris Lee Gilmore and Mrs. Grace Kingsberry.

Birthday Anniversary

Mrs. Louisa Dreyfus of 1612 West Twenty-fourth street, a resident of Los Angeles for thirty-four years and a member of the Pioneer Society of California, celebrated her eighty-seventh birthday anniversary recently with an elaborate dinner party at which she assembled the members of her family of sons and daughters from California and Arizona. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. Mose Dreyfus and son of San Francisco, Wilhelm Dreyfus and son Louis of Tucson, Mrs. Simon Heineman of Tucson, Mrs. Julius Phillips and granddaughter, Muriel Head; Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Dreyfus and sons, Wendelin and Chester; Julius Dreyfus, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Carr and son, Bill Harris; Mr. and Mrs. Louis Phillips, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Thomas of Simondale, Mrs. Fred Fleishman, a daughter living in Tucson being unable to be present on account of illness. Mrs. Dreyfus is well known in Los Angeles for her many charitable deeds and untiring acts of benevolence. She was the recipient of innumerable expressions of appreciation and esteem in the way of flowers, gifts and telegrams.

From Northern Trip

Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Allen, Mr. and Mrs. William W. Mines and their attractive young daughter, Miss Patrician Mines, have just returned from a delightful trip through the Canadian Rockies and British Columbia.

Returned here

Prof. and Mrs. Louis F. D. Briols, who formerly made their home in Pasadena and Los Angeles, have returned to the city and are domiciled for the winter at 4284 Rosewood avenue. For the past two years Prof. Briols has been with the University of California in Berkeley, but passed the last few months visiting his native France and traveling through European countries. Prof. Briols is associated with the University of California, Southern Branch.

From Abroad

Among the Angelenos who have been enjoying a delightful summer abroad and are returning home are Dr. and Mrs. E. G. Howard and their attractive young daughter, Miss Katherine Howard; Mr. and Mrs. Theodore L. Stassforth, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Stassforth, Miss Frances Jean Robertson, Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Williams, Mr. and Mrs. M. L. McCray, Judge and Mrs. Robert M. Clarke, Mrs. Etta Mae Ellis, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Edwards, Mr. and Mrs. D. S. Edmondson and Hal Williams. They sailed from England on the Leviathan, arriving in New York the 22nd inst., and are planning to be home in a short time.

Gone Home

Mrs. Stanley Maw who, with her little son Alan Maw, has been enjoying the summer visiting with her brother's family, Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Morphy of Beverly Hills, returned several days ago to her home in Winnipeg, Can. Mrs. Maw, who will be remembered here as Miss Elsmere Morphy, accompanied by her two nieces, Miss Elise Morphy and Miss Elsmere Morphy, were guests during August with the former's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. James T. Friesner (Dorothy Morphy) at their summer home in Montecito. Mrs. Maw, who has a host of friends here, was the honor guest at many charmingly arranged affairs during her several months' visit here.

From Extended Trip

Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Behymer, accompanied by their sister, Miss Behymer, and daughter, Mrs. Roy Malcolm, returned home yesterday after several months' delightful trip abroad. They visited in all the important cities of the continent and the British Isles.

In Gotham

Mr. and Mrs. William M. Campbell of Los Angeles, who are touring the eastern coast, enjoying a delightful fortnight's stay in New York City, are domiciled at Hotel Chatham.

OFFERED COT IN CORNER

"A cot in the corner and a place to eat," was the offer made to her by way of reconciliation by her husband, Lester J. Fountain, according to Mrs. Hazel B. Fountain, who was granted a divorce yesterday by Judge Clork. This offer, such as it was, she said, followed his desertion of her.

BURGLAR WILL AID IN RECOVERING PLUNDER

After Cecil L. Thomas pleaded guilty yesterday in Judge Crail's court to a charge of first degree robbery, he was remanded to the custody of Detective-Lieutenants Thompson and Hamilton in order that he might aid in clearing up a number of burglaries in the city. The detectives stated that Thomas had knowledge of where plunder valued at more than $2500 had been hidden. Thomas admitted burglary of the Nettleton Shoe Company store at 432 West Sixth street on July 17, last. He was permitted to file an application for probation, hearing on which will be given on October 16.

SERVICE TESTS LISTED

The Los Angeles County Civil Service Commission announced yesterday examinations for the following positions: Junior civil engineer draftsman, October 25, at 8:30 a.m.; senior civil engineer draftsman, October 4, at 8:30 a.m., and engineering clerk (male,) October 4, at 8:30 a.m. All examinations will be given in Room 1007, Hall of Records.

SHRIMP SALAD

Mix in a cold bowl rubbed with a clove of crushed garlic two cupfuls of peeled cooked shrimps, one cupful of peeled and diced cucumber, one cupful of diced celery, one chopped hard-boiled egg, half a cupful of chopped ripe olives, one teaspoonful of salt, one tablespoonful of capers and a half a cupful of lemon French dressing. Mound on lettuce covered plates, mask with mayonnaise and garnish with strips of pimiento.

PEAR PIE

Peel, core and slice six firm ripe pears, place in a saucepan, add half a cupful of sugar, and two tablespoonfuls of water; cook slowly until the pears are tender. Line a pie tin with a good pie pastry, fill with dry beans or another pie the same size and bake in until lightly browned. Fill the bake shell, the cooled pears, cover with a meringue and brown in a hot oven.

POTAGE CRECY

Heat three tablespoonfuls of butter in a saucepan, add four peeled and sliced carrots, four peeled and sliced turnips, four small onions stuck with one clove each, half a teaspoonful of celery crushed and placed in a small bag, and half a cupful of chopped raw ham; shake over the fire until nicely browned. Add slowly seven cupfuls of good beef stock and simmer until all of the vegetables are soft. Rub through a sieve with the back of a spoon into a clean saucepan, add a seasoning of salt and pepper and simmer twenty minutes. Place a tablespoonful of cooked rice in each plate and fill with the soup.

BREADED VEAL CUTLETS

Have the butcher cut six cutlets from a leg of veal half an inch thick, dip them in seasoned flour, then in beaten egg, and cover with sifted bread crumbs. Heat two tablespoonfuls of butter in a shallow baking pan, lay in the prepared cutlets, dot with bits of butter and bake in a moderate oven until tender. Serve on hot plates with tomato sauce.

FRUIT SALAD

Mix one cupful of pitted and seeded Tokay grapes with half a cupful of chopped red cherries, two-thirds of a cupful of sliced and diced oranges, half a cupful of diced pineapples, two-thirds of a cupful of diced celery, half a cupful of broken walnut meats, two-thirds of a cupful of mayonnaise salad dressing. Mound on lettuce covered plates and garnish with whole grapes and cherries.

ZABAJONE

Place in the top of a double boiler the yolks of six eggs, three tablespoonfuls of sugar, set on the fire and whip constantly, adding slowly, four tablespoonfuls of strained orange juice, and cook until it is thick and frothy, but do not boil. Remove from the fire, add in the grated rind of one orange and serve hot in tall glasses with sponge cake.

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS

SUNLIGHT CURE

Mrs. P.—Keep your little boy out in the open air as much as possible and with few clothes on, so that he can have the direct stimulation of the sun and air on his skin. For direct exposure to the sun, begin not more than five minutes twice a day, morning and afternoon, and then gradually increase the exposure until he is thoroughly tanned, and that he can stay out for much longer periods. The human plant, of all other plants, needs sunlight the most."

His mouth breathing, after his destructive tonsils and adenoids have been removed, is probably due to habit and you will have to strap up his chin every night until it is overcome. Are you sure his nose is not obstructed? Better have him examined again, for sometimes adenoids recur.

For making the chin strap: Put a strip of cloth under his chin and over the top of his head, and pin around his forehead, pinning the two together on both sides. That will prevent them from slipping.

For the local treatment of catarrh: First, thorough cleansing of the nose. A strong atomizer containing a salt and soda solution (a pint—one teaspoon of salt and one teaspoon of baking soda to the pint of water. After this cleansing, use some antiseptic oily preparation with the atomizer. A good formula is: Menthol, five grains; camphor five grains, and liquid petroleum, four ounces. If it seems to irritate at all use twice the amount of liquid petroleum.

The child's diet is extremely important. He should have the following foundation diet every day: Protective foods: Three glasses of milk (at least.) One cupful of vegetables (especially the green-leaf vegetables) part raw. One cupful of fruit, part fresh.

Energy Foods: Cereals, including whole grain breads. Fats in the form of butter, cream, egg yolks and nuts.

REDUCING WHILE NURSING

"Dear Doctor: I am about fifty pounds overweight. I have five children and nursed them all, and with each child I got heavier. I am nursing my baby now. Would it hurt him if I went on a diet?

"I live on a farm and do lots of heavy and outdoor work besides housework. I have lots of trouble with cramps in my body, legs and arms, and I must be careful how I move or else a cramp will start somewhere at once. What can I do for this? I see no trouble excepting perhaps overwork and overweight.—Mrs. A. B."

No, it will not harm your baby for you to reduce while nursing him. That is, provided you do not eliminate from your diet the foods which make good milk: i.e., milk containing the elements your baby needs to build with. You should have the equivalent of one quart of milk a day (and when I say "equivalent" I mean you can take it in the form of puddings, custards, cream soups, and so forth) for its complete portein and calcium, for the baby's muscles and teeth; some cream and butter (especially if you do not take whole milk) for its growth and antirachatic vitamins; fresh vegetables, especially green-leaf vegetables, spinach, lettuce and so forth; and fresh fruits for their growth and antiscurvy and antineuritic vitamins and mineral elements; some nuts, some whole wheat bread and whole grain cereals, egg yolks.

Your history is the history of many mothers who become overweight, under the impression that it is necessary to eat a good deal in order to have good milk. It is necessary to eat some more than normal, but eating very much more oftentimes defeats the purpose, and the milk is poorer rather than better.

Your cramps may be due to your overweight and you probably have a degree of acidosis from overeating of breads, sweets and meat. Eat very little bread and cereals, take potatoes instead. They are a nonacid-forming food. The booklet on reducing has been sent to you if you inclosed a self-addressed, stamped envelope and 10 cents in stamps with your request.

Tomorrow—Monthly Form Letter

My Dear Fellows: When sending for material which we offer you, please remember to inclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope bearing your full name and address. The pamphlet on reducing and gaining is the only one for which you must inclose 10 cents in stamps extra. Address your letters to me in care of this paper. Make them as brief as possible, but over 1500 words, and type or write them legibly with ink. Please sign your name as evidence of good faith—we will not use it in any way. Remember it is impossible for me to diagnose for you or to answer you personally. I appreciate very much the beautiful letters you send me and regret it is impossible to give you individual advice. The questions you ask will be answered in the column as soon as possible, if they are of general interest. Don't forget the stamped, self-addressed envelope if you expect me to send you the information I have offered.

McCORMACK TRIAL SET

State Witness in Langley Killing is Accused of Robbery

Clifford McCormack, former operative for a private detective agency, yesterday pleaded not guilty in Judge Keetch's court to a charge of robbery. His trial was set for October 17. McCormack was the principal witness for the State in the trial of Godfrey Cowdrey for the murder two years ago of Joseph Langley, manager of the Alvarado Theater.

Statements by Godfrey relative to his asserted relations with McCormack led to a District Attorney's office investigation, which resulted in the robbery charge being preferred against McCormack.

McCormack is accused of taking $18, March 24, 1923, from E. C. Fitts, operator of a Los Angeles railway bus.

TIPS

Some people can tip elegantly, as to the manner born.

Others again tip with a certain vulgar ostentation.

And some perform the difficult rite with snipful reluctance.

But I am one of many thousands of crude souls whose intentions are perfectly honorable, even reasonably generous, and yet fail to tip with comfortable delicacy.

If only I had been born aristocratic, with a comfortable consciousness that these persons are menials and therefore to be patronized.

If only I had been born rich that I could distribute largess with such magnificence that any insult was easily outweighed by munificence.

As it is the paltry tipping within the scope of my sadly inadequate purse seems such an incredible insult to confer upon some one who may so reasonably be better off than myself, quite as socially valuable, and more than likely my intellectual equal.

Take that young lady, who, for party occasions, occasionally concerns herself with the beauty of my hands. Right off the reel her hands are infinitely more charming, well groomed and distinguished than my own. Her clothes are generally more fashionable and of a superior quality. Her worldly wisdom exceeds mine in many particulars. Yet at the close of the interesting ceremony in which we have usually become very intimate, some awkward subconscious voice prompts me to add at least a quarter to the market price—for that very superior young lady. But I hesitate awkwardly, our social relations are blurred—especially when I find I haven't a quarter, which I could perhaps have slipped discreetly beneath a finger bowl, but am under the crude necessity of getting change—and thus bestowing small insult openly.

At first I was so confused on this question that I went out and bought a 35-cent bunch of violets for the young lady instead. I have never quite understood the sphinx-like smile of restrained politeness with which she received them. On the next occasion I saw a more socially assured person in furs and diamonds, tip the young person a dime—quite openly, without any complicated emotions whatsoever. And everything seemed perfectly de rigueur. Yet when my turn came I simply could not bring myself to insult that nice young woman with a dime. I pictured my own emotions if anyone tipped me with a dime. I recalled my passion for democracy—a democracy I have come to fear that nice young persons like that manicurist do not appreciate at all.

Again there is a peculiarly efficient capable person at the Turkish bath place. A person that sees one in one's altogether and cannot possibly have any menial respect for one. In fact, I have suspected her of regarding me as a piece of steak in a frying pan, to be basted, prodded and turned over at will. Even in her sheet she has an air of authority. I would shudder to affront her. Yet, as I lie down on the slab, suffering her drastic ministrations, I certainly see a little tin can full of quarters and halves. And I heard her tinkle the last one into it with an emphasis that I could not fail to note. It must be a hint. Yet can it be? Again, having no purse with me under these denuded circumstances, I have to return later with my coin. I feel shamefully insulting. I slip it into her hand slyly, talking about something else. But, oh, she is so practical in accepting these insults. She even looks at the thing, while answering my persiflage absently. And anyway, I leave wondering if I am a piker or an impertinence.

It is the same with these lordly males that wait upon one at stylish eating places. Some one once told me it was quite comme il faut to tip 10 per cent of the value of the bill. So, when my fairy appetite only runs to 60 cents or so a dime should be munificence. Just as I am wavering, I observe some male customer tip the creature a quarter for bringing him a 25-cent box of cigarettes. And I gaze at that superior lordly waiter personage in anguish. Dare I tip him at all, and if so, dare it be less than "crisp new paper?" I end up by strong-mindedly compromising on a quarter, feeling that my luncheon was unnecessarily costly, and know that, no matter what the lordly creature thinks about it himself, I have really shamefully belittled his manhood.

I have always had the greatest sympathy with the young man who, upon his first voyage, found the stewards lined up with palms out, just before landing time. He shook hands with them all with fine friendliness and hoped he'd sail on their ship again some time. But they didn't. Like Pooh-bah, they yearned for nothing but insults.

On the other hand, when one has perched the tipping system thoroughly into one's self, you are quite liable to visit an automobile service station. Now some service stations are tipful and others emphatically are not. My repugnance to insulting tipping always seems to be overcome at one of those that are not. My half dollar is haughtily returned to me with the information that it just isn't being done at these particular stations. And often one has received services one cannot otherwise pay for. The snub is kind—but definite. But at the next service station the rule is otherwise. And here I fall again. And really the snub one gets when one doesn't tip where one should have tipped is vastly more disturbing than the snub one gets for tipping where one shouldn't.

It is really quite complicated. I really don't like either insulting or being snubbed by my fellow man. Life will never be quite happy for me until there are fixed involable rules that I can learn on the subject. One cynical friend of mine snorts: "Oh, when in doubt tip." But that doesn't seem reasonable in democratic America. Besides, even when one tips them, these underlings have a clever air of putting one in the wrong. In my case, I am afraid the tip is never quite large enough to make them grovel—as tipped persons should grovel.

As it is, I seem to do all the groveling. I grovel when I tip and I grovel when I don't. I feel like apologizing for either insulting them or not insulting them.

I am perfectly willing to tip menials to the furthest extent of my purse, if they will only grovel. But if I have jolly well got to do the groveling I want to do it on the cheap. But I can never muster up pluck enough for that. So I do the groveling. Dash it all, some one must grovel in shame when tips pass—in a world safe for democracy.

FUGITIVE PAIR SEIZED

Omaha Couple are Charged With Fleeing in Rented Car

William B. Henderson, 26 years of age, and his wife, Peggy Henderson, 20, were arrested here yesterday by Detective Lieutenants Smith and Jackson as fugitives from justice. A telegram from Omaha, the detectives said, reported they had left that city six weeks ago in a rented automobile, and were charged with grand larceny.

DRIVEN OUT BY HUSBAND, AVERS WIFE

Mrs. Sepulveda Declares Protests Against Another Woman Caused Ejection

When Mrs. Ada B. Sepulveda continued her objections to her husband's attentions to another woman, he ordered her out of their home, she told Judge Summerfield yesterday at the hearing of her suit for divorce from Albert G. Sepulveda, said to be connected with a Los Angeles Harbor bank. The divorce was granted.

"He was keeping her on his houseboat," Mrs. Sepulveda said. "I protested and there was an argument. He said she had just as much right on his property as I had. I kept on objecting, though, and he ordered me out of the house.

"He said I could go to work in a fish cannery to support my children.

"I left the house and my people found me wandering about on the streets at 2:30 in the morning."

There were numerous arguments over the other woman, according to Mrs. Sepulveda, who said her husband is still associating with her.

Mrs. Sepulveda's mother testified that when she told the husband a physician had reported Mrs. Sepulveda's condition as serious following an operation, he remarked:

"Well, if she dies I'll get married again. I have the girl already picked out."

Wife's Effort to Rejail Stubborn Mate Is Failure

Elva M. Pyler changed her mind again yesterday and appeared in Judge Summerfield's department of Superior Court for the second time in two days seeking to have her husband put back in the County Jail, where he already had spent more than six months for his stubbornness in refusing to reveal the whereabouts of his 3-year-old daughter Jean.

Mrs. Pyler caused the release of her husband Wednesday by having the annulment suit she brought against him dismissed. They apparently had become reconciled. Yesterday, however, Mrs. Pyler reappeared in court with the announcement that the term her husband had spent in jail had apparently not affected his attitude in the least.

She stated that he had refused to produce their child, demanding first that she sign over to him a lot which both assert is their separate property. However, Mrs. Pyler found but very little legal comfort. Judge Summerfield informed her that the suit had been stricken from the calendar and that the dismissal could not be dismissed. He advised her to consult the District Attorney's office.

SHOOTING JUSTIFIED

Marauder Killed by Patrolman is Still Unidentified

A Coroner's jury yesterday returned a verdict of justifiable homicide in the case of the unidentified burglar shot Wednesday by Officer Miller, and commended the officer highly for killing the marauder. The inquest was at Garrett Brothers'. Detective Lieutenants Post and Hull reported the man's finger prints were not to be found in the local identification bureau. Copies of them have been sent to Sacramento, Washington and New York for possible identification, and the detectives are also seeking to identify him through laundry marks on his clothing.

Mothers!

Test baby's soap this way

Before you put a soap to baby's tender skin make this test: Moisten the tip of your tongue and hold it to the soap for a few seconds. If the soap draws or burns your tongue discard it at once. It is alkaline or rancid, and will irritate any baby's skin.

Now make this test with Castolay, The Modern Castile Soap. You will find it so pure, so mild, so free from alkali that it has none of the irritating or drying after-effects of ordinary soap.

Castolay is the ideal soap for any tender skin. It has all the good qualities of old genuine Castile and advantages that Castile at its best never had. It is pure, delicate; it lathers freely and rinses quickly. Ideal for every day use on hands and face, and for shampooing.

WOMEN A BUNDLE OF NERVES

"Everything irritates me—I am a bundle of nerves, I ache all over and cannot sleep and am so despondent." This extract from a letter written from one woman to another describes the condition of many women who suffer from feminine ailments. Nothing will relieve this distressing condition so surely as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs. For fifty years it has been restoring sick and ailing women of America to health and strength.

"COUNT" ADMITS BURGLAR ROLE

Driven by Dire Necessity to Deed, Youth Declares

Tells Officials of Stealing Clothing for Party

Thought He "Might Get Job" if Attired Better

Andre Stephen Gregor, self-styled "Count" Andre Esterhazy, or Esterhause, not only was persistent in his attempts at burglary, but carried them forward with a steadfast purpose, mainly to see that he was properly attired, he is said to have admitted in a statement made to Detective Lieutenant Post. The young man, who said he was born in Budapest, Hungary, and is 21 years of age, was accused of two counts of burglary in a complaint issued yesterday by Dep. Dist.-Atty. Murray.

Gregor was arraigned before Justice Baird on a complaint charging two counts of burglary of T. C. Herbst. Hearing was set for Monday and bail was fixed at $2500.

In his statement, on file in the District Attorney's office, the young aspirant for a title stated that he was living at 351 South Figueroa street. On the 11th inst., he is quoted as saying, he was about to attend a social affair, but felt the dire need of a watch, so he went to the apartment of T. C. Herbst, two doors away, and, finding a timepiece, took it.

PAWNED WATCH

He is further quoted as saying that the watch crystal was broken, so he took it to a jeweler and had it repaired. A few days later, the statement went on, he felt the pinch of necessity and pawned the watch for $7.50.

That night, on the 15th inst., he said, he did not hurry to his apartments, having promised his landlady that he would soon have money coming from a job he had. He had no job, so he waited until past midnight and then sought his rooms.

"I pondered over the situation until 2 o'clock," he said, "trying to think of some way to relieve my financial difficulties. It came to me that I might find a position, if I had better clothes. I thought Mr. Herbst would have some clothes, so I entered his room and took a traveling bag and brief case.

WENT BACK AGAIN

"There was no one there so I went back again and got a suit of clothes. As I passed out I saw a camera and took that too. In the pockets of the clothes I found a gold pen and a gold pencil."

Being thus well attired, the so-called "count" then took the traveling bag, camera, gold pen and pencil, went to the Alexandria Hotel and obtained a room. He is said to have remarked that he felt in fine condition then, but began to feel the necessity of eating, and pawned the camera for $2 and the brief case for $1.25.

After making his statement the young man was lodged in the County Jail.

VENICE CASHIER ARRAIGNED

Young Bank Officer Who Gave Self Up Held Under $10,000 Bail on Embezzlement Charge

Rubin R. Bailey, youthful cashier of the First National Bank of Venice, who has been sought by police of the United States and Mexico since last summer, was arraigned yesterday before United States Commissioner Long and held under $10,000 bail on a charge of embezzlement. He furnished bond and was released.

Bailey had given himself up on the night before to Undersheriff Biscailuz at the latter's home in Venice.

When Bailey disappeared the bank officials announced a shortage of the bank's funds of somewhere between $20,000 and $40,000. The case against Bailey, however, it transpired yesterday, states the amount embezzled at an even larger sum—$46,000.

Bailey, since his disappearance, is said to have been at Mexico City and more recently in Chicago. It is said that he was pursued by his conscience as well as officers of the law, and longing to see his wife and child finally decided to give himself up. He is 25 years of age.

CLASS FOR MUSIC LOVERS

A comprehensive course in music appreciation for teachers, students and housewives will open tomorrow at 2:30 p.m. at the downtown offices of the Southwest Museum extension department in the Bradbury Building, 304 South Broadway. The course will be conducted by Mrs. Frances Arnold Greenwood. The subjects to be taken up include musical history, folk songs and their source, the orchestra and its instruments, great composers and their music, America's music and musicians and analysis of musical literature.

THINKS SHE IS INSANE TO REJECT HIM

Suitor Has Girl Charged With Lunacy; Judge, Group of Experts Free Her

When Dr. Mabel Adams, a young chiropractor, spurned N. Wolfe Jillson's offer of a burning love, he promptly lodged an insanity complaint against her.

Dr. Adams's action, however, did not strike Judge Guerin and the Lunacy Commission as evidence of a disordered mind, and she was released yesterday after a hearing.

Jillson is a fingerprint expert in the employ of a detective agency, whose office Dr. Adams shared. A letter he wrote her the 13th inst. was introduced as evidence.

"Have you realized that I would lay down my life for you?" the letter read. "I ask nothing from you only a kind and cheerful word. But no, your actions have been so different from when I first met you. I can say no more, my eyes are full of tears and I cannot see."

Simply as a "courtesy" it was explained, Dr. Adams was clothed with authority by the detective agency to carry a gun. The gun she carried was Jillson's, according to another note, which read:

"Do not keep our gun out all week; there are two days the latter part of the week I will need it and need it bad, so please have it here and oblige,

"WOLFE."

Dr. Adams was supported in court by a group of indignant relatives. After the hearing she announced she was going to leave her home at 114 Marshall avenue, Tujunga, and go to live with a sister in Berkeley.

CLUB MANOR LOCKED UP BY DRY OFFICERS

Club Manor, a cafe on Hillcrest Drive, off Venice Boulevard, was closed and padlocked early yesterday morning by Deputy Sheriff Bond and his squad of dry enforcement officers, according to a report yesterday to the Sheriff's office. It was stated that dancing was being permitted in the place until 3 a.m., the time the cafe was closed, contrary to a county ordinance.

TRAFFIC VIOLATOR SEIZED

James Rogers, 27 years of age, of 1785 North Wilcox avenue, was arrested late Wednesday night by Officer R. R. Toledo of the Hollywood police division, on a charge of violating the Wright Act. The officer found a small quantity of liquor in Rogers's car, he reported, after Rogers had failed to make a boulevard stop. Rogers, when booked at the Hollywood station, gave his occupation as motion-picture producer.

City Treasurer Seeks More Aid and More Room

With annual clearings now at the rate of $150,000,000 a year, of which $30,000,000 is now earning interest of more than $100,000 a month for the benefit of taxpayers, City Treasurer Powell has submitted to the City Council a statement showing the tremendous banking business now being conducted by the City Treasurer's department. On account of the size and increase of the business transacted, which includes the handling of bonds for the $50,000,000 street improvement program now under way, the City Treasurer has asked for authority to employ four additional bond clerks, one additional teller, and one assistant accountant, as well as requested additional working space for the department. The City Council's finance committee will consider the City Treasurer's request Monday afternoon.

YOUTH PASSES RADIO TEST OF GOVERNMENT

VAN NUYS BOY SUCCEEDS IN EXAMINATION OF BUREAU OF NAVIGATION

Albert C. Moltzer, 16-year-old son of J. E. Moltzer of 5190 South Sherman Way, Van Nuys, received notice yesterday from the Bureau of Navigation of the Department of Commerce that he passed an examination for a license as a radio operator, commercial first class.

The youth's grade was 78.2 per cent. He is said to be one of the youngest persons ever to obtain a license of this character. Albert moved here with his parents from Holland in 1916. Since then he learned English in the public schools and took up radio work at the Y.M.C.A. class here. He expects to obtain a position as radio operator on a steamship.

PARENTS' COUNCIL OF RANGERS WILL MEET

The Parents' Council of the Western Rangers is to meet at the clubhouse of the organization, 4900 Pasadena avenue, Sunday evening. An interesting program for the boys and their parents has been arranged by Harry James, chief of the Western Rangers, and Mrs. Perry W. Gorham. Gordon Whitnall, of the City Planning Commission, will speak on the future of the city as it pertains to the boys of today. A feature of the evening will be community singing of camp-fire songs of the boys under the direction of Mrs. A. O. Hutchings.

RACIAL QUESTION SHELVED

National Spiritualists' Association Delays Vote on Questio nof Barring Colored Folk from Membership

In the midst of shouting and argument the National Spiritualists' Association yesterday passed a motion postponing indefinitely the segregation of colored spiritualists into a separate association. The question of putting the negro spiritualists out of the association has divided the body into two hostile parts, with the prospect of a bitter fight again today.

Mark A. Barwise, who led the delegates in favor of a white association, stated yesterday that he will introduce a bill this morning providing for a separate association for the colored people similar to yesterday's bill and if it is defeated again will continue the fight until the convention closes.

Although there were many colored delegates in the convention the fight strangely enough was between two divided sections of the white members, with the colored people taking no part. Even in the voting it was noted that some of the colored delegates declined to rise.

William N. Burr, president of New York Spiritualists' Association, was the main defender of the colored people and made the motion for the discontinuing of the action against them. He asked that the question of segregation be left until the colored people themselves asked for it. Any coersive measure, he said, would divide spiritualism against itself.

The main argument in favor of segregation was that great numbers of southern spiritualists would not enter the association as long as it was a mixed body. This, according to Mark A. Barwise, was holding back the upward trend of spiritualism.

Two Strongest Clews Fail in Hunt for Girls

What was considered the best clew in the disappearance of May and Nina Martin, 2834 Mansfield avenue, was eliminated yesterday, according to Detective Lieutenants Cullen and Casey, when the driver of the mysterious Ford car which stopped near the girls' home the night they disappeared came forward and made an explanation which detectives said removed suspicion from him.

The driver said, according to the detective, he had taken into his car, not the 'artin children, but two older girls. He had kept silent, he said, because the girls' parents did not know they had gone riding with him. The detectives withheld his name, but said they had checked his story and found it true.

The father of the missing girls, who lives at Hoquiam, Wash., also has been eliminated, and the police, Capt. Home of the detective bureau admitted, now have little or nothing to go on in prosecuting a further search.

The girls are daughters of Mrs. Paul Buus.

WATER VOTE AUTHORIZED

A special election October 24 in Girard, section of Los Angeles, located in the San Fernando Valley, to vote on the question of issuing $275,000 in bonds for water mains and trunk lines connecting the district with the aqueduct system was authorized yesterday by the City Council.

POISON CASE DELAYED

The case of Dr. Arthur Timme, charged with violation of the State Poison Law, was continued yesterday in Police Judge Frederickson's court to October 27 at 10 a.m. The postponement was asked for because of the absence of a witness.

This fragrant nut-brown brew the West claims as its own

QUAFF the quality cup and know why Hills Bros. Red Can is the favored coffee of a coffee-critical West. Realize why it outsells all other brands and why it earned the title of The Recognized Standard!

The instant you break the vacuum seal and inhale that unique aroma, you know why homes of wealth and discernment adopted "Red Can" as their very own—thereby establishing the coffee tradition of the West. Taste the flavor and be doubly sure that here, indeed, is wonderful coffee.

Hills Bros. originated the vacuum-pack for coffee to protect that flavor—and the coffee tradition. If you didn't see the label, you couldn't tell what the can contained until you punctured the seal that keeps Red Can fresh permanently! For none of the aroma can escape before the can is opened.

With all its high quality, Hills Bros. Coffee is not high-priced. It is economical to buy—and economical to use. Hills Bros., San Francisco.

The Great Outdoor School Where Character Building and Physical Development Walk Hand in Hand

CADET POGGI

The good private school is a world of its own, a genuine society, presenting in a community of differing personalities and wills most of life's problems. The home life is not real enough and wide enough to provide just that social discipline, which is the outstanding gift of a good private school.

Boys of today very badly need the discipline and social loyalty of a good private school and desperately need to be placed in a challenging society which can counteract egotism and develop "esprit de corps."

Los Angeles has every reason to be proud of the URBAN MILITARY ACADEMY, which seems destined to an even finer future under its new Head Master (late Head Master of St. Johns Military, N. Y.)—its brilliant High School Principal—its silent West Pointer—its exceptionally fine Athletic Director—its expert Dietitian and above all is it fortunate in its President, a man of great culture, wide travel and rare personal charm. To come in daily contact with such a man is in itself a liberal education for any boy.

Money spent on the education of children is no speculation, but the surest and safest investment. It is worth making sacrifices for and if money is not a factor to be considered a child is entitled to the best education obtainable remembering always that "The Best Costs Less in the Long Run."

IRONS IN FIRE

MacLOON BUYS PLAYHOUSE LAUNCHES NEW PLAYS

By Grace Kingsley

Now that Louis MacLoon has so many big theatrical irons in the fire, he feels encouraged to go right ahead. In fact, the manager of the Playhouse, where "The Clinging Vine" will open on Monday night, has burnt his bridges behind him. Meaning that he and Lillian Albertson, his wife and stage director, are now the sole owners and operators of the Playhouse, they having acquired by purchase the minority interest formerly owned by Al H. Woods and Arch Selwyn, New York theatrical producers. The booking arrangements of the MacLoon-Albertson productions will not, however, be affected by this transfer, Mr. MacLoon hastens to assure us. Along with this sale, declare the owners, went the Pacific Coast rights to all new, old and current plays owned or controlled by Woods & Selwyn.

"The policy of the Playhouse," said Mr. MacLoon, "will be as usual to present New York stars in New York plays."

Plans are under way for a series of special matinees around the holidays of one of the famous Christmas pantomimes that are given annually in London. This will be the first time that these holiday pantomimes have been given in America for thirty years. Large casts of children will appear in them.

Mr. MacLoon likewise has an interest in the Mason Operahouse as manager.

"A. L. Erlanger has given me the honor of opening the new and beautiful Mason Operahouse the second week in November with George Sidney in Aaron Hoffman's comedy, 'Welcome, Stranger.' Mr. Sidney is being seen this week in 'In Hollywood With Potash and Perlmutter,' and is winning many friends. This play ran for one year at the Sam Harris Theater, New York, and one season at George M. Cohan's Grand in Chicago. Several members of the original cast will be brought West.

"Sidney will be under my management for the balance of the season, and probably will be seen later in 'Never Too Late,' by Montague Glass, author of 'Potash and Perlmutter' stories. This play will later he taken to New York."

Lyn Harding, the noted English actor, will sail from London in December to appear at the Playhouse. Harding is famous for his "Henry VIII.' in Sir Beerbohm-Tree's productions. He has never been in California, and is coming on one of the new oil-burning motor-driven steamers now running direct from England to Los Angeles via the Panama Canal. Harding is bringing over two new plays by English authors.

An enterprise of MacLoon's scheduled for production early next year is a comedy called "The Wicked Streak," by Edgar Franklin, who wrote in novel form, "White Collars," which is running at Egan's Little Theater.

Pauline Frederick opens a ten-week season in "Spring Cleaning" out in Denver, on Sunday night. The cast includes Lawson Butt, June Elvidge, George Barraud, Charles Coleman, Beatrice Holtby, Adele Charlton, Harold Howard, Ivy Crane and John D. Mackenzie.

Taylor Holmes has just closed a very successful three weeks at the Curran Theater, San Francisco, in the Loos-Emerson comedy, "The Whole Town's Talking."

RAMON NOVARRO TO SING IN CONCERT

Ramon Novarro, film star, will make his debut in concert in Paris following his work in the star role of "Ben Hur," now being filmed by the Metro-Goldwyn Company in Rome, Italy.

This is a result of a visit to Rome by Lucien Muratore and his wife, Lina Cavalieri, who heard Novarro sing a program of Mexican songs which he has been preparing for some time. Muratore pronounced Novarro's voice to be of unusual baritone quality and offered to coach him in Paris preparatory to advising him on a course of operatic study.

When in Paris last winter working in a film production of "The Arab," Novarro was invited to sing at a private concert given by Marguerite Namara, the American star, who appeared at the Opera Comique and in concert at Albert Hall, London. At that time he was offered a concert engagement to feature his Mexican composition, but his film work prevented.

Novarro has been a student of voice and the piano since a child in Durango, Mex., his birthplace. Geraldine Farrar heard him when he was 17 and corrected him, declaring his voice would develop as a baritone instead of tenor as was then the opinion of his instructors.

Buys Rights to "Three Keys"

Ben Verschleiser has secured film rights to Frederick Ormand's novel, "Three Keys," and will put it under production the first of next month. Robert Dillon is now writing the screen adaptation and casting is under way. Verschleiser courageously gave up an executive position to make his own pictures and with the success of his first, "Empty Hearts," he will probably remain in future blue books of screen producers.

Harry Langdon Flits

Harry Langdon, star of Mack Sennett Comedies, left for Big Bear Lake yesterday, with a company of seventy-five, the largest troupe to leave the Sennett lot in many a day for location work, and judging from the advance reports forthcoming from the studio, this new comedy of Harry's is looked forward to be his greatest effort since joining the Sennett organization.

No comedian of the two reelers has reached the top rung of success, as has Harry Langdon. His method of fun-making is really original. His characterization as portrayed on the screen is something new, and he wins every fan with the funny movements of his mouth and eyes.

Mr. Langdon and his company plan to remain away at least one week.

Estelle Taylor Soon

From Estelle Taylor comes a telegram, stating that she expects soon to return to Hollywood. And when she gets here, she is planning to build a new home.

Miss Taylor went east following her retirement from her Lasky contract. She has several new offers, and will return to pictures as soon as she comes west.

Dorothy's Up-to-Date Ghost

"The house is haunted. Find us a new one."

That was the terse command delivered by Dorothy Mackaill to a rental agent after she and her mother had occupied their new home in St. Andrews Place for three days, and had for three nights listened to a wierd, scratching sound, apparently inside the wall between Dorothy's bedchamber and the bath, which noise began promptly at midnight and lasted almost invariably until dawn.

The agent was skeptical, but 'twas not for him to scoff and scorn, but simply to find another house. However, he hadn't spent two days on his quest before his phone rang again and Dorothy said again, tersely:

"Call it off; we'll keep the place."

The ghost had been laid, and the tale that hangs thereby is this: A roofer, called to repair a slight leak which during the last rainy season had allowed water to trickle down between the wall of the bed and bathrooms, discoloring it, found that a mouse, which had apparently gnawed the hole, also had pulled in after her a severed piece of wire, probably once used as a radio connection. Every night, when the cooling night breezes set in, the wind swayed the end of the wire that protruded above the ceiling, causing the hanging end to scrape against the inner side of the wall.

Norman Kerry Home

Norman Kerry has returned to Universal City following a several weeks' cruise as the guest of Don Lee, the automobile magnate, in the latter's yacht. Kerry was nervous and indisposed following his work with Mary Philbin in "Moonlight Kisses," having started his role while recovering from a serious illness. The yachting trip sent him back to the studio in perfect health.

Louise Fazenda Among Us

Louise Fazenda after four weeks without break on location at Laguna for Warner Brothers "The Light House by the Sea," will return Monday. Although it is hardly probable that her work in the picture is finished. Miss Fazenda makes the most radical departure from her customary work on the screen that she has experienced in her entire career for this picture, for she is using the medium of melodrama in her characterization of the daughter of the lighehouse keeper, with no comedy aids whatsoever. The only woman in the cast, she encounters a villain or two in the opus, while she also has a romance with Buster Collier.

LAST DAY OF "RED LILY" AT ALHAMBRA

Today is the last time "The Red Lily," starring Ramon Navarro will be shown at the Alhambra Theater.

Starting with tomorrow's matinee Norma Talmadge's latest success will be the attraction for the week.

"Secrets" was directed by Frank Borzage with Eugene O'Brien in the leading supporting role. Norma's latest picture is a story of London and the American Far West in the days just following the Civil War.

EXTEND "AMERICA'S" RUN ONE MORE WEEK

D. W. Griffith's "America," starts its second and last week at Tally's tomorrow.

This production deals with the struggle of our forefathers for freedom. Out of the beautiful theme of American liberty, Griffith has woven a dramatic tale pulsating with life and romance.

Carol Dempster, Neil Hamilton, Lionel Barrymore and others enbance the production.

ORDINANCE AIMS AT GAMBLERS' RUNNERS

Under an ordinance adopted yesterday by the City Council, at the request of the police department, agents for gambling houses and other law-breaking establishments may be arrested, fined or jailed. Taxicab drivers and others who are found by the police to be directing persons to these places, under the ordinance, can be prosecuted.

Give Partial Program For Lambs' Revue

Donald Crisp, master of ceremonies of the Lamb Revue to be held at Hollywood Bowl, October 1, for the benefit of the building fund of Hollywood's Little Church Around the Corner yesterday announced a partial list of the feature numbers on the lengthy bill.

Julian Eltinge, famed impersonator of beautiful women and now on his farewell tour, has promised to do his old-time specialty "The Barbershop Ball" as presented by him in the Honeymoon Minstrels years ago. He will appear in blackface—in itself a novelty.

The Metropolitan Male Quartet will sing and Larry Richardson and Baby Jane will offer their Orpheum specialty.

Marcia Hall, feminist soft shoe and clog solo dancer, will give some of the old-time dance numbers.

Billy Gould will sing "Be Good, My Father Said," which song is 100 years old and a distinct novelty. Tom Wilson offers his laughing song and Gus Reed, basso profundo who has sung at the Metropolitan and other world-famed operahouses, will render several songs. His is the most powerful voice ever heard in Hollywood Bowl. Rolfe Sedan will offer eccentric Russian dancing; Leslie Bates will sing "A Long, Tall Brown Skinned Gal" with ensemble.

Jack Harvey, original singer of "Mandalay" will give that number and Monte Collins, the famous old minstrel, will do a specialty of his own. Jim Welch is to offer a blackface song and dance act.

A piece de resistance is Theodore Roberts in a surprise specialty.

The Derricks will do the original Argentine tango and the Figarole Spanish dancers will have a fine number. Charles Beauchamp will sing "Silver Threads Among the Gold."

GLYN PICTURE OPENS

Premiere of "His Hour" to Take Place at Loew's Tomorrow

Another world premiere will be chalked up to the credit of Los Angeles tomorrow, when Elinor Glyn's production of her story, "His Hour," has its first showing at Loew's State Theater.

Elaborate plans are nearing completion for the premiere under the direction of West Coast Theaters, Inc., and executives of the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studio.

A personal appearance at the 4, 8 and 10 p.m. performances tomorrow night of Elinor Glyn, the author, and Aileen Pringle, John Gilbert, Dale Fuller, Bertram Grassby and Emily Fitzroy, stars of "His Hour," will be the most important added feature of the presentation. The usual flood of light that heralds most premieres in Los Angeles, and the attendance of stars and executives of the industry, are also promised for tomorrow evening.

Mme. Glyn will also appear personally at special Elinor Glyn matinees at the theater Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday.

TWO INTERESTING PICTURES COMING

Two of the outstanding productions made on the Coast this season have just been booked for the California Theater by Managing Director Charles Wuerz. Both are products of the same producer.

One is "Barbara Frietchie," a personally supervised production of Thomas H. Ince's directed by Lambert Hillyer and played by a brilliant company of artists headed by Florence Vidor and Edmund Lowe. This is said to be one of the most pretentious productions of its nature ever made and those who have seen it predict for it the same success that greeted "The Covered Wagon," "The Iron Hourse," and other pictures that deal with epochal events in our country's history.

The other is "Dynamite Smith," which brings Charles Ray back in the type of role that made him universally admired. It is a real story, filled with action, humor and thrills and Mr. Ray is surrounded by talent including such stars as Wallace Beery and Bessie Love.

"REAR CAR" ON VIEW AT MAJESTIC SUNDAY

After successful run of thirteen weeks "The Nervous Wreck" will be brought to a close tomorrow night to be succeeded by Edward E. Rose's mysterious comedy, "The Rear Car," with Edward Everett Horton in the leading role.

The opening performance of "The Rear Car" will take place Sunday afternoon and will mark the return to the Majestic to its former policy of Sunday matinees in addition to the usual matinees on Wednesday and Sundays.

Although "The Rear Car" is classified among the mystery plays it may also be termed a comedy for the laughs are more frequent than the thrills and there are plenty of the latter. With Horton in the role of the "crime deflector," its follows that the comedy element will be thoroughly brought out and the popular star should repeat the success he has enjoyed in "The Nervous Wreck."

TENOR TO BE NEXT PANTAGES FEATURE

The phonograph has made many great operatic stars better known to music lovers who rarely attend the opera than they are to the dyed-in-the-wool operatic fans. Not the least of these is Ciccolini, the Italian tenor who comes next week to Pantages. Ciccolini, has never appeared in opera in Los Angeles, yet his name and voice are familiar in thousands of homes in Los Angeles through his operatic reproductions. Ciccolini made his first operatic appearance in America with the Boston opera company. Later he appeared with the Chicago company, and with the Metropolitan of New York. He will be at Pantages for one week starting Monday.

SPEAKER LAUDS CHURCH LEADER

Lecturer Hails Mrs. Eddy as Greatest Church Founder

Calls Her the Discoverer of Christian Science

Defines Modern Deity as Mind, Life, Love

Peter V. Ross, member of the board of lectureship of the Mother Church, the First Church of Christ, Scientist, of Boston, delivered a lecture at the Philharmonic Auditorium yesterday on "The Operation of Divine Law in Human Affairs." In speaking of Mary Baker Eddy as the discoverer and founder of Christian Science, Mr. Ross said in part:

"People are sometimes heard to say that they cannot accept Mrs. Eddy's view. They forget that Mrs. Eddy has not put forward her own opinions, she has promulgated the fundamentals of Divine Science as they have been revealed to her. They forget that Mrs. Eddy has not created Science, she has discovered it; discovered those unerring truths which have always been at hand, awaiting utilization and recognition by man.

"Certain commentators on American civilization deplore what they are pleased to call its materialistic bias and its lack of spiritual or religious leadership. How superficial and misleading such criticism is, should be apparent to the most casual observer. For, since the early Christian era, there has arisen no greater religious leader than Mary Baker Eddy. Nor since that time has the world witnessed a greater religious movement than Christian Science."

Commenting on the modern Deity, the speaker said there is no escape from the logic of the Christian Science definition of God as Divine Mind, Life, Love and Principle, asserting that when we concede that God is everywhere present and all-knowing, we are driven to the conclusion that He must be Mind.

TOUCHES ON HEALING

"But mind," Dr. Ross said, "ever animate and ceaselessly active, cannot be dissociated from Life. Therefore, we are led to see that God is Life as well as Mind. Mind and Life, however, are in their true sense inseparable from Love, which is remindful of the apostle's declaration that God is Love."

Touching upon Christian Science healing, Dr. Ross said that physiology insists that brain and nerves control the body, but that the fact remains that the human or mortal mind, though the individual is largely unconscious thereof, assumes to govern the mortal body and direct its functions. There is no difficulty, he said, in seeing that when the human mind is supposed to be normal the body functions normally and is well; but when that mind is distracted by worry or anger, the bodily functions are necessarily deranged and there is sickness.

CALIFORNIA LAGS BEHIND WITH VOTES

Twenty-nine States Made Better Showing at Polls in 1920 Election

In twenty-nine States a greater proportion of the voters went to the polls in 1920 than in California, according to figures made public yesterday by the California Development Association, which has adopted "Everybody Vote" as a Statewide campaign slogan. Only 48.9 per cent of California citizens cast ballots at the last Presidential election. Delaware led all the States with a percentage of 75.1.

The Development Association is co-operating with chambers of commerce, women's clubs and other organizations and with the newspapers of the State in raising the California percentage, and hopes to put California in first place. In order to stimulate interest in the "Everybody Vote" movement, the association has offered a $100 cup to the chamber of commerce which succeeds in promoting the highest percentage of community voting in the State, and the trophy will become the permanent possession of the chamber winning it three times.

Since 1906, the association says, there has been a gradual decrease in national voting. In 1896, the election brought to the polls 80 per cent of the qualified voters. By 1908 this had dropped to 66 per cent, and in 1920, it was less than 50 per cent. There were 26,786,753 votes cast that year out of a total voting strength of 54,421,832.

ALIMONY REDUCED

Man Tells Court Creditors Got Last Cent in Canada

"Well, you see, Judge, I didn't fail, and that's why I came to California without any money," Bernard Greenberg earnestly explained to Judge Guerin yesterday when he appeared to plead for a reduction of the alimony of $20 per week he is paying his wife, Sophia Greenberg.

Mrs. Greenberg had stoutly opposed any reduction on the grounds that her husband had assets worth $25,000 in Toronto, Can., their former home. This statement caused Greenberg great anguish.

"No-no-no-no, I haven't got a cent," he protested. "I had a creditors' committee instead of a bankruptcy, so my creditors got everything."

This appeared so reasonable to Judge Guerin that he reduced Greenberg's alimony order to $5 per week. Greenberg sued for divorce several weeks ago.

WILL DEED VERMONT STRIP

Bath Salts, Soaps and Dusting Powders

IMPORTED Soaps and Bath Salts have a fragrance curiously refreshing, leaving the skin smooth and soft, and bringing a marvelous whitening effect.

Soaps—Veolay's Cold Cream Soap, Houbigant's Quelque Fleur, Fougere Royal, Yardley's Lavender Soap, Elizabeth Arden Lemonies and Pot Pourri, Morny's Chaminade and Oak Leaf Geranium, Lubin's Eau de Cologne and Lacdor. Also Soaps from Guerlain.

Bath Salts from Veolay, Houbigant, Yardley, Elizabeth Arden, Floris, Morny, Marie Earle, Lentheric and Lubin.

Dusting powders to be showered over one in misty profusion at the completion of the bath, are from Cuppi, Woodworth, Yardley, Morny and Houbigant.

Cleansing Tissues

BEAUTY Specialists recommend the use of these soft Cleaning Tissues, instead of towels which are likely to stretch the skin.

Cleansing Tissues, made especially for Robinson's, also Tissues from Elizabeth Arden and Marie Earle are very desirable.

FIRST FLOOR

Elizabeth Arden Salon

UNDER the direct supervision of Elizabeth Arden and her New York staff, in the Los Angeles Salon, at Robinson's, are given specialized treatments for which Elizabeth Arden is famous.

Precious formulas—the achievements of years and years of scientific research—seventy of these wondrous beauty-giving preparations from Elizabeth Arden are here skillfully applied.

ELIZABETH ARDEN SALON—SEVENTH FLOOR

Beauty

TO just one of three women could Paris, the son of Priam, award the golden apple, symbol of the most beautiful woman in the world, inscribed, "to the beauty."

No longer is the golden apple bestowed on one, withheld from others. Today the achievement of beauty is a woman's privilege—even duty. Its acquisition is based upon well defined principles; its permanency upon conscientious adherence to them.

The Toilet Goods Section of J. W. Robinson Co. is devoted to supplying requisites to beauty which have been tried and tested—products of master chemists from home and abroad—delicate toiletries scientifically produced, to enhance the charm of women the world over.

Toiletries Exclusive to Robinson's

EXCLUSIVE to Robinson's alone, in Los Angeles, are the preparations of Elizabeth Arden.

Creams, cool and smooth; powders, fine as vapor; perfumes, delicately fragrant, all are assembled here. Some of them are:

Venetian Ardena Skin Tonic, Orange Skin Food, Velva Cream, Anti-Wrinkle Cream, Special Astringent, Creme Mystique, Lille Lotion, Poudre D'Illusion, Rouge Amoretta, Special Eye Lotion, and Venetian Rose Bath Salts.

FIRST FLOOR

Other exclusive preparations are Institut de Beaute, Twentieth Century and Anna D. Adams.

Made especially for Robinson's is a delightful Benzoin and Almond Lotion. And imported by Robinson's are Cleansing Tissues from Japan.

Perfumes—Suggestive of Varying Moods

THE faint perfume of the rose in a senorita's hair, the elusive charm of a French boudoir, the fragrance of an old English garden all have been captured by these famous perfumers from Spain, France and England.

Just a few can be mentioned. From Ciro, Chevalier de la Nuit; from Caron, Le Tabac Blond; Myguria (Spanish) sends Besame; from Morny, Chaminade; Lentheric, Lotus d'Or; and Lubin sends to Robinson's exclusively in Los Angeles, Amaryllis, Bouquet de Papillons and Epidor. Other perfumers represented are Houbigant, Coty, Guerlain, Veolay and Babani.

FIRST FLOOR

Powders of Delicate Texture that Adhere

UPON the finishing touches depend a great deal of the charm of a beautiful skin. Face powders that are delicate in texture, faintly perfumed, are found at Robinson's.

From Caron, Lentheric, Houbigant, Veolay, Morny, Institut de Beaute and many others come the powders filling many needs of the toilette.

FIRST FLOOR

Perfume Burners

One of the many delightful perfume burners at Robinson's is the Parrot Lamp Perfume Burner sketched above. It may be chosen in almost any color, to match the boudoir.

For Luxuriant Hair

FOR beautiful hair, soft and silky, one must use intelligent care in the choice of a shampoo.

These are recommended:

Fitch's Dandruff Remover Shampoo, Nicholas Pinaud's Elixir, and from Lesquendieu, Fluide d'Or, which emphasizes the golden glint of the hair.

WANT-AD RATES

Effective March 1, 1924

Ads per line per insertion; for all classifications, excepting those otherwise specified: Daily, one time, 35c per line; daily, 3 to 6 times, 30c per line; daily, 7 to 13 times, 25c per line; daily, 14 to 25 times, 20c per line; daily, 26 times, 15c per line; Sunday, 1 time, 50c per line; Sunday, 4 times, $1.50 per line; Daily and Sunday, 1 time, 50c per line; Daily and Sunday, 4 times, $1.50 per line. Rates for ads scheduled to appear in consecutive issues. Minimum space, 4 lines. Count 6 words to the line. Initials, figures and groups of letters each count as a word. Count and figure your own ads. Ads will be taken over the telephone subject to verification, but the Times cannot guarantee accuracy or assume responsibility for errors of any kind occurring in telephoned advertisements.

Copy may be changed or cancelled for insertion in the following issue without charge by calling the Want-Ad Office before 9 a.m. for morning and Sunday issues, and before 4 p.m. for evening issues. Changes or cancellations cannot be accepted after these hours.

The Times reserves the right to classify all advertising and to edit same to conform to the standard of the paper. The Times will not be responsible for the omission of or for any typographical errors in any advertisement beyond the amount received for the space occupied by the item in error. Errors must be reported at once and will be rectified in the next issue after receipt of notice.

Copy for insertion in Sunday issue must be received by 4 p.m. Saturday. Copy for Monday issue must be received by 4 p.m. Saturday. Copy for Tuesday issue must be received by 4 p.m. Monday. Copy for Wednesday issue must be received by 4 p.m. Tuesday. Copy for Thursday issue must be received by 4 p.m. Wednesday. Copy for Friday issue must be received by 4 p.m. Thursday. Copy for Saturday issue must be received by 4 p.m. Friday.

Ads will be charged at the rate received, which may be estimated to not exceed 2 lines for 15 words.

Ads ordered stopped previous to expiration will be charged for only the number of times they appeared.

Ads ordered discontinued before expiration will be charged for only the number of times they appeared at the rate earned, but not less than the lowest rate.

Ads ordered stopped after the first insertion cannot be changed for the following insertion of any ad ordered to run more than one time.

The Times reserves the right to reject objectionable or incorrect copy, and to change the rate at any time without notice. In such cases, however, every effort will be made to notify the advertiser before the change is made effective.

Copy must be received before 12 o'clock noon for the following morning's issue. Copy received after 12 o'clock noon will be charged for at the rate of 50c per line per day.

Ads will be received over the telephone from those who have accounts with the Times, or from those who will have their statements sent to a business address.

Ads will be received from those who have no accounts with the Times only when accompanied by cash or when the amount is remitted in advance

BEHYMER RETURNS TO CITY

Impresario Back from Tour of Music Centers of Europe; Wife Taken Sick on Sea Recovering

L. E. Behymer, Los Angeles impresario, arrived home yesterday afternoon from a summer in Europe. He was accompanied by Mrs. Behymer, who was taken ill shortly after leaving the continent on the return trip, and other members of his family. The party remained in New York for a short period waiting for the sufficient recuperation of Mrs. Behymer to allow her to continue westward. She now is reported in improved health.

The party visited England, Scotland, France, Belgium, parts of Germany, Switzerland, Hungary and Italy. Mr. Behymer made a study of economic and artistic conditions, paying especial attention to important galleries, concerts, operatic and other performances.

PEOPLE LOVE MUSIC

"Everywhere I was impressed by the fact that the people attended opera and other musicales because they love the music, and while they insist upon its being well done, little is said about those in the casts or the performances," he said. "Often the name of the singer, who wins the most applause may not even be known to the audience. The tendency is to say that such and such a work received a beautiful performance, rather than to dwell upon that brilliance of a single star.

"Every town of 40,000 or 50,000 has its own opera company. Throughout most of Europe many American musicians are appearing, and with conspicuous success. In a number of instances, musicians, who were refused recognition here, are acclaimed there. Marcella Craft is probably the most popular singer in Munich; Arthur Hackett has been immensely successful and there are many others.

CONDITIONS BETTER

"In all cities and most of the smaller provinces one finds considerable musical activity. There are not so many musicians sitting around doing nothing as one finds here but they are not paid extraordinary prices. This is reflected again in that the best seats can be had for much less than here."

Mr. Behymer stated that economic conditions are gradually getting better.

"Only a few politicians are in any way in favor of war," he continued. "I asked soldiers everywhere for their opinions, and universally they have a dread and horror of another war. They love their countries, and should they become involved, nevertheless, I think they would fight. The women are very much against war.

"Charles Dawes is the greatest man in Europe today. Mussolini has sacrificed some of his strength, but he does not care for power only for itself, but he does want to be of great service to his people. Men prominent ten or twenty years ago in business in this country can not infrequently be found prominent in European affairs, and holding important positions.

"Belgium is about the busiest country of all. Along the Rhine one sees well-tilled fields, but very seldom factories in active production. The only really poor people that I saw were in certain crowded Italian cities. The element of hatred of war enemies is strongest in Belgium and France. Switzerland is on a very solid economic basis, and they have boosted their prices for about everything. However, the best rooms in the hotels are being rented by wealthy Germans, and they give the biggest tips. In Germany there are many poor people, but I do not think there is starvation. One also sees a good many Russians, and everywhere Americans. Europeans look upon the American dollar as the great economic stabilizer."

SHAKESPEARE PLAY READ

At a meeting of the Shakespeare Society of Los Angeles, conducted last night at the clubhouse at 1925 Wilshire Boulevard the first act of the author's "King Henry VIII" was read by members. This was preceded by a short talk on the history of that period by the society's president, Henry Riesenberg. More than thirty members attended.

BATES ROW OVER SONS IS SETTLED

Professor Agrees to Pay Monthly Sum; Mother to Retain Boys Now

A settlement of the difficulties which brought Dr. Ernest S. Bates, professor of history at the University of Oregon, to within unpleasant proximity of a jail cell was effected yesterday in Judge Archbald's Juvenile Court.

Dr. Bates was arrested by officers on complaint of his former wife, Rosalind B. Bates, charging him with failure to support their two minor sons, Vernon, 10 years of age, and Roland, 7. He was haled before Police Judge Pope and was sentenced to 180 days in jail. Sentence was suspended, however, on condition that the instructor pay his divorced wife $500 at once and an additional $50 every month until the boys reach the ages of 12 and 14.

Yesterday, however, Dr. Bates and his ex-wife adjusted their difficulties finally in Judge Archbald's court. There Dr. Bates had his suit for custody of the two children dismissed and Mrs. Blades, likewise caused her failure to provide action against him to be stricken from the calendar.

Under the agreement reached yesterday Mrs. Blades is to have custody of the two boys until they reach the age of 14. In the meantime Dr. Bates will pay her $50 a month for their support. When the boys reach the age of 14 they are to decide for themselves which of their parents they prefer to live with. Dr. Bates and wife were divorced in Oregon in 1919.

AMERICAN GIRLS LOOK BEST

Outdo Parisians in Wearing Clothes in Opinion of Publisher; German Poverty Called Myth

It takes the American girls to show the French how to wear clothes, says Edward Cantor, publisher of the International Social Register in Paris. Cantor, who formerly lived in Los Angeles, has been a resident of the French capital for seven years. He is here now in connection with the production of a motion-picture portraying American life in Paris and is staying at the Biltmore.

"Paris is so full of Americans that anybody from this country feels quite at home there," said Cantor. "You hear English spoken on every hand, and some of the restaurant depend almost entirely upon American patronage.

AMERICAN STYLES LEAD

"The behavior of the American tourist abroad is not always a credit to his country, but you've got to admit that the American girls put it all over the French in style and smartness. Paris may set the fashions but America shows them off most effectively."

Cantor said that next to the Americans the Germans are most numerous among the foreign visitors in Paris.

"All that stuff about Germany's being pauperized is pure bunk," he observed. "German tourist are seen in droves and they are well dressed and stay at the best hotels. Their talk about being so impoverished as to be in doubt where the next meal is coming from is pure propaganda to create sympathy. They have a lot of money salted down in good old American dollars or English pounds."

Cantor came over on the Berengaria, the same ship on which the Prince of Wales arrived in New York, and had a good chance to get a close-up of the heir to the British throne.

"The Prince didn't attract half the attention on board that one would be led to believe from the newspaper accounts," said Cantor. "In fact, he was left pretty much to himself after the first day out.

PRINCE DANCE-CRAZY

"Wales is a good enough fellow of the British sportsman type. He's crazy about dancing and is one of the best dancers I ever saw. He never seems to get enough of it and called for seven encores of one dance on the Berengaria and danced through every one of them.

"His favorite dancing partner on the boat was a Miss Cahill from St. Louis, not especially beautiful, but a nice, pleasant girl. Wales is rather shy, and when he walked across the floor to ask the young lady for a dance, he was obviously more embarrassed than she was."

MANY ENROLL AT Y.W.

All Records Broken in Health and Education Classes

Enrollment of women and girls in the physical, recreational and educational classes of the Y.W.C.A. for the fall term has shattered all records, according to announcement yesterday. The largest number of women and girls in the history of the department were present to commence the fall term of exercise, gymnastics, recreation and swimming at the association headquarters, 941 South Figueroa street. Special classes will be conducted for women and girls.

The international institute of the Y.W. has also opened an international millinery class under the direction of Mrs. Gertrude Sanders. The class will meet regularly every Thursday evening. The class is in need of material for its millinery work and discarded hats, pieces of silk and trimmings will be gladly accepted. Donors should call ANgelus 6053 to have their contributions taken up.

BRYAN TO SPEAK AT DEMOCRATIC RALLY

The first local Democratic rally of the Presidential campaign has been set for tomorrow night at the Philharmonic Auditorium with William Jennings Bryan as the speaker of the evening. Mr. Bryan has been addressing large crowds in the principal cities of the Pacific Coast States in support of the Democratic party platform and candidates. The meeting will be under the auspices of the Democratic County Central Committee, of which Fred Shelley is the newly installed chairman, and will be open to the general public. No tickets will be required and no seats will be reserved. The doors of the auditorium will be opened at 7 p.m., and Chairman Shelley will call the meeting to order at 8 p.m.

YOUTH'S AGE IS FIGHT BASIS

Juvenile Probation Office Seeks to Prevent Trial of Robbery Suspect; Precedent Involved

Efforts of the Juvenile Probation office to prevent the case of James Hapgood, a youth whose age has not been officially determined by the court, being tried in Juvenile Court resulted in four attorneys appearing before Judge Archbald yesterday in the preliminary court hearing to decide whether Hapgood is a fit subject for the Juvenile Court.

The probation office is seeking to have the youth remanded to Superior Court for trial on two charges of robbery preferred against him following his arrest in Long Beach last June.

At the time of his arrest, according to Probation Officer Zuck, Hapgood gave his age as 26. Yesterday in court his relatives declared he was but 20.

Chief Deputy Probation Officer Prescott stated his office was awaiting a decision in the case as one which will have a great effect on the question of the jurisdiction of the Juvenile Court in such cases. Under the law, the Juvenile Court magistrate has the privilege of exercising at his own discretion the factor of whether a minor between 18 and 21 is an unfit subject for Juvenile Court.

Hapgood is asserted to have held up John Sakis of the Spudd Inn, Long Beach, and a Shell Oil Company station in Long Beach the night of June 9 last. He told the police, according to the latter's report, that he was intoxicated at the time and could not account for his actions.

Judge Archbald continued the case until Monday to give the District Attorney's office time to prepare arguments in the case.

KENNEDY MODEL XV

It cuts through the big town stations and brings in distance

HERE is the 5-tube set you asked us to build to meet conditions in this district. Through Kennedy dealers, we learned that hundreds of you wanted an ultra-selective radio receiver, combined with the usual Kennedy standards of simplicity of tuning, controlled volume, purity of tone—a set that would operate on an indoor aerial or loop.

All of these qualities you will find in Model XV. It is not like any other receiver you ever saw or heard. Kennedy engineers never imitate—they originate. And in this model, we offer you a real musical instrument—a distance reaching receiver that you can tune with two controls—one for each hand.

Modern office construction makes Blabon floors a necessity

ANY salesman who visits many offices daily will tell you that the more successful firms seem at the same time to be those whose offices are the most comfortably appointed. The more its surroundings approximate comfortable conditions within reason, the more easily and quietly the office force will function. Take floors, for instance. Steel and concrete may be permanent, fire-safe, and sanitary, but they certainly are hard on eyes and feet.

The most modern offices, like the one here shown, are now fitted with permanent floors of Blabon's Linoleum. The very nature of Linoleum makes it resilient and quiet, being composed largely of ground cork and oxidized linseed oil, which is somewhat similar in its consistency to rubber. It deadens the noise of constant footsteps. Its pleasant shades are restful to eyes and nerves. And the smooth, non-absorbent, splinterless surface of Blabon's Linoleum gives no lodging to dirt, and is easily cleaned and kept clean.

Ask for Blabon's Linoleum by name. It is sold by good furniture and department stores. If your dealer hasn't it, write us his name and we will see that you are supplied.

How to lay Linoleum in offices

The right way to lay linoleum is to cement it over a layer of builders' deadening felt paper, which should first be pasted to the floor with linoleum paste. This overcomes bulging and stretching, makes the seams watertight and practically invisible, and prolongs the life of the floor.

What Linoleum is

Linoleum is floor material made of ground cork and oxidized linseed oil burlap back. The cork gives it springiness to the feet, absorbs sound, and the oil seed oil make it tough and long-wearing. The pattern of linoleum the printing ink colors are forced through to the burlap back. In Printed linoleum the patterns and colors are merely on the linoleum surface like oil paints.
